

GREENWOOD

Mrs. Mary Weideman has been quite sick last week, but is some better at this time. George, son of J. S. Gribble, is laid up with a splintered bone in his foot, the same being in a cast. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vinson were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Vinson and daughters. Lois Cope returned home Saturday evening after spending the past week at the Alfred Anderson home. Mr. and Mrs. George Schuster, of Lincoln spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Conley. Marjorie Hansen, of Havelock, is here visiting over the week end with her little friend, Maxine Hurlbut. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Carpenter and son of Lincoln spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Fannie Sayles and family. Mrs. Lloyd Jeffery went to Lincoln Wednesday, where she visited an aunt, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Dale until Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Shepler and son of Springfield visited over Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Dyer. Laurence Palmquist came home to visit his folks over Sunday, from Aurora, Ill., where he works for the Burlington. Mrs. Dora Leesley and Mrs. G. W. Lucford and John went to Lincoln Sunday, where they attended the Epworth Assembly. Glen Peters and wife were visiting in Omaha last week with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Clow, for a short time. Mrs. G. W. Hillis, Ethel Hall, Mrs. W. L. Hillis and son, Leo, and Wayne Howard visited friends in Ashland on Saturday evening. The Misses Helen and Anna Nichols, of Lincoln, visited their mother, Mrs. Fannie Sayles and family last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. W. E. Draper was quite sick last week, being confined to her bed, but is able to be up a part of the time at this writing. Minnie Palmquist came up from Murdock to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmquist and brothers, Ralph and Laurence Sunday. Miss Alpha Peterson and Miss Marie Kaufmann, of Plattsmouth, visited their old friend, Mrs. Joe Kyles, on last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Batters and daughters, Leora and Jeanette, of Omaha, spent Sunday with her father, Frank Lapham, and other relatives here. Miss Velma Waldraft has been ill with the summer flu the last week. She is some better at this time, being able to sit up a part of the time. Aurel Cope is suffering with a large boil on her forehead. She has had to have it lanced several times. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery. Mrs. W. C. Blatter is suffering from dust poisoning contracted while walking through a sweet clover field. Needless to say, it is causing her much suffering. George E. Weidman, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Greenwood last Wednesday, calling on the voters, he being one of the candidates for register of deeds. Mrs. Lizzie Hartsock returned on Sunday of last week from a visit of five weeks at the Sherman Jeffery home at Ashland and the Gene Mayfield home in Lincoln. J. L. Stamp, of Plattsmouth, democratic candidate for county treasurer, was a visitor in Greenwood last Tuesday, calling on the voters in the interests of his candidacy. Mrs. Edith Finlay and son, Howard, of near Emerald, visited her mother, Mrs. Myra Howard over Saturday and Sunday. Raymond Howard returned home with them. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coleman and daughter, Rachel, were Ashland visitors on last Sunday, July 15, where they helped his sister, Maggie Vanderman celebrate her birthday. Miss Margaret Greer, Dorothy and Vernon Greer and Mrs. Hannah Anderson, of Hackensack, N. J., went to Lincoln Sunday afternoon to visit James Greer at the Bailey Sanitarium. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hillis and son, Leo, returned home Saturday from an extended visit with relatives in western Nebraska and Kansas. Her niece, Miss Ethel Hall, returned home with them. P. A. Sanborn was looking after some business matters in Omaha on Monday of last week, making the trip in his auto, bringing home with him some supplies and repairs for the store. Miss Mary Jeffery entertained on Friday evening at the University club garden in honor of her nieces and nephews. There were eleven present. After the dinner the time was spent informally. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crofts, of

