

MURDOCK ITEMS

William Mann was a business visitor in Murdock Tuesday. Mrs. Arthur Besack, of Omaha, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Harry McDonald, this week. Mrs. Henry A. Tool attended the convention of the Red Cross at Omaha last Wednesday. She is secretary-treasurer of the Cass county chapter. Mr. and Mrs. Orris E. Bradford drove to Shenandoah Sunday afternoon, enjoying the program being broadcast from the Earl E. May radio station. Mr. and Mrs. Orris E. Bradford, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Tool were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Tool at Wahoo last Wednesday evening. Frank Melvin, with the assistance of Floyd Hite, have been putting a new roof on the farm home of Henry Gakemeier, where Herman Gakemeier and family reside. O. W. Gillespie has been conducting the meat market since the death of Uncle John Ostbloom and will continue looking after the affairs until things can be arranged otherwise. George E. Nickles, of Murray, was a visitor in Murdock, calling on his friend, H. W. Tool, last Wednesday. George was the Cass county representative in the last session of the state legislature. Frank Farnham, a member of the Nebraska Masonic Home at Plattsmouth, was a visitor on last Wednesday afternoon with his friend, L. Neitzel, the boys having a very fine time for an hour or so. Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Tool left Saturday morning on a hunting trip at North Loup, stopping at Wahoo to take lunch with his son, Kenneth A. Tool and wife, planning to return home Wednesday evening. Henry Carsten, Messrs and Mesdames Jess Backemeier and Lennie Lay, with Devote Ostbloom and Mrs. Smita of Lincoln and Art Ostbloom all went to Marquette to attend the funeral of the late John Ostbloom. L. Neitzel and Albert Thiel were over to Lincoln last Wednesday to view the remains of the late John Ostbloom and to tender their regrets to the relatives before the taking of the remains to Marquette for interment. Arthur H. Ward, the manager of the Deep Rock gasoline distributing service here, was over to Louisville on last Wednesday afternoon, disposing of a truck load of this brand of motor fuel and also a few barrels of lubricating oils. Arthur J. Tool, Harold W. Tool, Henry Amgwert and Joe Ranney, the latter of Council Bluffs, Iowa, went out to Friend, where they shot their limit of pheasants over Sunday and were able to return home in time to sleep Sunday night. The Cass county Ministerial Evangelist meeting last Sunday at Union turned out to be a laymen's meeting, as no ministers were present except Rev. Engebretsen, of Nehawka. An old fashioned testimony meeting was conducted by L. Neitzel, of Murdock, which will long be remembered by those present. Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kuehn were in Omaha last Wednesday, where they were looking after some business matters connected with the store which they conduct here. Mrs. George Vogel and sister, Mrs. E. Gillinsky, of Omaha, who is visiting her sister at her home in South Bend, were here visiting last Wednesday. Some business called the writer to the home of C. A. Kupke last week, where we found this gentleman, two of his children and S. P. Leis busily engaged in picking corn and we picked for a short time and found much of the corn with the ears seven feet and more above the ground. It was making between 60 and 65 bushels to the acre. John Amgwert, formerly a citizen of Murdock, who for a number of years conducted the barber shop here, but who moved to Lincoln a number of years ago, where he has been engaged in painting and decorating, was a visitor in Murdock last Wednesday, being a guest of his brother, Henry, and also visiting with his host of friends here. John Ostbloom Dies Suddenly John Ostbloom, who for a number of years has been engaged in conducting a market and grocery here, died suddenly last Monday morning. He and John Carsten had been occupying the same sleeping place and when Mr. Carsten arose his companion was still asleep, but a short time afterwards he was found to be dead. Mr. Ostbloom had apparently been in good health and his sudden death was a shock to the entire community. The body was taken to Lincoln to be prepared for burial and calls were sent to the family outside of Murdock, there being five children, Mrs. Lennie Lau and Mrs. Jess Backemeier, both of Murdock; Mrs. Devoe Ostbloom and Mrs. Smita, of Lincoln, and Arthur Ostbloom, of Ottumwa, Iowa. The funeral was held at Marquette, where other members of the family rest. Mr. Ostbloom was born in Sweden 65 years ago and has lived in America the greater part of his life, being a resident of Nebraska for the past forty years. Just what will be done with the business he has conducted here will depend on the decision of the children, who have the sympathy of their host of friends in their deep sorrow.

