

Ladies Toggery
MisSimplicity
Molds Your Figure
To Young Lines

The diagonal pull of the crossed back straps flattens the diaphragm and abdomen, raises the bust and smooths away all waistline flesh—thus avoiding that tell-tale look of maturity. The model sketched is of peach rayon figured batiste and elastic with an uplift bust of tricot mesh.

Model 2405 $3.50

*Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Pat. No. 1,627,194

GOSSARD

Janitors of State Capitol Tell of Payoff

Three Former Employees at Nebraska Capitol Testify Against Harry Conklin.

The state of Nebraska continued their testimony Monday in the case in which State Land Commissioner Harp P. Conklin is defendant.

Lester Danielson, law student at the University of Nebraska, and formerly a part time janitor at the Nebraska state capitol was the chief witness in the Monday trial of the case against Mr. Conklin and in which he is charged with fraud. The witness testified that he had been paid $65 per month and did not see the $100 that he was supposed to have received.

He was the third janitor to take the stand as the state began to present its testimony concerning an alleged collection system carried on by Conklin and his aides among janitors at the capitol.

Danielson said the commissioner would place a warrant on the edge of the desk, face down, and he would endorse it without seeing it, and then receive $55 in cash.

When Conklin handed him an affidavit and asked him to sign it stating that he had not been forced to pay Conklin any money, Danielson said, the commissioner told him he had a surprise for him and would give him the difference between $55 and one hundred dollars for each month he had worked.

W. H. Sutherland and Arnold Hahn, former janitors, testified previously they were forced to pay George Lane, former chief janitor, $10 a month to go to Conklin's campaign fund.

Sutherland testified that Lane told him his payments went to "help Conklin who had spent five thousand dollars on his last campaign."

FARLEY ACTION IS UPHELD

Washington.—Action of Postmaster General Farley in cancelling contracts of four airmail carriers was upheld by Justice Daniel O'Donoghue in the District of Columbia supreme court. The court granted a motion to dismiss suits brought by National Air Transport Inc., Pacific Air Transport, Varney Airlines, Inc., and Boeing Air Transport, Inc., to restrain Farley from enforcing his cancellation order. William J. Donovan, counsel for the companies, said the case would be appealed.

Gerrymandering Charge is Upheld by State Court

Four District Judges Say That the Lancaster Redistricting Is Unconstitutional.

Redistricting of representative and senatorial district in Lancaster county was held unconstitutional by the four judges of the district court at Lincoln Monday in a suit brought by Loan A. Rogers against County Clerk Morgan to enjoin him from putting the names of any candidates on the ballot, in the primary or general election. C. L. Clark, one of the attorneys announced that he would appeal.

The judges held the act passed by the legislature of 1933, redistricting representative districts 31 to 36 inclusive and senatorial districts 14 and 15 in Lancaster county and senatorial districts 9 to 11 in Douglas county to be void. The evidence disclosed and the decree stated that it was also admitted in the passage of the act, that no attempt was made to re-subdivide the whole state into senatorial and representative districts.

As the whole state was not apportioned as according to population and was not done for correction of inequalities, it violated the constitution. Such apportionment cannot be made oftener than once in ten years, and this act, the decree states, wrongfully deprives the rest of the state from an apportionment for another ten years. County Clerk Morgan is restrained from placing any names on the ballot in the new districts. This throws the districts back as they were before the law was passed.

Both sides charged gerrymandering when the suit was heard on May 17. Rolla Van Kirk, one of the attorneys for Rogers, claimed that the bill redistricting the districts was done for the simple purpose of gerrymandering for the benefit of the democrats. C. L. Clark, who represented Attorney General Good in the case, on permission of County Attorney Towle alleged on the other hand that the districts the legislature attempted to redistrict were gerrymander when laid out. This was done, he claimed when there were no democrats in the senate and four in the house. The redistricting of the two senatorial districts threw Van Kirk and Charles Warner, both republican senators, into the same district.

There is nothing more attractive than one of the artistic cards that the Bates Book Store has for Father's day. Call and look them over.

County Boards are Put on the Spot by Haynes

Sixteen Are Told to Do Their Share or Be Dropped from Relief, and Others Will Follow.