Rock Springs, Wyo., stopped on their return trip from the World's Fair at Chicago for an over night visit last Tuesday evening with Rev. and Mrs. B. E. Gideon. In order to conserve as much of the corn as possible, some of the farmers are cutting the same and binding it. Among these are C. D. Fulmer, L. M. Mowery and L. S. Moeckenhaupt. Mrs. John Lambert and daughter, Winifred, and son, Wilson, returned home Thursday evening after having spent the past week visiting her sister, Mrs. H. B. Nelson and family at Sidney, Nebraska. Will O. Schewe, of Murdock, was a visitor in Greenwood last Wednesday, having some campaign literature for his brother, Paul Schewe, who is a candidate on the democratic ticket for the state legislature. Mrs. W. S. McKee and daughter, Wauwata, and sons, Billy and Gene, left Friday morning for their home at Austin, Minn., after spending the past two weeks here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Karns. John Corniller and wife, of Lincoln, were visiting for a short time at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kearns during the past week, where all were enjoying the get-together meeting very much. Art Anderson, Mr. McBride, Johnny Gomerding, Bob Sween and George Leaver all went to Plattsmouth the latter part of the week, where they were to work on some new paving that is being done there. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howard, of Nehawka visited Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harned last Sunday. Mrs. Howard has recently returned from the Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln, at which place she spent three weeks and underwent an operation. E. L. McDonald was on the stock market at South Omaha last week with a number of truck loads of cattle which he has been feeding at the feed yards which he operates near the edge of Greenwood. He found a very fair price for his offerings. Mrs. Mary Weideman, who is better known as Grandma Weideman, being well advanced in years, is not feeling the best on account of the extreme hot weather. Her health has always been rugged, but the excessive heat seems to have a debilitating effect on her health, and she is not feeling very well at this time. The 1932 Crib Cleaned Up. With the shelling of the corn which was bought by the Miller Cereal company during the fall and winter of 1932 and 1933, the cribbing was ordered sold, as well as the cobs which came from the shelling, in order to clean up the entire business of the buying of corn for the cereal mills of that year. Mr. Peters sold all of the materials used and had everything cleaned up and out of the way at noon last Wednesday. Thus, this chapter of the business of the Miller Cereal Mills in Greenwood has been closed. The purchase price of the corn was around 11 to 14 cents per bushel and the market at the time of shelling was near the half dollar mark, allowing a neat profit to the company that had faith to buy and store the grain, even when it required the expense of erecting cribs to do so. The company also has in their cribs at the north edge of town some $5,000 more bushels of excellent corn which was purchased a year later, and which they have not arranged to have shelled as yet. They also have several cribs in Alvo, containing a good many thousand bushels, which will care for their manufacturing needs for some time to come and aid greatly in these times when there is little or no corn being raised on account of the drought. Says Business is Good Robert E. Mathews, who conducts the garage in Greenwood, says business is good and he is kept busy all the time getting out the work that is entrusted to his care. Financial Interests Cared For Greenwood has solved its financial problem by the organization of a Financial Co-Operative Association, which is caring for the welfare of the town. The institution takes care of the banking demands and although not a bank it does the banking business of the community, receiving deposits, loaning money and issuing bills payable. The officers of the association, which was started a week ago, are N. D. Talcott, president; John S. Gribble, vice president; Norman Peters, treasurer; Ernest Smith and C. W. Newkirk, directors. The credit committee is composed of E. L. McDonald, Rex Peters and E. H. Armstrong. The advisory committee members are Mabel Boucher, H. G. Wilkins and Leo D. Peters. Must be on a Sound Basis In the new Co-Operative Credit association which has been formed here, a special credit committee is included in the organization to pass on applications for loans, composed of E. L. McDonald, E. H. Armstrong and Rex Peters, all of whom are sound in their financial dealings and know well who is worthy of securing credit and will repay the same when granted. This committee will not risk the people's money on questionable loans. In order to be a depositor in the association one must have ten per cent as much stock as he makes deposits. Mrs. James Fisher and daughter, Frances, of Hastings, Iowa, came over last Wednesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Coleman and family. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Fisher, of Hastings, Iowa, came over for the day to visit the Coleman home. All returned home that evening. Wen from County Seat Team Sunday afternoon the invincible Greenwood baseball team went over to Plattsmouth to engage in a game with the Plattsmouth team at the athletic park, and a very pretty game it was, too, with the Greenwood boys winning by a score of 8 to 7. There was plenty of spirit from start to finish as the two teams battled for the honor of winning, with neither having any apparent advantage, as the close score proves. Rogers-Baker Nuptials The wedding of Miss Velma Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Rogers and William E. Baker, of St. Paul, was solemnized on Saturday, July 14, at St. Paul Methodist church. Rev. Walter Aitken read the marriage lines Miss Mary Rogers was her sister's only attendant. Everett Coleman served as groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Baker are at home in Lincoln. Married at Reno, Nevada Mr. and Mrs. Fred Palmquist announce the marriage of their son, Orval, to Miss Ruth Lardie, of Sacramento, Calif., on July 9th, the wedding taking place at Reno, Nevada. On their honeymoon trip they went to Mono Lake, Tigona Pass, then to Yosemite National park, thru the giant redwood country and to Glacier Point. They are now at home to their friends at their new home in Sacramento, California. Orval is employed in Hart's cafe there. Dorcas Society Entertained The Dorcas society of the Christian church was pleasantly entertained on Friday afternoon by Mrs. L. C. Marvin and Mrs. P. E. Clymer as hostesses at the church. On account of the terribly hot weather there were not so many members present. The business meeting was conducted by the president, during which time it was decided to hold an ice cream social in the near future. The rest of the time was spent socially, after which a most delicious lunch was served by the hostess. There will be no more regular meetings until after the first of September. Saw Many Signs of Interest The Misses Thelma Leesley, Helen Marvin and Margaret Erickson returned home Sunday from a trip thru Colorado, Arizona, Mexico, California and the Catalina Islands. While they were away they visited many places of interest and also called on relatives and friends over this wide territory. They report having had a splendid time, but glad to get back home again. (Political Advertising) Announcement I hereby announce the filing of my name for the position of county commissioner to represent the third district of Cass county, subject to the will of the republican voters of the district at the forthcoming primary election on August 14th. I have resided in Cass county all my life, having been engaged in farming during the years and well know the needs of the community, both as to the physical needs of the roads and the financial conditions facing the people. Should I be elected, I will give the business of the county the same careful consideration that I would my own private business. Those who have the same personal interest in the welfare of the county and its funds are asked to cooperate in this work. Your support is solicited, and will be appreciated. Among the ball players and many of my friends I am known as "Smiley." This I say in order that all may know who I am and can exercise their best judgment at the polls. EVAN H. ARMSTRONG, Greenwood, Nebr.

