Father Patrick Harte, who has been in the west, is expected home by this time, but W. J. Rau, who has also been sojourning in the mountains is expected to remain for some time yet for his health, which has been showing good improvement during his stay in the west.

Movies Proving Interesting

The free movies which have been secured for the entertainment of the citizens of Manley and vicinity, have proven a very attractive feature in the life of the town. Last week, the attendance was the largest yet and a good sprinkling of candidates for county office were among those present, all anxious to meet and converse with the voters as the time of holding the primary election draws near.

Entertained for Birthday

Last Sunday at her home here, Mrs. Charles Murphy entertained in honor of the birthday of her son, Frank Murphy, of Omaha, the occasion making a merry meeting for many of the relatives and friends who were present. Among them were Frank Murphy, the guest of honor; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Peisinger, James Murphy and Anna Earhardt, all of Omaha; John Murphy and wife, of Weeping Water; Anna Murphy and her friend, Lowmy O'Brien, both of Omaha.

COTTON FARMER WILL SUE

Jackson, Miss. — A "200-bale" Mississippi cotton farmer served notice of his intention to attack the constitutionality of the Bankhead cotton act in United States courts. Gaston Therrell of Columbus will bring the suit in the United States district court at Meridian, directing it against Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and internal revenue and extension officials in the state charged with execution of the act's provisions, his attorneys said.

Cinderella Wins Her Prince

Helen Fleming

As in the story of old, a modern Cinderella marries her Prince Charming at Louisiana State university, Baton Rouge. Pretty Helen Fleming, above, of Baton Rouge, former "Cinderella", or track sponsor, goes to the altar with W. E. Butler, who was "Prince" of the university track men four years ago, and captain of the team for which Miss Fleming was sponsor.

Secondary Road Program at Cost of $1,300,000

State of Nebraska to Use $300,000 of Gas Tax Money with Million of Federal Money.

A $1,300,000 program of feeder roads, to be constructed in Nebraska this year with state and federal funds, was announced at the office of Governor Bryan.

This completed the outline of the $4,000,000 federal road fund program in Nebraska this year. Previously Bryan had announced $2,000,000 worth of federal highway and $1,000,000 worth of projects on federal highways within municipalities.

About $300,000 of state gasoline tax money will be added to $1,000,000 of the federal money to complete the projects announced Wednesday.

In a formal statement, the governor said "we have used particular care to connect up the home-to-market roads with the federal highways so that both the country roads and the federal highways can be used to the fullest extent to get crops to markets in all kinds of weather."

The gasoline tax money will be available next spring, he said, when the projects are nearing completion and final payments are required.

"We have given special attention to supplying work thru this feeder road system in the proximity of large numbers of unemployed in the cities such as Omaha," he said. "This provides for the completion of the extreme west end of the Dodge street road in Omaha together with the middle section included in the highway program announced last week."

"It later we can find that funds are available to extend this program it is our intention to include every road development possible."

NO MESSAGES FOR MOONEY

San Quentin, Calif. — Warden James B. Holohan flatly refused to permit the delivery of "disloyal and communistic" telegrams seeking their opinion of the general strike to Tom Mooney and N. B. McNamara, inmates of the prison here. The telegrams, from the office of the Daily Worker in New York, were addressed to Mooney, convicted of the 1916 Preparedness parade bombing at San Francisco, and McNamara, convicted dynamiter of the Los Angeles Times building. Another wire from the Daily Worker to John Jennings, telephone operator at the prison, insisted on transmission of the messages to the prisoners.

Warden Holohan telegraphed the Daily Worker: "Your revolutionary and seditious telegrams that you 'insist' be handed to Mooney and McNamara will under no circumstances be delivered to them. Therefore, do not expect a statement from them thru me. Disloyal and communistic communications are not delivered to prisoners."

IOWA TICKET IS COMPLETED

Des Moines.—Iowa republicans in convention here completed their ticket for the November election, decried tactics of state and national new dealers, and called for a united party in support of a platform pledged to economy in government and repeal of the retail sales tax.

