

UNION ITEMS.

Rue H. Frans and the family were enjoying a visit with friends and relatives in Union for the day last Sunday.

There was a dance and show at the hall on last Saturday night and many people were present to enjoy the same.

Charles Gude, of Nebraska City, was in Union last Monday looking after some business for the Standard Oil Co.

E. M. Fowler, of Omaha, was a visitor in Union with his friends on last Sunday, driving down to spend the day.

Louis Stine and wife, of Omaha, were visiting for the day on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Chilcott.

Forest Barkhurst was a visitor in Plattsmouth last Friday and enjoyed the very fine parade which the merchants put on.

Leo Roddy was in Omaha where he went for a medical examination, as he has been having trouble with his stomach for some time past.

W. F. Gentle, the mail clerk, who has been taking a vacation for some time, is again working on the run between Union and Lincoln.

A. L. Becker and Joseph O. Davis were over to Omaha on last Monday with a load of wood which Mr. Becker had sold to Omaha parties.

Mrs. Mary Taylor and daughter, Miss Rachel, of Lincoln, were visiting with friends and relatives in Union for the week end.

T. M. Patterson, of Plattsmouth, was looking after some business matters in Union last Monday and was meeting with his many friends.

W. O. Burbee and son, Louis, were over to Lincoln on last Wednesday, where they were called to look after some business matters for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Pell, of Omaha, were visiting with friends and relatives in Union for over the week end and enjoyed the stay here very much.

Arlee Ewell and family, of Thurman, were over last Sunday for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fletcher, and all enjoyed a very fine visit together.

E. M. Griffin, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Union on last Monday, being a guest at the home of his son, H. W. Griffin, and looking after some business matters as well.

W. H. Marks, who has been troubled with a very lame shoulder, still is suffering from the lame member and which makes it almost impossible for him to do anything with it.

Jess Uile of Plattsmouth was looking after some business matters in Union last Sunday assisting in getting the culverts and bridge crew started out on the road to work.

Most of the people of Union and vicinity were in Plattsmouth at least one of the four days of the King Korn Carnival and all report a fine time, with a large number of parades as the big feature of the show.

Mrs. Earl Troop and daughter, Avis, who are making their home on the farm at the home of W. O. Troop, were visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Leach on last Sunday and Monday.

While Cecil Niday was assisting with some canning his arm came in contact with the pressure cooker with the result that the arm was badly burned, but he is now making good progress towards recovery.

George Martin was over to Plattsmouth on last Thursday and participated in the farmers' Century of Progress parade, which was the feature of the day and in which a big ear of corn was a very taking feature.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Wilson, of Omaha, were callers at the home of Mont Robb and daughter, Miss Augusta, Fleming W. Robb and wife, with their daughter, Jane, of Lincoln, were also guests at the Robb home, visiting for over the week end.

A considerable force of men is at work picking and caring for the apples at the W. B. Banning orchards, and are duly appreciative of the opportunity of getting work to do just now when things have been so quiet, but give promise of opening up in a big way soon.

John Roddy, a young high school student, while engaged in a game of ball at the school grounds, had the misfortune to receive a blow from a ball which fractured his nose. The doctor gave the young man treatment and the injured member is getting along as well as could be looked for.

Working on Highway. The outfit of John Greer, who was the contractor for the grading work on the strip of paving extending between the junction of Highway 75 and O street road, westward to the Pollard Bros. farm, and who has been marking time in Union until other work might open up, departed Sunday for the junction south of Elmwood, where they have a half mile of extensive grading to do. They started work the first of the week. This will provide employment for a considerable number of men. The beginning of this work will mean the closing of the O street road between the Elmwood corner and Eagle, and require a detour. The detour route will extend westward out of Elmwood.

Library Now Operating
The traveling library to which the town of Union is a subscriber, has a new shipment of books that arrived here a few days ago and are now available for reading. The hours when the books can be secured or exchanged have been arranged and it will be possible for all to get books for reading.

Will Make Home in City
Clifton B. Smith and family will soon move to Nebraska City, where they will make their home in the future and where the children will attend school. On last Friday night there was a reception given the family on their departure, and which was attended with best wishes for their success and happiness in the new home. In connection with this farewell reception, there was also a welcome reception for the minister of the Methodist church the Rev. B. N. Kunkel and the good wife, as they are being returned to the work in Union by the Methodist conference. The combined receptions were held at the parlors of the Methodist church and attended by a large number of the friends of these two estimable families.

