Accident Proves
Fatal to Payette
High School Boy

Max Marshall Dies From Injuries Received While Working in Manual Training Department

One of the most lamentable accidents that has ever occurred in this community took place at the Payette high school Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, when Max Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Marshall, former residents of Weeping Water, 17 years of age and a member of the Senior class, sustained injuries that terminated in his death a few hours later.

The young man, with other members of the manual training class was at work in the manual training room. Max was operating a turning lathe with a large piece of walnut wood, when apparently the wood split, throwing a large portion of the fragments with violent force into his face.

His right eye was torn out, skull fractured and several front teeth were knocked out. He was rendered unconscious, but regained consciousness a few minutes later. Dr. M. R. Fox was immediately summoned and also his father and brother, Jack, who were soon at the scene of the accident. He was removed to the Holy Rosary hospital, where he passed away at 7:30 that evening.

Max was an exceptionally bright young man, a favorite among the members of his class and other students of the school. He was also an exceptionally good young man, with good moral habits, and his tragic death is a severe shock to the people of the entire community.

Besides his father, Roy C. Marshall, he is survived by two sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Ruth King of Los Angeles, Keith Marshall of Monterey, California, Jack Marshall of Payette, and Doris Louise, who is at the home of her father's brother, Sidney Marshall, Long Beach, Calif. His mother passed away five years ago.—Payette, Idaho Enterprise.

STORZ WIN GAME

The Plattsmouth Storz basketball team last evening went places with the Bennington team of the Platte Valley league, winning by the decisive score of 49 to 15.

The game was never in doubt and the visitors were unable to check the offense of the Storz at any time, altho a fine defensive game was played by Jahnel, one time all state center of the Nebraska Deaf. The visitors' chief scorer was E. Peterson, who secured almost all of the visitors' bingles.

In the Plattsmouth scoring Louie Knoflicek led his team mates while the brilliant floor work of Forbes was one of the features of the game that was enjoyed by the enthusiastic crowd that gathered for the game.

The score at the half time was twenty-four to six for the locals with the barrage of shots that they had laid at the goal of the Douglas county quintet.

The Storz demonstrated that they have a fine and fast working team that can operate against the best of the amateur teams in this section of the west and should have a season of real success before them in the rest of the season.

The local team have secured the Tuxedo club team of Omaha for their next opponents, this team representing the well known colored athletic club and whose kittenball team was seen here last summer. The dusky boys have the pick of the best in their club and are reputed to be one of the fastest organizations in Omaha.

Roosevelt Busy on a Program to Offer Congress

President Is Expected to Center Primary Attention on Budget—Satisfied with Trend.

Washington.—President Roosevelt scanned his entire recovery campaign and explored new fields of effort preliminary to drafting his program for congress, meeting a week hence. Once again primary attention centered on the budget, and disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt was going to focus principal attention of congress on that subject. Conferences were renewed with Acting Secretary Morgenthau and Director Douglas of the budget. For two hours the president carefully canvassed the recovery campaign with his executive council and there was every indication Wednesday night that he intended to stand on the present program without material change for another year.

The proposal for a system of monopolies in the fields of communications under strict federal supervision was discussed with Sosthenes Behn, president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company. No administration decision on this proposition has been announced. With John J. Raskob and Albert L. Deane of New York, the president and his aides discussed an employment stabilization plan advanced by Raskob and Deane.

Apparently unconcerned over the close approach of the congressional session, Mr. Roosevelt has not yet begun to write either his message on the state of the union or his budget statement to congress. There was every indication the chief executive was satisfied with the trend of events on the recovery side and was centering his efforts toward obtaining a balanced budget and working out his control-commodity dollar program. Mr. Roosevelt said he expected the billion dollar deficit in the treasury which was reached Wednesday, to go considerably higher. He attributed the treasury outgo above revenue collections principally to the recovery campaign. He is concerned with making sure that current ordinary expenditures are kept within the range of regular revenue collections and it was said at the white house that these showed a fairly close balance. Just how much above ordinary expenditures in the way of recovery costs, such as public works and direct relief, will be proposed for next year has not yet been decided.

NO RISKS WITH PRISONERS

Cleveland.—The federal government isn't going to risk the possibility of any of its prize prisoners being given coming out parties behind the bars. Not so long ago Sheriff John Sulzmann permitted some friends of Morris Kleinman, one time Lake Erie rum running king, to throw a little get together at the county jail before he was led off to a federal penitentiary for tax evasion. The sheriff admitted the party was held, but denied allegations that liquor was served. The United States marshal removed from the jail, bag and baggage, every federal prisoner serving more than a thirty day sentence.

Twin Was Not His Child

South Dakota Man Wins Divorce Decree—Doctors Say That the Charge "Possible."

Yankton, S. D., Dec. 27.—The question of possibility of split paternity of twins figured in a divorce case on record in state circuit court here.

Judge R. B. Tripp, in granting a divorce by default to Ewald Paddie, farmer near Freeman, awarded one twin to him and the other to the mother.

Paddie charged infidelity. He asked custody of two of the two children born during his 16 years of married life, one of them a twin, claiming the two were his offspring.

Resemblance Cited.
He asserted in court that he was the father of the twin he sought, a boy who resembled him in physical characteristics, but that the other twin, also a boy, was of different paternity. He said the second twin resembled neither him nor his wife.

The wife did not appear to contest the suit. Paddie was granted custody of the two children he requested, while the other three were given to the mother, along with property offered by Paddie.

Ruling in Sweden Recalled.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 27.—A case at Yankton, S. D. involving the possible split paternity of twins recalled today a ruling on the subject by Prof. Nuth Bronan of the University of Lund in Sweden.

Prof. Bronan, noted student of genetics, said that "from a scientific point of view it is possible for twins to have different fathers." He made the statement in a court case.

After blood examinations and other tests, the court upheld the father's contention that he was the father of one of the twins in question. The case took place in February, 1932.

French Scientists' Theory.
Newspaper files disclosed statements of several other experts in genetics that the paternity of twins might not be the same. A thesis along those lines was delivered as early as 1924 by two French scientists, Dr. Menetier and Mme. Bertrand Fontaine.

The experts agreed that "identical twins," or those resulting from the same cell, must have the same parents, but that "fraternal twins," or those coming from individual cells, might have different parents.—World-Herald.
