

Weeping Water

Stirling Wiles was a visitor in Plattsmouth on last Friday, called there to look after some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Binger were visiting and looking after some business matters in Lincoln on last Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Agnes Rough was dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lumm of Avoca where all enjoyed a very fine visit.

Did you see the new sign which Bill Johnson painted for the new cream station, the Farmers Produce company which has recently been established by Mr. Hansen who recently came from Auburn?

Amos Cappen and daughter were over to Plattsmouth on last Friday looking after some business matters and on Saturday Hubert and Ira Cappen were over to Omaha where they were visiting with friends.

Mrs. J. M. Leyda of Plattsmouth came to Weeping Water on last Friday and visited at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Olive until Tuesday, they enjoying the visit greatly which was made the more happy by the presence of their mother, Mrs. Diffenbach.

Mrs. O. N. Knight of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, a cousin of Mrs. W. H. Tuck, has been spending some week or more at the Tuck home and in her honor Mrs. Tuck entertained the members of the Weeping Water Woman's club on last Tuesday afternoon. A most enjoyable afternoon was had at the Tuck home and with a very appropriate program which was enjoyed by all and followed by a delightful luncheon. Mrs. Knight also is visiting in Lincoln with friends.

Reorganized the Band.

There was a meeting of the Weeping Water band on last Tuesday night and general get together meeting with the intent of making a combination of musicians which will prove that the Weeping Water band for the year 1934 will be the very best in the state. Dr. L. N. Kunkel has consented to take the leadership of the band and will give his best efforts for its success and for Weeping Water. Yes, the boys did have some things to eat and enjoyed it as well.

Undergoes Operation in Lincoln.

Mrs. Albert Stradego who has been in very poor health for some time past, was taken to an hospital in Lincoln early last week and underwent an operation for mastoid last Tuesday afternoon which was of a very delicate nature. Just how the patient is feeling following the operation is not now known, but every care is being given to give her the best opportunity for rapid recovery.

Pioneer Receives Injuries.

Stephen J. Ambler, who for more than forty years was a pioneer merchant of Weeping Water, and is well known by a host of friends, but during the past few years has been caretaker of the Weeping Water schools, while in the act of arranging matters at the school building for a basketball game which was to be played late last week, and was on a ladder at his work when the ladder slipped and he fell to the floor, with the result that he sustained a fracture of the pelvis bone, a broken arm and a wrenched back.

His condition was so serious that he was hastened to an hospital at Lincoln where he is now being cared for. He was placed in a cast, that the healing process might be more safe and rapid. His advanced years makes the recovery slower than if he was younger. His many friends are hoping that he may soon be able to recover and be at home again.

Pioneer Passes Tuesday.

Mrs. Thomas Crozier, nee Miss Joan Bartholemew was born eighty years ago in Indiana and came to Nebraska some more than fifty years ago. She was united in marriage to Thomas Crozier who with the wife resided in Weeping Water and was in the employ of the Missouri Pacific for many years and passed about five years ago. Mrs. Crozier had a portion of the time been making her home with her children but of late had been living alone at the old home. She had been in poor health for some time and quietly passed away on last Tuesday near the noon hour.

During her life she had been a devoted member of the Methodist church and a lowly follower of the Master. The funeral was held from the Hobson funeral home on Thursday and the interment had at Oakwood cemetery. The Rev. E. S. Pangborn delivered the funeral oration.

In the passing of this excellent woman the family lost one of the very best of mothers and the community one of the best friends of the poor and an earnest worker for the town in which she had lived for so many years.

Will Spend Winter in South.

Frank Hubbard and wife, who conduct a ranch in the northwest, drove into Weeping Water, their old home town and visited here for a few days at the home of Bert Jamison and wife also with Joe L. Corley and wife and Miss Anna Hubbard, all relatives, and after having spent some time here departed in their auto last Tuesday morning for Florida where they will spend the remainder of the winter. They had not just decided when they departed where in Florida they will spend the greater portion of the time.

B. M. Kline Dies.

B. M. Kline, who has resided some eight miles south of Plattsmouth, passed away Tuesday after a long illness. The Hobson funeral home were called to go to the home and bring the remains to Weeping Water to prepare it for burial which was done, and are to return it for the funeral the latter portion of this week.

Meets Tragic Death.