Officials in sixteen Nebraska counties are now weighing the demands of federal relief administrators for Nebraska that Nebraska governmental subdivisions, "do their share" in meeting relief needs, or be dropped from federal relief rolls.

Meanwhile, federal relief directors are completing plans for a series of three outstate meetings at which the demand for counties to "pay up" will be carried to every section of the state.

All but two of the sixteen county boards called into conference with Federal Relief Administrator Haynes have indicated their intention to sign an agreement to increase county tax levies for relief purposes. Any failing to sign will be dropped until August.

The demand was made by the federal relief administration as Nebraska counties are preparing the new levy which will be announced in August.

"With statistics showing that federal relief expenditures have been nearly $10,000,000 in Nebraska during the year as compared to $2,000,000 expended by counties, federal authorities feel that drastic action must be taken," it was explained at the state house.

Wednesday counties in the vicinity of O'Neill will be called before Haynes and other FERA officials to discuss relief needs and to hear the explanation of the agreement plan. Similar meetings are to be held at Alliance on Thursday and at North Platte on Friday.

HOWARD LOSES SUPPORT

Norfolk, Neb.—Appointment of Mrs. Marie Weekes, known as a republican, to the postmastership of Norfolk, will cost Congressman Howard of Columbus the backing of the Madison county democratic central committee, according to several members of that group.

The committee's support, it is understood, will be given to Orville Chatt, former county judge from Tekamah, in the forthcoming primary election. Some of Norfolk's prominent democrats claim that Congressman Howard, in appointing a republican to the office, broke a promise he made to them some time ago that a democrat would be chosen for the "political plum."

Cass County Farm Bureau Notes

Copy furnished from Office of County Agent Waincott

Picture Study—
 A set of fifteen pictures has been received at the Farm Bureau office and is available for use by organized groups during the summer.

Organized groups interested in having these pictures for study should make arrangements to have two of their members attend a leaders training meeting which will be held at the Congregational church basement, Weeping Water, Wednesday, June 13th at 1:30 p. m. Miss Mazpah Douglass, home beautification specialist, extension service, will assist in presenting the work.

This set of pictures, containing inexpensive reproductions of works of art, has been loaned us by the American Federation of Arts, through the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The prints have been selected from stocks of well-established publishers and copies are easily secured if desired.

Clubs wishing to meet during the summer will find this study quite interesting.

Judging an Important 4-H Activity—

District Judging Day for Cass county 4-H'ers will be held at the Agricultural College, Lincoln, Monday, June 11th. Judging work will begin promptly at 10 a. m. and close at 3:30 p. m. There will be available classes for judging in animal husbandry, baked goods, canned goods, clothing, crops, dairy, girls room, poultry, dairy and meat products.

There is probably no one 4-H activity that really helps club members as does judging. It teaches them to recognize standards and serves as an incentive to improve their own work or in other words to "Make the Best Better."

There is no restriction on the number of members who may attend judging practice. Learning to Cook and Learning to Sew members are not eligible for county competition, however and practice they get now will be a big help in future club work.

All club members interested in knowing more about judging should make an effort to attend this meeting, June 11th.

Canning Contest for Project Club Members—

In order to encourage and stimulate better and more home canning among project club members a state contest is being sponsored by the Kerr Glass Company and the Ball

Brothers Company. Enrollment blanks for the Kerr contest should be in the Farm Bureau office by July 15th. The county contest will be held some time in August, and there must be not less than ten entrants competing. The best collective exhibit which must consist of two jars of fruit, two jars of vegetables and two jars of meat will be entered in the state contest.

Any project club member interested in entering the contest should write the Home Extension Agent for an enrollment blank and a copy of the rules and regulations.

Chinch Bug Situation Serious—

At present the chinch bug situation is serious in large parts of Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas and Missouri. Twenty-five southeastern counties in Nebraska seem to be the most menacing. Cass county is one. Last year chinch bug infestations were noted in several parts of Cass county and this year there is a serious invasion of the bugs in the southwestern half of the county. When a count of the bugs shows more than ten adults to the square foot the danger is serious. Many fields in Tipton, Greenwood, Stove Creek, and Weeping Water precincts show at least this many of the bugs at present.