Home After Three Weeks Lawrence Race and the family, who were accompanied by the mother of Mrs. Race, Mrs. Margaret Falk, arrived in Murdock last Tuesday to conclude a trip of some 4,000 miles. Mr. Race and family drove from here to Stratford, Ontario, Canada, where the parents of Mrs. Race, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Falk, reside, some three weeks ago. After a splendid visit there, they were accompanied on a trip to the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago by Mrs. Falk and thence home. They made the entire trip without a puncture or having to change water in the radiator of their new Chevrolet Six, and with but two changes of oil, while the gasoline consumption was also low. Lawrence thinks even more of the bigger and better Chevrolet than he did before.

ACCUSED OF MAIL ROBBERY Chicago. — John Ryan, reputed member of the Touhy gang, was freed by a jury in criminal court on a charge of slaying John Rinella, roudhouse keeper, and immediately was seized on a federal warrant charging him with participation in the $78,417 mail robbery at Minneapolis last Jan. 3. Federal authorities said Ryan would be taken to St. Paul as soon as possible to join Roger Touhy, Willie Sharkey, Edward McPadden and Gus Schaeffer, all held in connection with the kidnaping of William Hamm, jr. Schaeffer and Sharkey also are under indictment in the mail robbery.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Attorney General Paul P. Good of Nebraska had expressed hope that other states which probably will legalize liquor before Nebraska does, would co-operate with his state in enforcement of its dry laws.

WALL STREET INFLUENCED Washington.—Albert H. Wiggin, retired chief of the Chase National bank, believes public opinion has an effect on Wall street. After the senate banking committee had traced extensive stock market operations in the past by the bank's Chase securities affiliate and subsidiaries, Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, asked Wiggin: "Do you think that a national bank affiliate should engage in stock market speculation of the kind that you then had in mind?" "No sir, if for no other reason than respect for public opinion," replied Wiggin. "Oh," exclaimed Senator Couzens, "so public opinion does have some effect on Wall street?" "I think that it has a pretty good effect," said Wiggin, going on to say that he would not do anything "today that, if it turned out unfortunate, was going to be criticized."

Looking for Bank Robbers One of the deputy sheriffs of Douglas county, a Mr. Jones, with a posse of five men from Omaha, was in Manley last Wednesday looking for the robbers of the Nebraska City bank, having a suspicion that they might be "lie-in-wait" place here until the matter had blown over. However, the efforts of this man and his posse were futile, for it seems the robbers had sped away to Norfolk and pulled off another high handed bank robbery there on Friday, getting an even greater amount of cash than their visit at Nebraska City had netted them.

Steals Gloves and Caps Some parties came to the store of Rudolph Bergmann on last Saturday night and were loafing about the store. While they were there, Miss Margaret Bergman came up and as she was about to enter had her attention attracted by the actions of one of the party who was apparently stealing some articles of merchandise. She stepped back, and as it was dark outside, was able to watch the man without being noticed. When she was sure that her suspicions were correct,

Seek to Curb Radio Libel by Keeping Copies Sirovich Will Ask Congress to Pass Law Compelling Stations to Record Everything. Washington, Oct. 27.—Legislation requiring radio broadcasting stations to record and preserve in permanent form every word spoken over them, to prevent damaging statements and to provide reference basis in libel cases, will be introduced when congress convenes in January, Rep. William Sirovich (D.), New York, announced Friday. Dr. Sirovich said the radio should be on the same level with newspapers with regard to injurious and libelous statements transmitted by them and that therefore an exact mechanical record of all broadcasts should be made available for consultation. "Protests have come in by hundreds from people who say they have been mistreated by radio utterances, but there is now no record on which to base charges." Senator Wallace H. White Jr. (R.), Maine, agreed the existing situation regarding governmental supervision of radio statements was unsatisfactory and said the legislative possibilities would be studied with a view to rectification of abuses. Officials of the federal radio commission looked with favor on the prospect of placing an effective check on injurious radio speech. A member of the commission said: "There exist no regulations for compelling stations to preserve a copy of all their programs. Legislation to this end would be useful and provide a needed safeguard against damaging expression by wireless."

