

Nehawka

Glen Rutledge was called to Nebraska City last Monday to look after some business matters for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pollard were guests for the day and dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Sheldon last Sunday.

Miss Virginia Pollard, who is employed in Omaha, was a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Pollard, enjoying the visit very much.

George Troop purchased a new wagon last Saturday from the enterprising local dealer, James J. Pollard, who made delivery of same to his farm on Monday.

Frank Boggs, of Union, who is engaged in the insurance business, was a visitor in Nehawka last Monday, going to look after some matters in his line, and was meeting with his many friends.

Former Sheriff Ed W. Thimgan, who is a candidate for nomination to that important office on the republican ticket, was a visitor in Nehawka last Saturday, meeting with his many friends while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Will O. Troop were in Plattsmouth last Monday, going to meet their daughter, Mrs. William Gorder, who had just returned from South Dakota, where she has been engaged in teaching school during the past year.

Ben Speck, of west of Plattsmouth, and Jack Durrell, residing still further west, were visiting in Nehawka last Sunday evening, being guests of Harry Speck, who is employed by the Tobin company in their quarries here. They enjoyed a fine visit together, Harry and Ben being brothers.

S. E. Lingo, who was formerly a teacher in the Nehawka schools and still later was engaged in the produce business in Nehawka is at this time engaged in measuring land taken out of production under the corn-hog reduction program, and was a visitor in Nehawka last Sunday, spending the week end here visiting with his old friends.

Keeping Roads in Condition
In order that the roads on which much labor and money have been expended may not be allowed to deteriorate, the highways leading into Nehawka from the northwest, east and south are all being regaveled at this time. There is a great deal of travel over these highways and like all the regaveled roads they have to be regaveled from time to time as part of the gravel is washed away. The cost is much smaller than was expended on the original job and by renewing the gravel from time to time in thin coats, it will be possible to maintain the roads in proper manner. The one leading south to No. 24 is particularly used a great deal, but there is also plenty of traffic on the others which were originally regaveled as detours and the work paid for out of state highway funds.

Visit Historic Place
On last Sunday, Robert H. Chapman, one of the Nehawka rural mail carriers, accompanied by the family, drove over to the Missouri river north of Union, where they visited the famed eminence, King Hill, driving to the top of this young mountain, from which they were able to get an excellent view of the Missouri river basin and were able to view the valley of the river from miles above to miles below, as well as the lands of Iowa over to the east. This was the first visit to this place of either Mr. Chapman or the family and they all enjoyed it.

Conducted Meeting Sunday
The Rev. E. S. Pangborn, pastor of the Methodist churches of Weeping Water and Nehawka, who has been so seriously ill and confined in the hospital for a number of weeks, was able to attend services last Sunday, but did not occupy the pulpit, as Dr. M. E. Gilbert, district superintendent of this conference district, was present and conducted the services. Rev. Pangborn will be strong enough this coming Sunday and is expected to be able to take charge of the work then.

Memorial Service at Auditorium
The Memorial services for Nehawka, which are to be in charge of the American Legion, will be held this coming Sunday at the Nehawka Auditorium and the address will be delivered by the Rev. E. S. Pangborn, pastor of the Methodist church. A committee from the American Legion will look after the decorating of the graves of the soldier dead, which includes the veterans of the various wars in which our country has been engaged.

Gave Illustrated Lectures
Dr. Bell, of Lincoln, who has been a very close student of the Indians and their habits and who has equipped himself for the work which he is so vitally interested in, having many pictures of Indians and their homes, as well as their wild country, was in Nehawka last Sunday afternoon and gave a very entertaining and interesting lecture, which he illustrated with stereopticon slides of their villages and homes, and which was enjoyed by all who were privileged to be present and listen to his talk and see the pictures. The lecture was held at the auditorium.

Water Getting Scarce
The water supply of Nehawka has been diminishing as some of the wells have been failing and a majority of the cisterns have been pumped dry. However, the deep well at the Sheldon factory is well filled with water and with the electric pump, which is one of the pieces of equipment of the mill, it is not difficult to pump the large tank which holds five hundred gallons of water full of water. Mr. Sheldon drives the truck with the tank on it to the side of the factory building and turns on the current and within an hour or so pumps the tank full of water. Then he drives to wherever parties are desiring to have their cistern supply replenished and with a long hose allows the water to drain into the cistern. The price is $1 per load of 500 gallons or a fifth of a cent per gallon, which is a very nominal sum for the service rendered.

Makes Excellent Address
The Rev. H. G. McClusky was a visitor in Nehawka last Sunday and delivered the commencement address at the auditorium for the closing of the Nehawka schools, delivering a most worth-while address and one very inspiring to the class.

