They were also joined by Mr. and Mrs. George Colvin, of Omaha, who were accompanied by the father of Mr. Colvin, making a very merry crowd for the day.

Storing Much Corn

The Miller Cereal Mills, which is purchasing much corn through their representative here, Simon Rehmeier, have completely filled one large crib, containing more than 25,000 bushels, and now have workmen constructing another crib of like dimensions, that they expect to fill later.

All are Working Now

The people of Alvo who are needing and desiring work are all at work now as a result of the campaign being conducted by the government to provide employment through the use of CWA funds. A considerable force of men, under the able direction of J. M. Armstrong, has been busily engaged in making the town of Alvo a better place in which to live, and are doing a fine job of it. As a result of this employment program, workmen will be able to earn sufficient money to meet their living expenses and none should be the objects of charity. The average man is anxious and willing to work, as proven by the manner in which they are tackling the jobs assigned to them. Now and then, there is one who thinks the world owes him a living. All such minded persons should be weeded out and employment given to those who are willing to do a day's work for the money allotted them. The rate of pay, of 40 cents per hour, is as much or more than common labor has earned, even in prosperous times, but of course the limited number of hours cuts down the weekly pay to where it is only about enough to take care of living expenses, thus keeping all the money in circulation. This also provides work for more people than if a few were permitted to work longer hours and hold others out of a job.

DE MOTTE LAYING OUT A LARGE DISTILLERY

Frank B. DeMotte, who was here several months in charge of installation of machinery at the Norfolk Packing plant two years ago, is now located at Peoria, Illinois, as consulting engineer, in charge of the converting of a large mill into a distillery, according to advice received here in a letter from Mrs. DeMotte. Frank has had extensive experience with machinery installation and plant arrangement, particularly in the canning factory line and has been employed in such capacity at numerous cities since leaving here.

Program of Interest to Women on Farms

Home Economics Procedure for Organized Agriculture Week Drafted; First Week in January.

Nebraska farm women have just been informed of the tentative program which has been drafted for the home economics section, of Organized Agriculture to be held on the University of Nebraska college of agriculture campus the first week in January. Officers of the state sectional association are Mrs. Howard Capwell, Elmwood, president; Mrs. Marshall Ross, Gibbon, vice president; Muriel Smith, agricultural college, secretary-treasurer.

The opening session on Tuesday, Jan. 2, will find Miss Mary-Elleen Brown, in charge of home demonstration extension work at the college, presiding. Mrs. Capwell will deliver the president's greetings and Miss Belle Lowe will discuss problems in cake making. In the afternoon Mrs. Marshall Ross of Gibbon will preside, and visits to exhibits in the home economics building will feature the program.

Wednesday morning Director Brokaw of the agricultural college extension service is to honor county chairmen of extension for their community leadership. Mrs. S. P. Davis will talk about "What are our children learning about taxes" while Miss Sarah T. Muir of Lincoln will discuss the last session of the state legislature, of which she was a member in the lower house.

The home economics program closes on Thursday morning with a business meeting, a motion picture show and a study of a home laundry course just completed at the agricultural college. In the afternoon the women will attend the general session.

W. F. M. S. ENTERTAIN CHILDREN

Every year, the children's leader of the Women's Foreign Missionary society invites the younger children of the church, with their mothers, to a social gathering. This year, the event was held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Hayes. Mrs. Harry White, the children's leader, was in charge of the program.

In the early part of the afternoon, the members had a short business session.

The lesson for the day told of health conditions in several foreign countries, where the Christian missionaries are slowly leading the people to a cleaner, more wholesome life. The work, of course, is slow, because of the hundreds of thousands to be reached by perhaps two or three individuals. Mrs. Devoe gave the lesson in a very pleasing way.

The program following was a very interesting pageant, showing how the W. F. M. S. with the help of her children, and thru her teaching of them, aids other little ones in less fortunate lands. It is a wonderful lesson for our boys and girls to learn. Very few in our country ever have such hard lives as the little Indian girls or small Chinese.

Mrs. W. G. Kieck was the leading character in the pageant, and her role was beautifully given. Others taking part were Mrs. E. G. Shellenbarger, who sang several hymns during the program, Mrs. L. S. Devoe, who accompanied, Misses Kathryn Armstrong, Sheila Covert, Margaret Yelick, Marilyn Kieck, Marjorie Devoe, Kathryn Kopsicki, Peggy Jean Highfield, and Betty Mae Barkus.

After the program, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Hayes.

APPROVE WHEAT CONTRACTS

Wheat allotment contracts for fifteen more Nebraska counties were approved at Washington Friday by the county acceptance units, the wheat administration has learned.

Checks for these counties, it was believed, would arrive within two weeks. If the present figures stand up, the total payments for the fifteen counties will amount to $560,000. The counties receiving approval and the amounts: Richardson, $33,000; Jefferson, $85,120; Madison, $2,500; Burt, $8,000; Webster, $40,000; Dodge, $35,000; Box Butte, $134,524; Merrick, $43,000; Thurston, $1,141; Buffalo, $60,000; Fillmore, $87,000; Antelope, $2,000; Knox, $2,700; Pierce, $1,100; Nance, $22,871.

Nothing adds to the delights of the Christmas season more than a brightly decorated home that brings out truly the Christmas spirit. The Bates Book Store can help you in selecting your decorations, as they carry a large and handsome line.
