RIVER-VIEW CLUB MEETING

The first lesson of this season's work was given, when the club met at the home of Mrs. Greeley Bell last week.

The meeting was opened in the usual way, by singing of the songs that we have studied in our club work.

The business part of the meeting was then presided over by President Mrs. Patterson, followed by the lesson, "Tailored Finishes Made Easy," which was made very interesting, as Mrs. Creamer had prepared samples of each step in the work.

Our next lesson will be "Making Mittens and House Slippers."

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting. Plans were made to meet with Mrs. Joe Campbell and daughter, Josephine, for our next meeting on November 7th.

The club also held a welter roast at the home of Mrs. Harold Hull between regular meeting, as a social feature for the members and families. After a delicious lunch of roasted veiners, buns, pickles, pie and coffee, much merry making was had in the light of the camp fire. Many songs were sung, and another successful event was marked down on our calendar of time.

You had better practice on pinocchle these snappy evenings, as plans are being made for parties during the winter months. We have two new members, Mrs. Harold Sack and Miss Leona Baker, this bringing our membership to seventeen.—Club Reporter.

OMAHA PARTIES WEDDED

The home of Mrs. Dora Mark was the scene of the marriage of two Omaha residents on Saturday evening, Carl Rhoden and Mrs. Marion Anthony. The marriage lines were read by Judge Charles L. Graves in his usual impressive manner and the bridal party later returned to Omaha. The ceremony was witnessed by Martha Eckman and Geraldine Albrecht, friends of the contracting parties, from Omaha, as well as Harry Kruger, an old friend of the groom.

GOES ON SAD MISSION

J. C. Couch of this city was called to Alton, Missouri, Sunday by the message announcing the death of his father, who had been poorly for some time. Mr. Couch left at once after receipt of the message and will remain at Alton until the funeral services. The friends here will extend to the family their deepest sympathy.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, October 29

By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"World's Temperance Sunday"

Rom. 13:12-14; 14:7-9, 15-21.

This question, like the poor, is always with us. It can never be settled by law. The liquor traffic can be outlawed, but that will not take the appetite out of men, for it. Education will do much, by enlightening men of the evil consequences that follow the use of it. Great men like John B. Gough, Governor St. John, D. L. Moody, Billy Sunday, Jerry McCann, Frances E. Willard, have devoted the best part of their lives to teaching and preaching against this product of hell that was conceived in iniquity, born of the evil one and leads to hell. Many a soul has been snatched like a firebrand out of the jaws of hell and lived a sober life, and died—sober. The question is now a political one, where it should be treated as a moral and ethical question. The politicians will never solve it; law cannot curb it; it cannot be controlled—the only solution is found in the word of God. Our lesson points the way.

A true Christian will neither "taste, touch or handle" the vile stuff. Some church members will even argue in favor of strong drink, saying that God let the material grow for strong drink, but he has given man common sense not to use it to his man's detriment.

The apostle, Paul, who could discern the deep things of God and analyze man better than any other, gives us the recipe—formula—how to overcome the inclination to do evil and the wrong things for which we have to pay a great price in suffering.

These Roman Christians that have come out of heathen darkness are admonished "to cast off the works of darkness"—ignorance, and "put on the armour of light." They needed this admonition, but what shall we say of men of our day, who have grown up under the shining light of the Gospel and the example of men who are living witnesses to the power of God that can change a man so completely and wonderfully that he hates the things he once loved and loves the things he once despised.

Men of our day, from the head of our nation to the smallest politician, who are using all the influence and power of their office and opening the flood-gates for the damnable stuff that has cursed the world for thousands of years, ought to know better than to lend aid to bringing the curse of Jehovah upon this nation. This word of the lesson ought to be preached to these men from the housetops. "Let us walk becomingly as in the day (not heathen darkness); not in revelling and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and jealousy. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ."

Would we have a "liquor question" in America if all who claim to be Christians would walk this way?

Paul bids us to enter into Union with Christ, that we become inseparable from him. Can any sane man conceive of the idea, just for one moment, of our Lord to step into a saloon, order beer for the crowd and light a pipe, cigarette or cigar and then preach the Sermon on the Mount in that atmosphere? But his so-called followers will do it. The Christian has given up his "personal liberty" for he is "not his own, he is bought with a price." (1 Cor. 6:19, 20). He lives not to himself but for the good he can do to others, avoiding giving offence or being a stumbling block for a weak brother.

