Regional Meeting of the Red Cross is Held

Cass County Chapter Is Represented at Gathering of the Iowa-Nebraska Chapters.

A regional conference of Red Cross chapters of Iowa and Nebraska was held in Omaha at the Fontenelle Hotel, Oct. 18th and 19th. More than 150 persons were in attendance. Cass county chapter was represented by officers of the chapter.

Dr. A. C. Stokes, chairman, Omaha chapter presided and gave a most hearty welcome to those attending. He believed it was much easier to raise funds than to spend them wisely. He interpreted Red Cross as "Man's Humanity to Man."

L. M. Williams, Nebraska field representative reviewed Red Cross activities for 1932-33. Maps of Nebraska were colored to represent the program as carried out by counties and we should be proud of the work our state is doing under Red Cross.

H. A. Beltz, Jr., southern Iowa field representative reviewed similar activities in Iowa. Maps of Iowa likewise gave the same information. J. M. Ower, assistant to the manager, Midwestern Branch Office, St. Louis, discussed the "Red Cross in a Changing Field of Service." He said, "Emergency is Red Cross and that NRA was old to Red Cross for 'We do our part' had always been symbolical with Red Cross. With federal relief removing primary responsibility from Red Cross it might be the unemployable that Red Cross may help. Permanent rehabilitation not easy. Public health is in arrears. Nursing should be considered. Home hygiene and care of the sick should be given and perhaps many nurses now inactive by marriage or otherwise could give instructions for such classes. First aid and life saving classes should be formed." He stated further that Junior Red Cross if correctly understood correlates things already in the school.

Luncheon was held at noon. Address, "The Red Cross Carries On," by Douglas Griesemer, national director of roll call, Washington, D. C. He stated that Red Cross had gone into nearly one-fifth of all families in the United States, bearing practical relief for those suffering from four years of financial, business and industrial debacle, and from diseases created by the elements. It has carried on through stress and storm the greatest relief program of its 52 years. Quoting General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the NRA: "One manifestation of national recovery should be a generous outpouring of popular support for the American Red Cross in its annual membership roll call, November 11 to 30."

A pageant by members of Junior Red Cross, Omaha chapter, was given. The room in which the conference was held contained an art exhibit of the Junior Red Cross of Omaha. Favors for the luncheon were made by members of the Junior Red Cross also. Discussion of plans for the seventeenth roll call followed. Nebraska has 3.1% of its population enrolled as members this last roll call, but to meet the need it must enroll 4 1/2% during the roll call this year. Our potential membership in the United States is 40,000,000 and only 700 members is the goal set for Cass county chapter. We can go above that.

Henry P. Hanning, Liaison representative, Veterans' Administration, Lincoln, instructor had charge of the second day's program given over wholly to Home Service Institute. Discussion of new veterans' administration regulations and procedure for home service workers and other interested persons made this institute most informative and helpful. Additional responsibility to ex-service men owing to recent legislation made this session of utmost importance.

Cass county chapter received high praise for its organization as carried on in its several activities and having well-informed officers in the charter obligations was the reason for an ysuccess it may attain.

INSPECT W. R. C. POST

The local post of the W. R. C. held a very interesting session on Monday afternoon, the occasion being the visit here on a tour of inspection by Mrs. Nellie M. Smith, of Tekamah, district inspector. Mrs. Smith was met at the Hotel Riley by the members of the corps and escorted to the court house where the inspection was made of the records and the work of the local officers, all being found to be excellent. Mrs. Smith was a house guest overnight of Mrs. J. H. McMaken, departing this morning for Nebraska City to inspect the post there.

Business men, who in their school day were interested in the pig skin, now are more interested in the skin of their teeth. Wonder whether it is durable enough for them to outlast the depression.

HOLD FUNERAL TODAY

From Wednesday's Daily
 The burial services of the late William T. Craig, 71, of Omaha, was held this afternoon at Oak Hill cemetery in this city, the body being brought here following the service at the Hoffman mortuary at Omaha.
 Mr. Craig was a resident of Plattsmouth for a number of years, being interested in several business ventures and was well known to a large circle of friends and who have learned with regret of his passing.
 He is survived by his wife, Ida May; four sons, Elvin T., of Lincoln; Chester B., Lloyd W., and Lowell B., of Omaha; two daughters Mrs. Ona May Edenburn of Council Bluffs; Lorraine D. Craig, of Omaha; two brothers, Quiller of Doniphan, Kansas; and Ed of Friend, Nebraska, and on sister, Mrs. Lora Head of Shelby, Nebraska.

DIES IN OREGON

Samuel Lawrence Carlyle, 74, for many years Argus correspondent in the Orenco community, says the Hillsboro (Oregon) Argus, died at his home in Orenco Saturday. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Orenco Presbyterian church with interment in the Forest View cemetery, Forest Grove.
 Mr. Carlyle came to Oregon in 1907, taking up residence at Forest Grove. In 1923 he moved to Orenco and shortly afterwards became Argus correspondent in the territory. He continued this work until the middle of July of this year, when he was forced to retire due to ill health.
 He was born January 31, 1859, in Beverly, Ill., and lived in Nebraska 35 years, where he learned the printer's trade, owning and publishing newspapers in Nehawka, Arnold, and Kimball. In 1891 he was married to Miss Emma A. Beach. After coming to Oregon he reported for several Portland papers.
 During Mr. Carlyle's residence in Orenco, he was associated with the Presbyterian church, holding every office in the church at different times, but serving most of the time as superintendent of the Sunday school. At the time of his illness he had missed but one season in 25 years.
 The widow and three daughters, Mrs. George D. Garrett of Portland; Mrs. C. M. Alexander of Leadore Idaho; and Miss Elizabeth Carlyle, a Methodist missionary in China, now home on furlough, survive. Three grandchildren, Vernon Garratt, Gerald and Jean Alexander, also survive. Also two brothers, Edward Carlyle of Potter, Neb., Dr. W. L. Carlyle of Los Angeles, Cal., and one sister, Mrs. M. J. Thomas of South Pasadena, Cal.