The convention nominated State Senator George W. Patterson of Blair, for lieutenant governor, Ole Naglested of Sioux City for attorney general and Fred Nelson of Nevada, for secretary of agriculture. Four candidates for each of the nominations failed to poll the necessary 35 percent of the total vote in the June primary, thereby leaving the choice to convention.

An estimated 3,000 persons sat thru the day of republican oratory, perspiring and uncomfortable in the intense heat, to cheer and applaud critics of the new deal, the state liquor store setup and asserted bureaucracy in government.

WATCHES SHIPS MANEUVER

Aboard Cruiser New Orleans.—President Roosevelt watched the cruisers Houston and New Orleans play hide and seek in tactical maneuvers on the Pacific. Aboard the Houston he continued his cruise toward Hawaii, the boats cutting thru the white capped swells in squally weather. While the president received wireless reports from the capital and other world news centers, the clocks aboard the cruisers were moved back an hour to Pacific standard time. Newspapersmen aboard the New Orleans continued to maintain contact with the president by means of wigwag signals.

AMPUTATE SHOULDER BLADE

New York—Amputation of a man's shoulder blade while saving the arm—a rare operation—was achieved at the Memorial hospital for the treatment of cancer and allied diseases. The patient, Terrance Van Dunk, 28, a Negro farm worker of Eagle Valley, N. Y., will soon be discharged. His shoulder blade had to be removed because of a cancer affected bone. He now has some use of his arm and complete use of the hand and fingers, it was reported. The operation's difficulty lay in the fact that the shoulder blade is the anchoring place for many muscles. With removal of the scapula (the shoulder blade) the muscles must be anchored to each other.

Senator Thompson Supporting Bryan for Office

No One Expects Him, He Says, to Take Any Other Stand Because of Favors Conferred.

William H. Thompson, United States senator, while at the capitol Wednesday announced himself in support of Governor Bryan, candidate for senator on the democratic ticket. Senator Thompson, known as the "little giant" of Nebraska democracy for many years, is about to lay down his toga which Governor Bryan conferred upon him by appointment. He is still hale and hearty and interested in the welfare of the state.

"I am supporting Bryan for senator," said Thompson. "My long association with him has enabled me to judge his qualifications and because of favors conferred upon me no one expects me to take any other stand. Those who do will be disappointed. Personally I am not tearing down any other candidates. It is my disposition to build up, not tear down."

Senator Thompson said he does not expect another session of congress but he intends to return later to Washington to take up several matters there if his personal presence there would be more advantageous to the state. One matter he desires to look after is drought relief and employment for the farmer who has lost his crops. To inform himself as to the needs he said he expects to travel over a considerable part of the state.

As a member of the state capitol commission Senator Thompson said he came to Lincoln to further plans for the public dedication of the capitol Sept. 3, Labor day.

THREE DEATHS AT YORK

York, Neb.—Three residents of York county died Tuesday night. A heart attack induced by the heat caused the death of Rev. Julius August Teensmeier, 75, retired minister of the German Reformed church here. He retired from active service as pastor to care for his invalid wife, who survives him.

Silas Wright, 83, died at the state Odd Fellows home, where he had been since 1929. Burial will be in Omaha, his former home, in charge of Rev. G. R. Miller, grand chaplain of the Odd Fellows.

Mrs. Mary Price, 78, a resident of York county since 1878, died at the family home following a long illness. Surviving are her husband, Martin; two sons, Lewis and Shelton, and James of York; and a daughter, Mary, at home.

Wabash News

Fred Bossie was over to Crab Orchard one day last week, where he went to visit at the home of Fred Neben, who formerly resided here.

Henry H. Gerbeling was getting eight bushels per acre from his sweet clover field, but has only seven or eight acres. Still this is worth while.

The home of Elmer Colbert was made happy on last Thursday by the arrival of a very fine blue eyed baby girl which came to bless the home and the parents.

Threshing of small grain is done in Cass county, the yields being very light. There is some sweet clover to be threshed yet, but the return from this will also be very light. With the corn crop withering from lack of rain, prospects are for the smallest crop in years.

John Woods' well is dry and he has been working on a sand bucket to sink it some deeper, hoping thereby to secure more water for the present when the need is great. This dry weather is testing many of the wells, some of which stand the test, but many of which do not.

