Mr. Hollenbeck has been away from Greenwood for the past 28 years. He left for his home in the west after greeting his many friends here in the limited time he had at his command.

Father Dies in East

Mrs. G. W. Holt, who has been confined to her home and bed for the past six weeks, has known of the very feeble condition of her father, Mr. Geummel Brauer, of Peoria, Ill., and during her illness has been hoping her health would improve so she might be able to go and see the father and minister to him in his sickness, but the father failed more rapidly than the health of the daughter improved, and passed away at his home in Peoria on May 28th, being slightly more than 75 years old.

Mr. Brauer was born in Germany but had resided in America during the greater part of his life, coming to this country when a small boy. He leaves only the daughter, Mrs. Holt, who is greatly distressed because her illness prevented her from going to the father or attending the funeral, which was held on last Thursday, May 31st. Burial was at Peoria.

Moved to Springfield

Last Wednesday being a holiday and the rural mail carriers not required to work, Verne Shepler took advantage of the fact and moved his household goods to Springfield, where he goes to make his home in the future, having been transferred to that place, and will carry the mail on the Springfield route. The change was made due to the fact that the two routes out of Greenwood have been consolidated into one, which left Mr. Shepler without a route until he was transferred to Springfield.

The Rev. J. C. Budd, of Landport, Kansas, was a business visitor in Greenwood one day last week, coming to meet and consult with Mr. W. S. Karnes in regard to some business matters.

W. S. Karnes was called to the southwestern portion of the state one day last week to look after some business matters, going via Lincoln, Beatrice, Fairbury, Byron and Superior. Mr. Karnes says the country out that way is very dry and with no prospect for a crop. In comparison, he says Cass county is a veritable garden spot when set up alongside the country out along the Republican river.

Former Resident Here

James W. Johnson, formerly of Greenwood, where he grew up as a boy and later lived here during the early years of his maturity, was a visitor in the old home town a number of days during the past week. He is now residing at Denison, Iowa, where he is engaged in the oil business. While here he enjoyed meeting his many old friends and was pleased to find so many with whom he was acquainted in the years gone by.

Have Colored Singers

A band of colored singers brought from Lincoln were at the Bible class study on Wednesday of last week and were most pleasing singers. There were a goodly number present at the study hour and to hear the special music.

Memorial Day Exercises

On Thursday of last week, the American Legion observed the passing of Memorial day, with William G. Utterback, of Nebraska City as the principal speaker and with the singing of a few numbers. Rev. W. E. Goings, pastor of the Christian church, offered the invocation. The members of the American Legion were present in a body and a large number of others also turned out for the exercises, the assemblage completely filling the Methodist church. A committee of 38 flower girls decorated the graves of the members of that organization as well as those of all war veterans, including the large number of G. A. R. members who had done their share to preserve the union during our great civil war.

Taps were sounded and a salute fired over the graves of the soldier dead. Following the completion of the latter portion of the services at the Greenwood cemetery, near the noon hour, the firing squad and other members of the Legion departed for Eagle, where they assisted with the exercises which were held there in the afternoon.

Stars and Stripes Give Challenge

The village of Greenwood was attired in gala dress last Wednesday morning, when the Stars and Stripes, which were placed at intervals along the streets, challenged every citizen to the fact that this was the day to remember the soldier dead, who had given their lives that the nation might live. All very reverently paid honor to the flags and to the nation which they represent and especially to those who risked their lives in its defense and to those who had given their lives, paying in full measure for their devotion to the cause of humanity and to the American home.

Nebraska to Get Share of the Drouth Relief

Representative Carpenter Asks 100 Million Appropriation and Farm Moratorium.

Washington. — Faced by unparalleled drouth conditions in the north and central states, congressional leaders and department officials moved to provide further relief for the stricken area. Developments in the battle against nature's own "crop reduction program" were:

1. Farm Administrator Davis denied the farm adjustment program is threatening food shortage, and assured future food supplies of nation.

2. Allotment of $5,476,000 for drouth relief in Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Minnesota by Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Hopkins.

3. Introduction of a bill by Rep. Johnson (F. L., Minn.) to declare a moratorium on interest payments on farm mortgages in the drouth area, and a resolution by Rep. Carpenter (d., Neb.) calling for similar action on government-held farm obligations.

4. Introduction of a resolution by Carpenter authorizing appropriation of 100 millions for purchase of seed, fertilizer, feed for livestock and for human needs in the drouth area.

