City Conventions to be Held Coming Week

City Officers to Be Selected at the April Election Must Soon Be Selected by Voters.

The city conventions of the democratic and republican voters will soon be the center of attraction, as the coming week will probably see the calling of the two bodies.

This spring the mayor, clerk, treasurer and police judge are on the block along with one councilman from each of the wards of the city as well as two members of the board of education who are to be elected by the voters of the school district.

The candidates for the various offices are not numerous as yet as those who have had experience realize that a city office is far from a rosy spot, but one that requires a lot of work with little reward and plenty of criticism and abuse.

The members of the council whose terms will expire this spring are E. A. Webb, first ward; Henry Jasper, second ward; Frank Rebal, third ward; C. A. Johnson, fourth ward; Adam Marshall, fifth ward.

The members of the board of education whose terms expire this year are Dr. F. L. Cummins and E. A. Wurl. The nominees for the board of education will be named at the school caucus and not the party conventions, however.

Much Speculation as to Successor Judge Begley

D. O. Dwyer, of This City, D. W. Livingston, W. W. Wilson, Nebraska City, Mentioned.

The question of who is to become the new judge of the second judicial district has commenced to arouse a great deal of interest among the residents of the three counties of Sarpy, Cass and Otoe, particularly among the members of the bar who practice before the court.

The matters of the appointment will be up to Governor Charles W. Bryan, who will name the judge for the remainder of the term of Judge Begley.

The question of how great an influence the political complexion of the candidates for the position will be in determining is another matter that might cause much weight.

Two of the most prominently mentioned candidates for the office, D. O. Dwyer, well known attorney of this city and prominent in the Nebraska bar association, and D. W. Livingston of Nebraska City, opponent of Judge Begley at the last election, are among the democratic leaders in southeastern Nebraska and for many years have served actively in democratic campaigns. W. W. Wilson of Nebraska City, who is also mentioned as a possibility, is a member of the democratic party but has not had an active part in the party organization as the other two whose names are mentioned for the office.

FUNERAL OF W. D. McCARY

From Saturday's Daily
This afternoon at 2:30 at the First Presbyterian church was held the funeral service for William Douglas McCary.

The church was filled with a large number of the friends of the departed and the family to take part in the last services for his memory.

Dr. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the church, conducted the services and gave to the bereaved family and the sorrowing friends the message of comfort from the scriptures of the life to be, when the sorrows and misfortunes of life shall have vanished in the glory of the everlasting day.

During the service Mrs. E. H. Westcott gave as a solo number, "No Night There," and Mr. Frank A. Cloidt the solo, "Sometime We'll Understand." Mrs. Westcott and Mr. Cloidt gave as a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross." Mr. E. H. Westcott played the organ accompaniment.

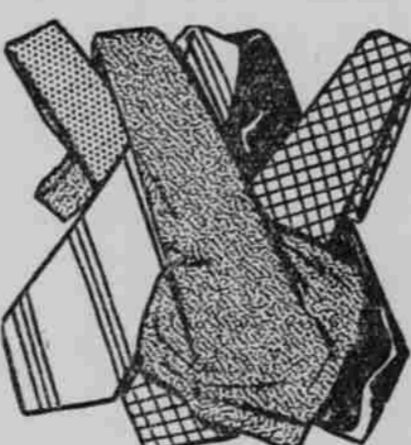

The body was laid to rest at Oak Hill cemetery beside that of the brother who had preceded him in death a number of years ago. The pall bearers were selected from the old friends and associates, Carl Schneider, R. Foster Patterson, Paul Lemke, Anderson Lloyd, Carl Keil and Harley Wiles.

ATTENDING STATE CONFERENCE

Mrs. E. H. Westcott, past state regent and Mrs. L. O. Minor, delegates from Fontenelle chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, are at Wayne, Nebraska, this week attending the state conference of the society which is meeting in that city.

The meeting was addressed by the national regent at the meeting on Tuesday.

1934 State Fair Apparently Sure of Being Held

Board Gets Assurance of Aid From the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Nebraska's state fair apparently is assured for this year. Secretary Reed, following a conference between fair officials and a Lincoln chamber of commerce committee, announced the chamber group had promised assistance in putting the fair across and with indications aid would be granted by holders of grandstand bonds if necessary, he said the fair could complete its plans for the 1934 exposition.

W. E. Banning of Union, a member of the fair board of managers, said the Lincoln chamber committee could help a great deal in advertising the fair and had agreed to help make up a deficit if any should be incurred.

Previously fair-board officials had announced they were unwilling to try to conduct a fair this year unless they could be sure of meeting all expenses. Large deficits were incurred in 1931 and 1932 which were only partly met by appropriations of the 1933 legislature. The 1933 fair, confronted with a legislative warning there would be no more appropriations for deficits, was held with all contracts providing that in case receipts were insufficient, payment of premiums and entertainment could be paid on a pro rata basis.

This year the board of managers declined to continue on this plan, saying exhibitors would refuse to come without definite assurance of being paid their premiums, particularly as the premiums had been slashed extensively in recent years.

Banning said a committee representing holders of the grandstand bonds had agreed to permit the fair to withhold part of the interest payments due them from grandstand receipts if the show cannot pay all its expenses otherwise. Last year the fair could have paid out in full if all grandstand receipts had not had to go to the bondholders.

PASSING SCOUT TESTS

From Saturday's Daily
Eagle Scout James Robertson is taking a group of Boy Scouts out to Camp Wheeler this afternoon to conduct some of the various tests required for advancement, including cooking, tracking, etc. As most of the boys passed their hiking test on an overnight camping trip to King Hill south of Rock Bluff last fall, today's trip to the cabin is being made by car.

Workmen are busy now preparing the "swimming hole" in Rock Creek, near the cabin, the work of building the cabin itself having been completed some two weeks ago.
