Country Club Committee Drive for Members

Response Has Been Excellent, But More Signers Are Necessary to Put Over Plan.

The committee that have had charge of the drive for members for the Elks Country and Golf Club is still functioning and it is hoped that in a short period that the necessary members pledged can be secured to assume the success of the venture and the maintenance of the club for the ensuing year.

The committee in charge of the drive have not fully covered the business section of the city and when the canvass of the business and professional men of the community is completed it is hoped to be able to enlist the interest of others in the move to put over the membership to a figure that will assure the success of the movement.

The securing of the membership is necessary if the club and the golf course is to be maintained and as a community asset it should enlist as many as possible of the residents of the city in this worthy cause.

James W. Holmes is chairman of the committee and Rev. G. A. Pahl is the secretary and they have had the assistance of a very active committee in the soliciting of the new members.

BIDDY

Biddy has a very large incorrigible brood, and each day she goes in search of food. She scratched in the dirt for worms and seeds to satisfy their longings and their several needs.

She had an eye for business and to slake their thirst. They saw in the brook flashes of a sense of the worst, which made them dizzy when they all went to drink. As they stood on the edge of that awful brink.

Biddy had a call she gave as an alarm, and they all fled for safety for fear of harm. The cover of the hills proved protection for all. It made no difference whether great or small.

When darkness stopped her search for food, Biddy knew where to go to protect her brood. From the ravages of the storm that disturb their rest. As they were safely tucked in their downy nest.

The daily grind that man has pursued. With the thought to scratch, he was daily imbued. And as he took his offspring to the brook to drink, when reaching old age he was left alone to think.

Over the brink of depression and an endless game. The politicians are sparring and seeking fame, while the wreck of an empty and well spent life. He tried to save the world from an endless strife.

But where is the haven prepared for the man, who took care of his brood, when the flood of depression overran. The country and swept from him his all. He now sits alone, empty, awaiting his call.

MISSIONARY MEETING

W. F. M. S. held their regular May meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Barkus Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance of members and several visitors. Mrs. Barkus led devotional with the subject "The Penetrating Light," which was ably portrayed by the experience of Paul at time of his conversion.

The regular business session followed with routine of reports. A report was given of the Thank Offering given the previous Sunday when Dr. John Baptist, born in Armenia where he received his spiritual training before leaving for America at the age of fourteen, gave a very vital message on the twenty-third Psalm. The Auxiliary was very pleased at the generous response of those in attendance at this service. The resignation on account of poor health of Miss De Hart, the president, was accepted at this time and the vice president will fill out the year until the regular election in August. A review was made of the Altar of Service which depicts goals to be reached this year each month. It was pleasing to find all points complete to date and plans on way to accomplish remaining ones. Much time was taken to talk over plans for the mystery mother-daughter dinner to be held at 6 o'clock May 9 at the church dining room. It is hoped to have a visiting speaker who will have a live message for the daughters, who are the Standard Bearers under Mrs. Barkus as counsellor and Mrs. E. H. Westcott as Sunday school teacher. At his time the girls with their own mothers will learn who the mystery member of the auxiliary is who has been her sponsor during the past winter.

Mrs. Zella Traudt had charge of the lesson on "Woman and a World of Suffering." Three live subjects were merely touched upon, so vast are the possibilities of each. Current events in peace were discussed by all present. Education for Temperance was given by Mrs. John Elliott from an article by Ida B. Wise Smith, national W. C. T. U. president on "Education About Narcotics and Alcohol."

Peace Movements in Mission Lands were reviewed by Mrs. Handley and movies and the impression given foreign countries of America and its social life, was portrayed by the leader through letters from Americans who have witnessed such influence on the people there.

Each member is to study "The Next Step" in April Friend to find her place in a better program for social life improvement.

A pleasing piano solo was given by Mrs. Devoe as a fitting close for such a meeting and refreshments served by the hostess brought adjournment of a very profitable program.

TO ATTEND TRACK MEET

From Friday's Daily
Coach Fred A. Rothert with a group of the members of the track squad of the local school, were at Ashland today where they participated in the invitation meet. It is expected that there would be some fifteen schools in this section of the state present to participate in the various events.

A number of the track stars were unable to attend the meeting as they are also in the senior class play which is presented this evening and they found the two engagements too conflicting.

A number of fans accompanied the tracksters to the meet and witnessed the exhibitions given by the University of Nebraska track team.