A survey of the county shows that the young bugs are coming out and the older ones are laying their eggs. Farmers should be getting ready to protect their corn now. The eggs are laid in the small grains. They are of a yellowish color and hatching began last week here. The egg laying is still going on however and will continue for a fortnight. The young ones which are of a bright red color start migrating to corn fields almost immediately. They usually migrate between 2 and 6 p. m. and this migration period usually lasts 10 to 18 days, although the period is shorter when the weather is drier.

A county set-up is being completed in co-operation with the government for furnishing oil to farmers to fight the chinch bugs. It is expected that the government will furnish the necessary oil laid down at a point within the county and from then on an organization of farmers will handle the distribution of the oil. The county leader, usually the county agent, will work under a state leader who in turn is directed by the state committee which is composed of W. H. Brokaw, Dean W. W. Burr, Prof. M. H. Swenk and Mr. Felton.

Corn-Hog Contracts Being Prepared for Washington—

As rapidly as possible the clerks at the corn-hog office are preparing the corn-hog contracts for shipment to Washington. The county quota has been received and final adjust-

White Rose Gasoline
Same Price as Regular Gas
EN-AR-CO Motor Oil

Drive In and See How Promptly We Can Serve You

CLOIDT SERVICE
 Corner Main and 3rd Telephone 62
 PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA

ments are being made. The county allotment committee is working this week and are rushing the early payment contracts through. It is expected that this work will require ten days to two weeks when the contracts will then be ready to forward to Washington.

Cool Weather Delays Emergence of Codling Moth—

It looks now as though the hatching of the worms of the first brood of the codling moth will be strung over the next three or four weeks. The cool weather of last week has retarded the emergence of the moths, egg laying and egg hatching so that there will be no decided peak. Of course we appreciate the cool weather but it means that there ought to be three sprays applied for the first brood worms, instead of the usual two. Most of the commercial growers have finished putting on the first cover spray. The second cover ought to go on the latter part of this week and the first part of next. The third cover should be applied ten days later.

For the codling moth use 2 pounds of lead arsenate to 50 gallons of water. If a fungicide was used in the first cover spray and you think dry weather will continue, the fungicide may be omitted at this time. Then if there is a change in the weather this may be added to the third cover spray. If it remains cool lime sulfur may be used either 3-4 gallon of the liquid to 50 gallons of water or 2 to 3 pounds of dry lime sulfur to 50 gallons of water. If the weather is hot use either Bordeaux 2-4-50 or one of the wettable sulfurs at the strength recommended by the manufacturer.

Those with vineyards ought to be watching their vines for the first signs of the grape root worm (chain-like holes in the leaves). As soon as the chain-like holes appear on the leaves, spray with lead arsenate, 1 1/2 lbs. to 50 gallons of water.

Crop prospects are not as bright as they looked two weeks ago but if there are any apples it will pay to spray them at least once more. With apples scarce, good apples are likely to be a good rice. Wormy apples seldom are. Furthermore, money saved this year will have to be spent next year and the next where the worms are allowed to secure a good foothold.

RETIRED GENERAL IS DEAD

Washington.—One of the army's most able organizers, Major General Ainsworth, retired, will be buried Wednesday in Arlington with full military honors. Ainsworth, whose methodical mind brought order out of the confusion that once prevailed in the army's record division, died at his apartment after a long period of failing health.

Father day cards at the Bates Book store offer a pleasant reminder to Dad on this special day set aside to honor him, Sunday, June 10th.

WE ARE KEEPING UP WITH THE SPORTS!

Our chief indoor sport is keeping up with the outdoor sports by showing a complete line of Sport Dresses—beautiful washable Crepes in combinations of self-trimmed colors—Suits or one-piece styles.

$5.95 and $7.95

We also offer the delightfully cool new Monotone Sheers in the appearance of which there is a suggestion of coolness, airy style and charm that makes one think of shady walks, waterfalls and sea breezes. The entire line is delightful and youthful in design, made to appeal particularly to the large woman. In this the Ladies Toggery have maintained a reputation for the delicate feminine touch that wins the stout woman's heart.

Sizes 38 to 44 . . . $7.95

LADIES TOGGERY
 Shop of Personal Service Plattsmouth, Nebr.