We knew a Sunday school superintendent who on one occasion, away from home, slipped into a saloon. He was observed. He would not do this in his home town, but in a few years became a habitual drunkard—and died as such.

The Eighteenth Amendment forbids only one thing—intoxication. If a drink is not intoxicating, there is no law against it. "For to this end Christ died and lived again, that he might be Lord of both dead and living." The Son of God will not divide with Satan his kingdom in the human soul. We cannot serve both Christ and King Alcohol. Our religion requires us to be pure. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." (Matt. 5:8). Our religion is built upon unselfishness, as verse 15 teaches. True Christianity is brotherhood, helpfulness, clearing obstacles out of men's way—not putting stumbling blocks in men's way. "I am my brother's keeper."

May we never forget the judgment day—it is sure coming. "The Kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost." In the Kingdom of God the important things are "righteousness" in our relation to others, and the "peace and joy" which results from true spiritual fellowship (Prof. Chas. R. Erdman).

Should not the church and every member in it "Follow after things that make for peace, and things whereby we may edify one another?" Weymouth translates the last clause as "Mutual up-building of character." The last verse sums up the whole story: "It is good not to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor to do anything whereby thy brother stumbleth." That is the crowning glory of our Christian religion—unselfishness in the highest degree.

Our Lord lived not to please himself. Whoever is crucified with Christ becomes a total abstainer from intoxicants.

Boost in Prices of Commodities Roosevelt Goal

Purchase of Newly Mined Gold Expected to Bring Desired Result; What Economists Say.

Washington.—Government purchases of newly mined gold at a figure higher than world market quotations were expected almost immediately in Washington as the first step in President Roosevelt's plan for giving higher prices by taking and keeping control of the value of the nation's money. Encouraged by the ready upward response of the commodity markets to a bare announcement of the plan, the chief executive and his advisors absorbed themselves in the task of getting his system of "managed currency" into operation at the earliest possible moment.

Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction corporation, thru which the purchases will be made, called twice at the white house, accompanied on his second visit by Harvey Couch, RFC director. His earlier conference with the president was attended by Acting Secretary Acheson of the treasury and Henry Morgenthau, jr., chairman of the farm credit administration.

In addition to buying newly mined gold at a price to be fixed by the RFC and treasury in consultation with Mr. Roosevelt, the plan contemplates purchases and sales of gold on the foreign markets to adjust the country's supply of monetary gold to the needs of the economic situation as it develops.

A pronounced advance in commodity prices, goal of all the president's recovery measures, is the immediate object of the gold transactions. Prices are to be spurred upward to a satisfactory level and stabilized there, Mr. Roosevelt said. "When we have restored the price level, we shall seek to establish and maintain a dollar that will not change its purchasing and debt-paying power thruout the succeeding generation," he said, emphasizing at the same time that the price level must be restored before any permanent revaluation of the dollar could be undertaken.

Inflationary and Bullish. Although lacking an official interpretation, interested observers were quick to term the plan inflationary and bullish. Stock exchange quotations leaped upward at the outset of trading but later reacted, showing, however, in most cases net gains for the day. The commodity markets shot upward and maintained their advances. Wheat gained 4 cents and cotton more than a dollar a bale.

Studying the president's speech, most observers concluded that he proposed to increase prices by taking advantage of their known and proved relation to the value of gold. It is a tested economic principle that, when gold prices go up, commodity prices do also, and when the dollar value of the metal falls off, commodity prices tumble as well.—State Journal.

MAKES PRIZE JELLY

In the September number of the Household magazine, quite tempting cash prizes were offered for the best glasses of jelly. The jelly to be used for the poor people at Topeka, Kans. Mrs. F. R. Cunningham says she was conceived enough to think her jelly might land a prize and hoped she could convince the director that she could make good jelly, and she did, for she received a very substantial check and a jelly maker's certificate. The judge of this jelly holds a degree in Home Economics from Iowa State College and Kansas State College. As Mrs. Cunningham has never taken domestic science but learned to make jelly from experience, she naturally feels quite proud to receive a prize in a nation-wide jelly contest, there being 5,842 glasses entered and every state in the union represented.—Nehawka Enterprise.