Ladies Held Canning Bee
It was not in order to get practice in canning (for they are all adepts in this culinary art) that the Union Woman's club held a special canning bee last week, but to prepare fruits and vegetables for the children's home in Omaha. The ladies went with the intention of working and did a large amount of work at the church building.

Makes Nice Improvement
The place of business of James Fitzpatrick, where he conducts one of the very best of eating houses, has been improved the past week, by setting the doorway out even with the rest of the front, thus doing away with the vestibule entrance that was always a place to catch papers and dirt blown by the wind and caused Mr. Fitzpatrick and wife much annoyance in keeping it cleaned out at all times. Joe Bauer has been making the change in the entranceway and has done a very good job.

Kittenball Very Popular
The girls' kittenball team of Union have been signing many agreements for games and three for the present week, the first game between Union and Cook being played at Cook on last Monday, while the two other games for this week include one with Plattsmouth and one with Nebraska City.

Celebrated Passing of Birthday
Miss Jennie Fitch was born on September 25, 1858, in Missouri, and came to Nebraska, settling in Cass county, when she was a young woman, and has made her home here ever since. She was united in marriage with R. H. Frans and is the mother of Messrs. D. Ray Frans and Rue H. Frans. This good woman celebrated the passing of her 75th birthday anniversary surrounded by her children and their families on last Sunday.

Visited Parents Sunday
W. E. Moore and the family were over to Lushton for the day last Sunday, where they went to enjoy a visit with the parents and especially as it was the occasion of the passing of the 63rd birthday anniversary of his father, Mr. P. K. Moore, a very pleasant time was had by all.

Work on the River
There are a number of men at work on the river where the contractors are going to secure stone, on the land of John N. Larsh, and when the entire force of workmen which will be used on the river and getting out the stone, it is expected there will be some 200 men employed, of whom 60 will be furnished from Iowa and the remainder from Nebraska.

SAYS GERMANY FOR PEACE
Ruedesheim, Germany.—Just prior to taking a plane for Geneva to attend League of Nations and disarmament sessions, Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda in the Hitler government, told a crowd here that Germany wants peace. "We shall not tire of telling the world that Germany wants peace and must have peace; that no national can gain anything by another war and that it would be madness to plunge into fresh disaster while not yet recovered from the last one," he said.

Push Out Credit Roosevelt's Plea to the Bankers

That Rather Than Putting Currency Inflation Into Effect, Declared Present Program.

Washington.—President Roosevelt and government financial leaders mapped out their program for credit expansion in a lengthy white house conference that centered on release of funds in closed banks.

It was emphasized both by the president and the conferees that "no new moves" other than reinforcing the nation's credit structure were in contemplation. This was accepted generally as definitely eliminating at this time any inflation of the currency. It means the government is going to use every power to put into circulation money now lying idle in bank tills and funds locked up in closed banks.

Mr. Roosevelt was primarily interested in co-ordinating all of the banks. He wants the 4 to 5 billion dollars now locked up in these institutions to be made available as soon as possible. An early announcement appeared in prospect, but just what the president has in mind was withheld.

Leaving the white house, Woodin said, "Everything looks very hopeful."

"What the administration is particularly concerned in now is that the banks are sure of the support which government financial agencies to assure full support to agriculture and business in his price lifting recovery program. Secretary of the Treasury Woodin and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace headed the group which met for almost three hours with the president.

The presence of Attorney General Cummings, together with the heads of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the budget, the deposit insurance corporation and other financial agencies led to the definite conclusion that Mr. Roosevelt is going to take quick action on the closed government is ready to give. The law providing for insurance of bank deposits becomes effective Jan. 1. Certain requirements must be met by banks which are not members of the federal reserve system to become eligible for this insurance.—State Journal.

BONUS NOT TO BE PRESSED
Chicago.—An agenda of 100 subjects ranging from disability payments to fighting crime was announced for the American Legion's national convention in Chicago next week. National officials of the legion expressed a belief that demands for payment of the bonus would enter the program only casually. They said a resolution asking "payment of the adjusted service certificates as soon as governmental finances permit" probably would be adopted.

The program calls for adequate hospitalization, care for widows and orphans and replacement of the 25 percent cut in disability allowances made last March.

Under the heading of Americanism will come a resolution opposing United States recognition of soviet Russia and others suggesting means of opposing the spread of communism.

