Places Limit on Passes for Dependents

Those Temporarily Dependent at Home Are Not Entitled to Rail Transportation.

The railway commission has issued an order to all railroads in the state requiring them to make uniform reports hereafter of free and educated ate transportation. The situation arose out of the large increase in the number of passes issued to dependent members of employes' families. This was due to the fact that a great many younger members of the family, hit by the depression, have gone back to the old folks to live. In its new order the commission cautions the railroads that the law permits passes to be issued only to bonafide, actual dependents, and does not cover those who are temporarily dependent. The companies must report all interstate passes and reduced transportation issued to residents of Nebraska except those given to employes giving their entire time to railroad work; as well as all intrastate passes issued for travel in the state, whether to residents or not. Trip and exchange passes are to be segregated in the reports from annuals.

Carriers will be permitted to issue exchange passes only to those who give substantially their entire time to the railroad requesting the exchange and to dependent members of their immediate families, except that passes to surgeons and lawyers and their dependents may be issued where they are actually carried on the payrolls for at least $100 a month and are under contract to give preference to legal or surgical work of the company.

Reports are also required of names of regular salaried employes who give substantially their entire time to railroad work, except that wives and minor children need not be reported. Both sections also apply to retired, deceased or furloughed workers. The new order takes effect Jan. 1.

Guest May Recover Damages for Injuries

Auto Passenger Law Not a License to Operate Motor Car as the Driver May Wish.

In reversing the action of the district court and Saunders county in telling a jury that Mrs. Margie Gilbert had no cause of action against Jesse C. Bryant, in whose car her husband was riding as a guest passenger when killed, the supreme court says that when the legislature enacted what is known as the guest passenger law it did not intend to destroy entirely the civil remedy of a guest or incumbent it with restrictions that would prevent a recovery for damages in a proper case.

This law is that an unintoxicated motorist is not liable except for gross negligence. The court says the latter term indicates a degree of negligence greater than want of ordinary care or slight negligence, but not necessarily extending to wanton, wilful or intentional disregard for the guest's safety.

The suit was for $15,000 damages. Bryant's car struck the railing on a bridge east of Ashland, Sept. 7, 1931, and Gilbert was killed. Judge Rose, author of the opinion, says that while the legislature sought to bar recovery by all guest passengers, it did not say that a driver's conduct must show a wanton disregard of safety. In this case Gilbert had protested the high speed at which the car was being run, and witnesses said it was going so fast that it looked like an airplane leaving the ground.

The court, in an opinion by Judge Chappell, affirmed the $3,250 judgment secured in Douglas county by Ruth Swengil against Sol Martin, for personal injuries received the same day as in the first-named case, in which also the plaintiff had protested against the speed at which the car was being driven. In each case the pace was too fast to make a turn.

Why Not Celebrate?

THE COMING OF THE NEW YEAR BY PURCHASING SOMETHING NEW FOR THE HOME?

That is where we spend the most of our time, and by doing this, your purchase can be enjoyed by all the members of the family—not for a day or week, but months and years—as a reminder of your thoughtfulness!

Furniture costs slightly more than it did six months ago, but is still comparatively low in comparison with other commodities and you can furnish your home for less than half of what it took a few years ago!

It is usually wise to exchange some of your used pieces before they become unsalable. People moving into our community, expecting to remain but a few months, are glad to purchase good used furniture instead of new, and we can make you particularly good allowance now.