Green Reiterates Shorter Hour Need of Nation

Two Month Increase of 1,700,000 Men Said Not Enough; Need a Shorter Working Week.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Organized labor found today that 1,700,000 more men went back to work in August and September, but reiterated its contention that only shorter hours would provide jobs for the 10,059,000 it said remain unemployed.

Asserting that "most of the effect of the re-employment program has already been felt," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, added that the accomplishments in August and September were "striking proof of the results of shortening work hours."

"We have made much progress since the March unemployment peak when 13,680,000 were out of work," he said. "By September this army of unemployed had been reduced by 3,600,000. But even so, 10,059,000 are still unemployed."

"What About Ten Million?" "Whatever it is, what are we to do for these 10,059,000 unemployed in the coming months? The only way we can possibly put them to work is by a further shortening of work hours."

The objective of the A. F. of L. is a 30-hour work week for all industry. Green has told the administration that unless all NRA codes approximate a 30-hour week, organized labor again will seek to push thru congress a bill to that end.

Buying Power Gaining. He also wants higher pay. He said today:

"The re-employment of workers is steadily increasing buying power. The dollar increase in total workers' buying power from March to September was 30.7 per cent, but the effect of this gain has been greatly reduced by increased living costs. "When the rise in prices is taken into consideration, workers' effective buying power has increased by 20.5 per cent. prices, workers' total effective buying power in September was above the March level by 365 million dollars per month, and above August by 67 million dollars."

AL SMITH GIVES TESTIMONY

New York.—Alfred E. Smith testified in supreme court he had told two of his 1928 presidential campaign supporters that their notes held by the County Trust company of which he is chairman of the board, would have to be paid. Smith was called as a witness in the bank's suit to recover from Timothy J. Mara $50,000 and from P. K. Kenny $20,000 lent them for expenses incidental to their democratic nominee's campaign. Mara and Kenny have testified that they received assurances from the late J. J. Riordan, friend of Smith and president of the bank, that the signing of the notes was a "mere formality" and that they would not have to be paid.

BAILIFF DROPS DEAD

Omaha.—Charles Johnson, 60, head bailiff for the district courts here, dropped dead on the street. Death was said to be due to a stroke of apoplexy. Johnson was a former deputy sheriff.

U. S. to Spend Over a Billion for Farm Aid

Two-Year Program Calls for Land Replacements and Adequate Cut in Acreage.

Washington.—More than $1,250,000,000 will be spent in the next two years to carry out President Roosevelt's program for the replacement of poor farm lands with good, and for a reduction of all surplus crops.

Figures furnished Monday showed that on the one hand the government is preparing to spend $900,000,000 to reduce crop surpluses and to buy up existing excess to feed the needy. On the other, $300,000,000 approximates the amount that will be spent for irrigation, reclamation, research, and for teaching the farmer efficiency.

Aims of Program. The objective as President Roosevelt has outlined it is this:

First, to turn to pasturage or some other use the marginal or sub-marginal lands which cannot be farmed economically.

Second, to replace, on the average, three acres of that land with one acre of new soil that will produce less than the three acres but on a more economic basis.

Third, to hold production of basic commodities on all lands to a point where they will cease to pile up surpluses.

Dr. Raxford Guy Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, is charged with the work of harmonizing the federal activities. This means that he must try to balance the crop reduction program against the research work, federal aid to colleges and experiment stations, irrigation and reclamation activities and the public works administration's building program.

Benefit from U. S. For instance, the Agriculture department is paying benefits to farmers who stop producing cotton, wheat, hogs, corn, tobacco and other crops on poor lands. At the same time, the interior department and public works administration are spending money to reclaim and irrigate new lands.

In the next two years, the government could, and probably will, spend around $350,000,000 for a 25 per cent cut in hog production and a 20 per cent reduction in the corn output.

It will give about $240,000,000 to farmers for wheat reduction, $222,000,000 for cuts in the cotton crop, $5,000,000 to tobacco growers.

There also will be spent around $130,000,000 more to buy hogs for the needy.

In the same two years, about $20,000,000 will be spent on agricultural extension work, $5,000,000 on federal aid to state agricultural colleges, $9,000,000 for federal experimental stations, and $22,000,000 for federal farm research.