Bernard G. Wurl, of Plattsouth, democratic candidate for county clerk, was a visitor in town during the past week. Formerly a cigar manufacturer in Plattsouth, he often made this town in the olden days looking after the sale of his goods, and is well known to quite a few people here.

At Wabash on the banks of the Weeping Water, the hospitable little town was meeting and greeting a large number of candidates during the past few days, they coming from all parts of the county as well as from different parts of the state—all of them anxious to lay their claims before the voters.

Messrs Robert, Lloyd and Harold Richards were over to Elmwood last Wednesday afternoon, where they were looking after some business. Robert has been cutting his clover seed, which he estimates will make about eight bushels to the acre, and having twenty acres, he will realize something in these distressing times from the government use lands.

To Establish Life-Saving School
M. R. Edmiston, from the head offices of the American Red Cross, who is touring the west in the interests of that great humanitarian organization, was in Wabash last Wednesday and was accompanied by the officers of the Cass county chapter, Miss Augusta Robb, of Union, and Mrs. Henry S. Tool, of Murdock.

While here, they stated there is to be established at Louisville a swimming school, where there will be taught every available means of life saving from drowning and the proper methods of resuscitation, as well as the giving of instruction in swimming and life saving as applied to removal of drowning persons from the water. Arrangements will be made for a large number of Cass county people to attend this school and secure the needed instruction.

Suffers Loss of Good Horse

Dan Rueter, who makes his home at Alvo, but who has land here which he farms, often keeps his surplus stock here, turning it into the pasture. During the past week he suffered the loss of a good horse, which in play probably threw itself on a steel post that penetrated the body and killed the animal. Mr. Rueter has been shipping a number of his cattle to the South Omaha market, where he received a very good price for them. John Gerdes took them to market for Mr. Rueter.

Laid Away Fund in Good Times

During the opulent times, following the close of the world war, there was great attention paid to the American Red Cross for the great humanitarian work it had done in war time, and many were glad to subscribe to membership in the organization. A few years later, however, with no concerted drive for membership, the number dwindled rapidly. During the post-war years, with little need for relief work in this community, the treasury of the local chapter was able to accumulate a goodly sum for this type of work, which remains unexpended and now can be put to fine use in providing relief even to some of those who in better times were themselves givers to the fund. The money has been most ably handled, and it is a tribute to Red Cross officers that it is now available for the very best use to which it could be put, as it would have been easy to spend it in those "fat" years for one thing and another, which in fact a great many communities did.

The officers of the local branch of the Red Cross at Wabash are Sherman Hardaway, Mrs. Carl Reichart and Miss Myrtle Woods.

The "Just So Sewers" 4-H Club

The "Just So Sewers" 4-H club met Thursday, July 19, at Mildred and Doretta Schlapf's for an all day meeting, finishing up the laundry bag project they had undertaken.

Hannah Menke's was voted the best. The club members have now started work on their aprons.

At noon a delicious dinner was provided, after which the business session was held. We appointed Mildred Schlapf leader. A few songs, and then we had a light lunch of ice cream and cake.

Next week most of the girls are going to a 4-H camp for three days. —Gertrude Wood, News Reporter.

STRIKE PLEDGE TO WAGNER

Portland, Ore.—The strategy committee of the central labor council here said it had pledged Senator Wagner of New York that it will use its influence to postpone the calling of a general strike in Portland, until the senator has had time to reach San Francisco to present to the federal mediation board the information he has gathered here.

The senator said he will leave for San Francisco Friday morning.

The district attorney's office here contemplates no action against four young special officers who fired at an automobile carrying men who were accompanying Senator Wagner of New York on an inspection of Portland's strike blockaded wharves. District Attorney Langley, making this announcement, said "an officer has the right at any time to stop a car on the highway in the performance of police duty."

The guards said Fred Ross, labor attorney and driver of the car fired upon, refused to heed repeated commands to halt for the customary "checking out" at the dock entrance. Senator Wagner was in the car ahead which checked out properly and passed unchallenged.

SAY HEALTH ENDANGERED

San Francisco.—A warning that the health of hotel dwellers is endangered by closed laundries was made in a plea of the San Francisco Hotel association that the strike-bound laundries be reopened.