Carl Sell, 40, and the head of a family of a wife and nine children who recently moved over near the No. 1 quarries where they were making their home in a deserted building and as work has been very scarce, with the eleven mouths to feed and living costs high. While Mr. Sell in order to care for the warming of the home went on last Sunday to cut some wood and in the felling of a tree was caught beneath it, causing his death, leaving the wife with nine children to feed. The funeral was held on Wednesday with Will J. Straight in charge and the interment made at the Oakwood cemetery.

Has Seven Great-Grandchildren

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, named Joellen Mae Johnson, who was born but a short time ago, is lucky in that she has seven great-grandparents, all of the third generation, they being Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Olander, who are great-grandfather and grandmother, J. W. Ruhga and wife, also great-grandparents, all of Weeping Water, and again John Adams and wife of Eagle, great-grandparents, while P. A. Johnson the grandfather of Bill Johnson, who is father of the little lady, is also a great-grandfather of the celebrated little woman, Joellen Mae Johnson. Let someone beat this if they can.

Visit Elmwood Fire Lads.

The members of the Weeping Water fire department, and they are many and very fine lads at that, journeyed over to Elmwood last Monday where they were the guests of the fire fighters of Elmwood, and sure the lads of both towns had a merry evening and played games and when the proper time came they were served a sumptuous banquet. The lads of Weeping Water are loud in their praise of the entertaining quality of the Elmwood people.

Have Skating Park.

There has been a skating park built at the school house and is all ready now except the flooding of the park and allowing it to freeze, when all can enjoy the sport and without the danger of drowning.

IN MEMORIAM

In the death of Mrs. Mary Voodry the Woman's Relief Corps mourns the loss of wise, energetic member. She was intensely patriotic and one that rendered valuable services to the corp she loved so well. We shall miss the cheery words that always greeted us.

Mrs. Voodry was a past president of Stephen A. Douglas Relief Corp No. 110, of North Platte, transferred her membership to McConchie corp No. 50, June 8, 1915.

We drape our charter for three days and extend to her loved ones our deepest sympathy.

Cello Saves Omaha Teacher from Injuries

Mrs. Grace Leidy Burger of Omaha, Failing to Stop at Command of Officer Has Car Fired On.

Joseph O. Burger, Omaha attorney, Monday afternoon at Omaha revealed the narrow escape that was had by his wife, Mrs. Grace Leidy Burger, when she had driven past the patrolled section of highway No. 75 north of this city, Saturday evening.

Sheriff Homer Sylvester was patrolling that section of the highway near the Platte river bridge, stopping the passing cars in search for a party alleged to have hit another car near Union and had continued on north. As the car of Mrs. Burger came from the south the sheriff signaled the car to stop, but instead the car speeded up and passed the point where the sheriff was stationed and continued on north. The sheriff had fired in the air and then one at the tires of the car as the driver failed to halt and then pursued the car, finally overhauling it a half mile farther north on the highway.

Mrs. Burger stated that she had not recognized the sheriff as an officer and failing to see his badge had driven on, fearing a holdup, and this action had led to the shooting.

With Mrs. Burger in the car were Bernard Knofleek and Beatrice Knofleek of this city who were accompanying her to Omaha where Bernard was to receive a cello lesson. This instrument is probably to be thanked for the fact that no one of the party was injured in the unfortunate shooting affray.

Bernard was sitting in the back seat of the car, his cello resting against the back of the driver's seat. The bullet that penetrated the car struck a metal peg of the cello and was stopped, the bullet falling to the floor of the car, the musical instrument preventing the bullet reaching Mrs. Burger.

The party continued on to Omaha where yesterday the matter was brought to the public attention by the husband of Mrs. Burger, who stated that he was planning to bring suit.

Sheriff Sylvester had stopped some twenty-five cars prior to that of Mrs. Burger and as the driver had failed to stop, was forced to take steps to secure compliance with his orders, regretfully finding it necessary to fire in order to try and stop the car.

LAYING CHIMNEYS AT CABIN

From Wednesday's Daily
Taking advantage of the moderate weather today, a brick mason has started work laying the two chimneys at the Scout cabin. One of the chimneys includes a fire place, and extensive work on that will be necessary. The other chimney will provide outlet from the kitchen stove.

The work at the cabin is progressing nicely and with added materials available it will be possible to complete the interior in splendid shape.

An additional grant for labor to keep the force busy till February 15, has been requisitioned in accordance with the state CWA's continuous employment plan. Some of the labor thus provided will be used in the locating of a well to provide adequate water supply for the camp.