Candidates for national commander are Ray Murphy of Ida Grove, Ia.; George W. Malone of Carson City, Nev.; Vilas Whaling of Racine, Wis.; Ed Hayes of Decatur, Ill.; Lyon W. Brandon of Como, Miss.; Samuel Reynolds of Omaha, Neb., and Gen. Milton Reckord of Baltimore, O.

ICKES PUTS MEN ON SHIFTS
Washington.—Day and night shifts for the public works administration were ordered by Secretary Ickes, the administrator, to put new speed into the drive for more rapid spending of the $1,600,000,000 allotted so far for job-giving projects. An announcement said the day, night and Sunday work on a single shift basis which has been in effect for weeks "was exhausting the staff." Lack of office space for more workers during the day influenced the decision to install two shifts of workers so that all facilities now at hand would be utilized.

The public works board at its meeting Tuesday is expected to approve more than fifty nonfederal projects. The public works administration has determined to allot as far as possible the money remaining in its $3,300,000,000 fund to nonfederal projects. Col. H. M. Waite urged nonfederal organizations to hasten their applications since federal agencies were seeking additional funds and promising to spend them immediately if obtained.

Nehawka

E. M. Griffin, of Plattsmouth, was a business visitor in Nehawka on last Monday afternoon.

W. O. Troop and Arnold Mast were looking after some business matters at Plattsmouth on Monday of this week.

Clarence Hansen was hauling hogs from his farm west of Murray to Omaha on last Monday, delivering them to the South Omaha market.

John Opp and his father, Peter Opp, were in Omaha last Monday and while they were away the store was looked after by a daughter of Mr. Opp.

C. H. Peck and the family were enjoying a visit at Plattsmouth on last Saturday, when they also enjoyed attending the closing day of the Korn Carnival.

Mrs. Emma Chriswiser was spending a week at Plattsmouth with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Chriswiser and as well attending the King Korn Carnival.

Fred Druucker, who has been at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago for the past ten days, returned home a few days ago and reports a very fine time while there and that he was able to see many interesting and educational sights.

Mark Burton and family were over to Plattsmouth last Saturday night to enjoy the celebration of the Korn Carnival and while they were very busy at home they got there too late to see the parades, but enjoyed the closing evening of the week of festivities.

Earnest Kropp, who has been spending several months in Ohio, where he was employed a portion of the time, returned to Nehawka last week and is assisting in the post-office. Mr. Kropp says times in the east are not far different than they are here.

Gilbert Edmunds and family and Elijah Edmunds and family were over to Lincoln last Sunday, where they enjoyed a visit and a picnic dinner, and also enjoyed a tour of the capitol building and a view of the surrounding country from the tower of the building.

D. C. Rhoden and George Troop were over to Omaha on last Sunday, where they went to bring Mrs. Troop back from the hospital where she has been for some time past and with the returning she is feeling very fair and is hoping soon to be in her former health again.

Mrs. Earl Troop and daughter, Avis were enjoying a visit at the home of Mrs. Troop's parents, E. E. Leach and wife, of Union. Mr. Troop, who is working at Dorchester, was home and also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leach, returned to his work at Dorchester.

Mrs. Sadie Oldham, of Murray, was a visitor with her friend, Mrs. W. O. Troop and it was the first time she had been able to get out for the past year on account of the injury which she had received. It was a pleasure for her to be able to get out and enjoying seeing the country again and the many friends which she has.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Reike, who has been so seriously ill for some time past still continues very critically ill and while she has not been able to receive any nourishment for more than a week, she still holds to life and the case is a puzzle to the medical men as well as to the parents and friends. All are hopeful that the little one may yet recover, despite the facts the odds are so strongly against her.

Tommy Mason, Ted McLean and Roy Lancaster, the Three Musketeers who were supplying music for a portion of the time at the Korn Carnival at Plattsmouth, enjoyed the show as well as did the large crowd who attended. Mr. Mason said he was greatly pleased with the spirit of cooperation manifested by all the people of Plattsmouth in the furnishing of the good times for the visitors. Mr. Mason also says the parades were a wonderful demonstration of what can be done by united effort, there being five of them during the four days and every one a good one.

Are Kept on the Hump
R. D. Taylor and Frank Trotter, the truckmen, are kept very busy at this time with the delivering of cattle to the South Omaha market. During the past few days they have delivered cattle for W. T. Schlichtmeier, Noddleman & Nutzman as well as Nutzman & Cisney and have been assisted by Messrs. C. D. St. John and Frank Robb.