Visited Relatives Here
William J. Rutledge, of Fordland, Mo., accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Rena Burr and son, Chester Burr and family and their two children, arrived in Nehawka, driving up from their home and reaching here Thursday evening of last week. They visited here at the home of Mr. Rutledge's brother, A. B. Rutledge and family, of Nehawka, until Sunday, when they departed for their home in the south. They report plenty of rain in the part of Missouri where they reside this spring and that vegetation there is not suffering any from the drouth that is so general over the middle west this year.

To Enjoy Community Picnic
The closing of the schools of Nehawka this coming Friday will be marked by a picnic and an out-of-doors dinner which will be provided for the students and as well for the community as well, all being invited to be present and to bring well-filled lunch baskets in order that there may be a fine picnic dinner for everyone. There will be games for the children during the afternoon and a sociable time for the grown-ups, making it a very pleasant occasion for everyone. The gathering will be held at the school grounds, where there is plenty of good shade.

Will Attend Vacation School
Superintendent E. C. Stimbert, who is always striving to become better equipped for the work of imparting knowledge to others and who has been attending school at Lincoln, going every Saturday to pursue his special course of study, with the conclusion of the school year here, is entering the University of Nebraska summer school for teachers and is expecting to get through the studies this year and with the writing which he has to do the coming year will entirely conclude the special work for the degree for which he is striving and will advance another step up the ladder of learning. The task of teaching school is not filled with pleasure and short hours, as one might suppose, but requires the burning of much midnight oil if one would improve himself and seek to climb higher in his chosen profession. Like all the other vocations, it takes work and plenty of it to get to the top.

Cats are Cats
Yes, cats are cats, some good and some not so good, but the tender little kitten calls for our admiration when it is little and helpless and often when it has grown entwines itself about our heart strings, if we be so cat minded. However, there was a family and still is, in Nehawka who had a very nice little kitten that became endeared to all the household. While climbing about over the home furnishings, as she was allowed to do, the cat slipped and in falling was immersed in a bucket of paint, and me oh my, with a couple of meows, what a mess it made of the task of getting out and righting itself. The folks called up and made inquiry as to the proper method of taking paint stains out, and we presume have been fairly successful at obliterating the paint stains left by the feline. Cats are cats!

Completed School Terms
Mrs. William Gorder, of Plattsmouth, and Mrs. D. C. Rhoden, of north of Nehawka, who have been teaching school at Hidden Timber and Okcreek, South Dakota, arrived home last Saturday night, following the close of their respective schools the day before, and are glad to be back home again, for there is a real drouth in that section of the country just now. They report it has been exceedingly dry, much more so than in this section, where conditions that exist here would not even be considered dry, and that the grasshoppers have sprung up in large numbers again this year to devour what vegetation survives the drouth.

Had Severe Spill Friday
A party from Auburn, and a car full of them, for there were five in the party, had a spill on the O street road south of Nehawka last Friday night, with a number of them being seriously injured. One received a severe cut in his arm which bled profusely and it was only after much loss of blood that he was able to get a doctor and have the injury dressed.

Completed Work at Cedar Creek
Forest R. Cunningham, who has been at Cedar Creek for some time, where he has been reducing a grove of cottonwood trees to native lumber, after several months of steady work has completed the job and in a short time will remove to another locality, where he will again operate the mill, supplying the demand for native lumber, which is very good just now.

Had Lumber Finished Here
Henry Becker, of Union, who had sawn some native hardwood lumber with his sawmill, desiring to use the same for the building of a stock rack for his truck to be used in hauling stock to market and wishing to have a good sturdy one, concluded to use the native timber in the construction of the same. Accompanied by Ed Urwin, they brought a load of the lumber to Nehawka where George C. Sheldon dressed it on his planer at the Sheldon factor. The boys then took the lumber back to Union to be used in making their racks.

Visiting Grandparents.
Last Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Rough were greatly and very pleasantly surprised when their daughter and the little grandchildren arrived at Nehawka to make a visit for a week and the husband, D. H. Wilson and the family of Crete had come to Lincoln, where the wife and kiddies came to Nehawka while Mr. Wilson went on to Chicago to look after some business for the week. He will stop on his way home and accompany the family home.

exercises and the stage being dressed to represent the wild west and to visualize the Last Roundup, with dresses of the cowgirls and cowboys assisting in the idea. The play was set at the Dude Ranch. The Junior-Senior banquet was prepared by the mothers of the girls of the Junior class and served by waitresses dressed as cowgirls.

Gives Baccalaureate Address.
Dr. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Plattsmouth, was selected by the senior class as the one who was to give the baccalaureate address, which was given at the Auditorium Sunday evening, and which was heard by all who could possibly get into the building. The address was very much enjoyed by all who were present, for Rev. McClusky gave a most worth-while address.

The address was especially directed to the members of the class of 1934 who are Misses Maurine Cisney, Thelma Dill, Francis Hansen, Martin Jourgenson, Harley Kearney, Dorothea Opp, Malcolm Pollard, Robert Pollard, Sterling Ross, Robert Schlichtmeier and Howell Saint John.