5. Decision of the house members from the affected area to carry their appeal for aid direct to President Roosevelt.

House members from ten states named Representatives Sinclair (r., N. D.), Hildebrandt (d., S. D.), Gillette (d., Iowa), and Carpenter to arrange the white house appointment as soon as the president returns from New York next week.

They criticized what they termed unnecessary delay in the relief and agricultural departments in providing aid. Rep. Hoidale (d., Minn.) scored the PWA for spending too much time on scientific surveys instead of taking immediate action to conserve the dwindling water supply of the stricken territory.

Carpenter seeks in his resolution "a moratorium on all interest and principal payments falling due on all farm mortgages and all farm indebtedness held by any agency of the government for the period of one year, in the area designated as drouth area." It further declared "that no foreclosures be made on farm property, rear or personal by reason of the operation of this resolution, and that this resolution shall take effect on its passage."

STREETS OF PARIS OUT

Chicago.—The "Streets of Paris" in its entirety was ordered closed by world's fair officials "for repeatedly disregarding warnings" against "indecent performances." It was the Streets of Paris that mothered Sally Rand. The concession last year advertised "light" entertainment and opened this season with a variety of peep shows and "life" classes eclipsing 1933's spiciest offerings.

NEW REGULATION DEFINED

Washington.—The trade commission's authority to regulate the issuance of new securities was shown to include also the regulation of "when issued" trading. "When issued" trading means the sale of contracts for the purchase and sale of securities before the securities themselves are issued.

Baldwin B. Bane, chief of the commission's securities division, has informally advised the New York curb and produce exchanges and the Chicago stock exchange that such sales are illegal unless the securities represented by the "when issued" contracts are registered with the commission. Registration is prerequisite to the sale of a new security under the securities act, and Bane said in his opinion when issued contracts constituted securities.

Cuba is Left to Run Its Country without a Guide

United States Relinquishes Any Right to Interfere in Its Affairs—Senate Ratifies New Treaty.

Washington.—The United States fully relinquished its right to interfere in the affairs of Cuba by senate ratification of the new treaty of political relations with the island republic. The pact, abrogating the much-denounced Platt amendment, slid thru the senate without opposition and a minimum of debate.

"This treaty simply surrenders our contractual relations with Cuba and lets us resort to international law," said Chairman Pittman of the foreign relations committee.

"If I had my way," said Senator Fess, Ohio, "I would not interrupt our present relations. But he interposed no objection to ratification.

The Cuban ambassador, Marques Sterling, sat in the diplomatic gallery thru the brief formalities, and as soon as ratification had become a fact, he hurried to the press gallery and thru an interpreter dictated the following statement: "Cuba is highly gratified with the prompt ratification by the senate without opposition. The treaty represents a new bond that will more closely unite the two countries. This is a real permanent treaty because it brings the countries together in closer association."

Ratification by Cuba apparently awaits the calling of a constitutional convention there. For years the island republic, and for that matter, all of Latin America, has agitated for abolishment of the Platt amendment.

Under its articles, Cuba agreed to enter into no treaties impairing or intending to impair her neutrality, to assume a public debt beyond her capacity to pay, and to maintain sanitary conditions thruout the island. In case of any violation of this agreement the United States was given specific authority to intervene.

Ambassador Sterling was accompanied by two attaches of the embassy. Baffled by the swift procedure of the senate, the diplomat paused on the threshold of the press gallery after the chair had announced the treaty had been ratified, with two-thirds of the senate concurring, and, tapping a newspaperman on the shoulder, asked: "What happened?" He was amazed when informed the pact had been approved.

STAVISKY TRIAL FINISHED

Paris.—The famous Stavisky trial, which for eight years lingered in French courts as unfinished business, came to an end with the conviction of Sylvian Zweifel. Zweifel was an associate of Alex Stavisky, whose manipulations are blamed for the collapse of the Bayonne pawnshop and whose death in a villa near Switzerland is set down officially as suicide.

The action disposed of Friday began in 1926 with a police raid on Stavisky's villa at Mary-Le-Roi, a suburb of Paris. The charges were made nearly a million dollars had disappeared from offices of numerous brokers. Six men were indicted. The case was postponed 26 times. All defendants but Zweifel have died, or have vanished. Zweifel was sentenced to eight months in prison and was fined 50 francs ($3.30).