SITS WITH SUPREME COURT

From Monday's Daily
District Judge James T. Begley departed this morning for Lincoln where he will spend the week, sitting with the state supreme court. Judge Begley has been called to sit a great many times with the state supreme court and has had the task of writing the opinions in many of the important cases that have come before the court. Mrs. Begley will join her husband Tuesday to spend several days at Lincoln where their son, James, is a student at the University of Nebraska.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Sunday, Gerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ketelsen, was taken to Omaha where he was placed in a hospital for treatment. The little son was suffering from pneumonia, from which ailment he was a sufferer last winter and which was so severe that his recovery was a matter of grave doubt for several weeks.

Wynekoop Trial Brings a Recital of Death Scene

Policeman Gives Details of Condition in Room Where the Girl Died.

Chicago.—An array of evidence—antique appearing operating table on which her daughter-in-law was found slain, blood stained garments, a .32 calibre pistol—caused Dr. Alice L. Wynekoop to pale and ask for medical stimulants at her trial for murder. The elderly defendant buried her hands on the counsel table as if to shut out the sight of the reminders of the tragedy. Her angular face paled, and her hands shook.

Her daughter, comely young Dr. Catherine Wynekoop, shook medicine into a glass of water and Dr. Alice drank deeply. A five minute recess was called. The defendant appeared to regain her strength after administration of medicines. The recess was taken shortly after Charles S. Dougherty, dynamic prosecutor, had advanced across the courtroom holding aloft a silk shirt, stained as if by blood, for the witness, Policeman March, to identify as having been taken from Rheta's body.

"Mother's attack in court was in no way a collapse," said Dr. Catherine. "It was just a spell of dizziness and nothing like recent heart attacks she has undergone." Nevertheless, Dr. Wynekoop's pulse was disclosed by another physician, Dr. Hall, to have reached 106 at the time of the attack, compared with her normal of 60.

Evidence Is Permitted.

The state won the right to display the undergarments, a slip and the shirt, after a long argument over the admissibility as evidence of garments removed from a corpse. A blood stained sheet brought the first gasp from the spectators who for four days have been jamming the courtroom.

Policeman March had testified that he saw the articles upon his arrival at the Wynekoop home on the night of the discovery of the slaying.

"Are these the same articles you later saw in the office of the state's attorney?" asked Prosecutor Dougherty. The defense objected. "Do you want him to identify each separate article?" asked Dougherty, opening up a sheet and partly unfolding it. The spectators, four-fifths of them women, saw the sheet was stained a dark red. An involuntary exclamation swept thru the courtroom.

Mrs. John McNurlin Passes to Last Reward

After Illness of Past Several Months Long Time Resident of County Passes Away.

From Tuesday's Daily

This morning shortly before the noon hour Mrs. John McNurlin, 76, a resident of Nebraska for a great many years, died at the home in the north part of the city. Mrs. McNurlin has been ill for the past several months and has gradually failed until death came to her relief.

The deceased lady was born at Monterey, Highland county, Virginia, on October 17, 1858, spending her girlhood in the beautiful Blue Ridge mountain section of Virginia. Later the family following the example of many of that portion of Virginia, moved west to the new state of Nebraska and where she had since resided. On September 30, 1896, she was united in marriage to John McNurlin at Plattsmouth and have since made their home here.

Mrs. McNurlin is survived by the husband, two foster children, Mrs. Olga Deleski of Kansas City Missouri; Eugene Frey of Alemenka, Kansas; two brothers, C. M. Seybert of Havlock and A. F. Seybert of this city.

TO PREACH AT PLATTSMOUTH

Rev. Lloyd Shubert of the Murray Christian church will preach in the Christian church, in this city next Sunday evening. The quartet will accompany their minister, and will render some special music. Brother Shubert will use as his text, "Facing the Cross, We Can Conquer." Intermingled with the sermon Brother Shubert will explain a plan he has been working on for some time, in regard to organizing the Christian churches of the county, he having devoted considerable time and effort in compiling facts and figures along this line of work.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. William Kreager, who has been at the Clarkson hospital at Omaha for the past ten days, recovering from the effects of an operation has so far recovered that she was able to return home today. The many friends of Mrs. Kreager will be pleased to learn that she has made such a splendid rate of improvement and is now on the highway to complete recovery.