Nineteen Years Faithful Service
On September 4, 1914, Tommy Mason began the work of carrying the mail on the rural route out of Nehawka and has kept steadily at the work ever since. Eleven more years and he will have rounded out thirty years, all the time which is regularly allotted for carrying the mail, but by special arrangement two more years are allowed. Then they are taken from the service and given a pension equal to a portion of the money that was earned when in regular service. Mr. Mason has been a faithful servant of his country and his services are greatly appreciated by the patrons of the route.

Finding Business Very Fair
Forest R. Cunningham, who has been engaged in the making of chicken crates for some time past, has added the manufacture of hog crates and wagon boxes to his list and has been receiving many orders for his wares. He just shipped a consignment of the chicken crates to Omaha and has orders for more. He is in a position to furnish crates to farmers for chickens, for the shipment of hogs and also for new wagon boxes at a more reasonable figure than that charged for those from the factory, as well as being much better made. The factory is located at the old livery barn and as Mr. Cunningham is kept busy a portion of the time at the saw mill, he has associated with him as salesman at the factory when he is away, S. E. Lingo, who is there all the time, as he has his produce station there.

Anyone wanting anything in this line will find either Mr. Cunningham or Mr. Lingo there ready to wait on them—both very courteous gentlemen and well versed in their product.

Beautiful Wedding Ceremony is Held at Lincoln

Miss Cornelia Gant Married to Mr. Edgar A. Cole, Formerly of Weeping Water.

An improvised altar banked with palms and ferns and baskets of pink and white asters and gladioli formed an attractive setting for the marriage of Miss Cornelia Gant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Gant, to Edgar A. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Cole, of Weeping Water. Rev. C. H. Walcott read the service at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Gant home in the presence of relatives and a few close friends of the couple. Miss Helen Cole, sister of the groom, lighted the ivory tapers in the nin-branch candelabrum which stood before the bank of greenery. She also stretched the white satin ribbons to form an aisle for the bridal party.

Wilbur Chenoweth played his own composition, "March Triumphant," for the processional, and will accompany Miss Valerita Callen, violinist, who played "Romance," Debussy; "Serenade," Schubert; "Calm as the Night," Bohn, and "Meditation" from Thais by Massenet. Mrs. Lillian Helms Polley sang "A Song of Thanksgiving" by Frances Allitsen and for a benediction, "O Perfect Love." As the vows were spoken Miss Callen played "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

The bride was lovely in an ivory satin gown fashioned on princess lines, with sunburst seamed detail, which gave a decidedly molded line. There was a silk lace jacket with soft, full sleeves fitted to long, tightly fitted satin cuffs. The bridal veil was of tulle made floor length and edged with lace. The tulle cap was ornamented with orange blossoms at the back. Miss Gant wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom and carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Marjorie Cole, sister of the groom, wore a pink chiffon dress made floor length, with a cape of delicate tulle. Her picture hat was of blue hair-braid and her long gloves of white kid. She carried an arm bouquet of Columbia roses and sweetpeas. The best man was Robert L. Gant, brother of the bride.

At the reception, Miss Grace Spacht invited the guests into the dining room, where Mrs. Clark Micky served the first hour, and Mrs. G. M. Jackson the second hour. Miss Janice Mickey and Miss Dorothy Jackson cut the cake, and assisting with the serving was Misses Doris Wilkins, Marjorie Bernstein and Ruth Burnett. Miss Ruth Jefferson invited the guests into the gift room, where Miss Maude Holden presided and Miss Ruth Landers kept the guest book. William Gant, brother of the bride, played during the reception.

Following a two weeks trip to the Ozark mountains, Mr. Cole and his bride will be at home in Lincoln at 1742 K street. The bride has chosen for traveling, a navy blue wool suit with matching accessories.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hinds and Miss Holden, all of Weeping Water; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cassaday, Denison, Ia.; Miss Mickey, McCook; Miss Wilkins, Dorchester; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hiatt, Plattsmouth, and Miss Jefferson, Nehawka.—State Journal.

MARRIED AT WILBER

This morning at the St. Mary's Catholic church at Wilber, occurred the marriage of Miss Camille Janda of this city and Mr. Louis Swoboda of that city.

The nuptial mass of the church was celebrated by Father Iezabek, pastor of the church and the marriage was witnessed by a large group of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bridal couple were attended by Miss Eleanor O'Brien and Mr. James Holy, Jr., of this city.

Following the marriage the members of the bridal party were entertained at a most delightful wedding breakfast and showered with the well wishes of the friends and relatives.
