Football Tutors Advocate Seven Changes in Rules

All Are Designed to Make the Game More Attractive to the Customer.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 26.—Seven changes in college football rules, designated to open the game for the benefit of thrill-seeking customers, were suggested by the American Football Coaches' association Tuesday, but one coach was brave enough to predict that they would become more than suggestions.

The proposed changes, most of them requested by a minority of the four hundred coaches in attendance at the annual convention, are:

1. Permit forward passing from any point behind the line of scrimmage. (Under present rules a forward passer must be at least five yards behind the line of scrimmage.)

2. Move the goal posts back to the goal lines. (Present rules require the goal posts must be 10 yards back of the goal lines.)

3. Abolish Dead Ball Rule. (Present rules declare a ball automatically dead when any part of the ball carrier's body except his hands and feet touch the ground.)

4. Increase the sideline rule from 10 to 15 yards. (Under present rules when a ball goes out of bounds except in forward pass or kickoff, the ball is brought in 10 yards from the sidelines.)

5. Abolish the fumble rule. (Present rule declares a fumbled ball is automatically dead on point of recovery.)

6. Adopt a new "windy day" rule whereby a team in possession of the ball within its own 20-yard line on windy days can surrender the ball 25 yards nearer its opponents' goal without kicking. Coaches of both teams would have to agree to use the rule before the game started on exceptionally windy days.

7. Modify the forward pass rule whereby only incomplete passes on the fourth down into the end zones shall be ruled as touchbacks; incomplete passes on first, second, and third downs shall be counted only as downs. (Under present rules whenever any pass is incomplete in the opponent's end zone, a touchback results and the opposing team gains possession of the ball on its own 20-yard line.)

The suggestions will be forwarded to the national rules committee which meets in February. Coach Harry Kipke of Michigan, chairman of the coaches' rules committee, said the proposed changes are "merely suggestions or recommendations."

"The majority of football coaches seem to be in favor of letting the rules stand as they are," Kipke said, "but there are some progressive suggestions contained in the seven that merit deep consideration. After all, it's up to the national rules committee entirely."

THE GOLD STANDARD

Our great financiers who sold America short, Of the gold of Character now presume to cavort, Around the dead carcass of integrity they spurned, And thought nothing of the thousands they deliberately burned.

Their stock jobbing schemes and holding company's that pay, That milked the stockholders without any delay, They sheared their flocks before they were ready, And said it was a standard to make them steady.

They slipped out of the Income Tax like an eel, Their standard of integrity they could not feel, If business returns to gladden our hearts, Integrity and character must be uppermost in all our marts, An honest dollar, an honest yard stick, in

The banks and stores will there be found, It is not the standard of gold that counts, But the pure refined gold of honesty that mounts, Upon the shoulders that carry the load, That opens the trail and paves the road.

Happiness will return with joy and peace, When Big Business promulgates a perfect lease, To give to each and all an honest deal, And safeguards the future for the commonweal.

The dollar will then be a standard of gold, That the financiers cannot withhold, From our people who have stood with awe, As it fluctuated up and down and then "se-saw."

The Old Ship of State will not founder on the rocks, There is a Hand that guides the pilot, though he gets many knocks, Character and integrity by those who control the "jack," Will start the wheels of commerce singing and end that terrible lack.

The drifting snow may block the roads, And hinder the traffic for heavy loads, But a way will be improvised to clear, The track, and let the traveler move without fear, In the course he wishes, on this old . . . sphere.

The Platte river which has been at the usual low stage for the winter season, Sunday and Monday took a sudden rise and was overflowing some of the lowlands adjoining the river banks Monday.