Wet-Dry Differences Appear Early at Conference—Representatives of Five States Attend. Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 26.—The recommendation that federal taxes on liquor be kept as low as possible to avoid encouraging bootleggers and illicit manufacture of liquor was made by an interstate liquor control conference meeting here today. Representatives of five states attended, at the invitation of Governor Clyde L. Herring of Iowa. They agreed to urge this stand in telegrams to be sent to President Roosevelt by liquor committees or officials of the respective states. The conference also agreed that taxation and license fees should be reasonably uniform as between states where a licensing and taxing system is adopted. 5 States Represented. States represented at the conference included Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Nebraska and Iowa. Differences of opinion between the so-called wet and dry states cropped out early. Predicting "there won't be much uniformity," Senator Harry W. Bolens, chairman of the Wisconsin commission, declared that "the wet states won't be dictated to by the dry, nor will the dry ones allow the wet states to tell them what they should do." General Tinsley Presides. Attorney General Paul P. Good of Nebraska had expressed hope that other states which probably will legalize liquor before Nebraska does, would co-operate with his state in enforcement of its dry laws. The resolution favoring steps to encourage only moderate federal taxation on intoxicating liquors was drafted by a resolutions committee composed of Rev. Stoddard Lane, Iowa; Senator Ward, Illinois; Good, Nebraska; Bolens, Wisconsin; and Paul P. Fry, director of excise of Indiana. Brigadier General M. A. Tinsley Council Bluffs, is chairman of the Iowa commission.

Pensions aggregating $1,600 a year were awarded to dependents of three. Sums totaling $1,500 were given to the parents of two others. One of the heroes was injured and he was awarded benefits of $1,000 and a pension of $780 a year for life.

STEEL COMBINE PROPOSED Berlin.—Boards of four of the most important German iron and steel concerns met in Berlin and resolved to submit to respective shareholders' meetings in Essen on Nov. 29, a project for a joint working agreement. Industrial circles regarded this as the biggest deal of its kind in recent years. The project was described as a combination of working interests on the basis of financial concentration with, however, a "deconcentration" of production. Each concern would confine itself in the future to producing its own specialties.

she entered the store and told her father who went after the man, finding two caps and some gloves in his possession. He took them from the culprit and told him to get out and stay away from the store in the future, but as he was drunk he followed back into the store, whereupon Mr. Bergman forcibly ejected him from his store and pushed him out into the street warning him not to come back. It seems as though he was lucky inasmuch as Mr. Bergman did not press charges against him. In city stores when shoplifters are caught they are usually "shook down" for an amount several times the value of the goods or given a ride in the police patrol.

WOMEN CONTEST FOR CHILD

Beaver, Pa.—A mother and foster mother collapsed in court as they fought for custody of a 5-year-old child. The mother, Mrs. Viella Gonzalez of Detroit, said she gave her baby, Betty, to Mrs. William Hamilton in Trent, Mich., the night before Christmas of 1928, after her husband had deserted her. As she told of searches for Hamilton and the child over many states, Mrs. Gonzalez suffered a nervous collapse. Later she was able to complete her testimony, saying she now is making $16 a week in a Detroit foundry and is able to provide for the child. Mrs. Hamilton told of taking her baby in 1928, and of nursing it back to health. The court continued the case for a few days on motion of the mother's counsel, to allow obtaining of additional evidence. The foster mother, walking to the front of the room after the hearing said "Please judge, think this over r hard." Then she fainted and was carried out.