BEHIND the SCENES in HOLLYWOOD HOLLYWOOD — Funniest Hollywood story in the day's news comes from the United Artists studio, where a group of celebs were idling away the lunch hour watching the Goldwyn cuties rehearse a number for the new Cantor picture. Only one of the kibitzers to remain unimpressed was the much married and many times disillusioned William Wellman. "But look, Billie," exclaimed Cantor, "Aren't they beautiful?" Wellman removed a pipe from his mouth. "Yeah," he snapped. "And every darn one of them would sue you." For a honeymooner, Richard Dix is finding plenty of time to write letters. Bob Woolsey has just received one, and of all things, Dix wants the comedian to become his partner in the raising of race horses. Rich declares he is going to build a small track and stables on his ranch and wants to breed fast pacers on a commercial scale. He'll seek Woolsey for a partner because Bob, in the early days of his career, used to be a jockey. Hollywood has always thought that Josef von Sternberg takes himself too seriously, but here is a story that Marlene Dietrich's discoverer tells on himself. For years, Joe has refused to give autographs. Occasionally the requests are tough to evade, and so it was the other night when a little girl—she hardly looked to be six years old—stopped the director as he was entering a Hollywood restaurant. In a hurry because he saw other autograph seekers bearing down upon him, Joe smiled and said: "Sorry—can't write." Whereupon the tot, as cool as you please, came back: "I thought as much from looking at your pictures." The movie crowd is joining hands with the local Junior leaguers to give a charity jamboree at the Uplifter's ranch. Festivities include an all Hollywood polo game, a steeplechase, a barbecue and a dance. Two teams filled with stellar names are to compete on the field. On one are Jack Warner, Walt Disney, Spencer Tracy Guinn (Big Boy) Williams and Johnny Mack Brown, while opposing them are Frank Borzage, Lucien Hubbard, Hal Roach, Ray Griffith and James Gleason. Jack Holt is the referee. Louis Renaud, a young man from Montreal, Canada, couldn't persuade hometown editors to give him a job as a reporter, so he set out to show them. After hitch-hiking all the way to Hollywood, Louis walked boldly into the Paramount studio and explained his plight to the publicity department. And then came life's biggest thrill. The boys, all veterans of the city room, have arranged for Louis to interview Mary Boland, Charles Ruggles and various other stars. And the interviews go post-haste back to Montreal, accompanied by an excited wire to Louis' dad, J. A. Renaud, who is president of the Canadian Dentists' association. Knick-Knacks— The latest Lupe Velez-Johnny Weissmuller marital fracas is said to have cost the Mexican star $1,500 in attorney's fees. She is reported to have saved another grand by not going to trial. . . . Stephen Petchit's wife is still so sick in Arizona. . . . Peggy Waters, a Birmingham gal, came to visit Gail Patrick, and now the studio is giving her a screen test. . . . George Brent's comeback appears to be sensational. His performance in "Housewife," just previewed, garners much praise, with part of the credit going to Authors Lillie Hayward and Robert Lord for their clever original story. . . . Anyone who thinks Toby Wing is a dumb blonde had better not play against her in contract bridge. . . . Newest pals are Bert Wheeler, Bob Woolsey and John P. Medbury. They traipse to Hollywood spots together. And plenty of laughs from the trio at the opening of the Bath and Tennis club. Bert's newest gal friend is the pretty Wampus starlet,

Water Supply is Prime Question Over the State New Wells and Equipment Being Provided at Many Places—Haul Water to Blair. Red Cloud.—With two new wells recently completed to supplement the capacity of the local plant, no concern has been felt more over the water supply, even the consumption this summer has run twice what it normally is. The additional wells were built none too soon, as without them it would have been necessary to place restrictions on watering weeks ago. Instead, early in the summer water rates were reduced 25 percent for the summer months, which encouraged its use considerably. The situation now is in marked contrast to a few years ago, when with conditions much more favorable than now it was necessary not only to curtail consumption, but at times turn water from a nearby creek into the mains. Blair.—Blair is threatened with a water shortage for the first time in its history. The unprecedented condition resulted because of use of water on lawns and use by farmers, who are hauling it to their farms in 500 and 600 gallon tanks daily. Many country wells have failed. Water Commissioner Morris asked that all residents start conserving on water. Guide Rock.—Pawnee lake, built last spring near here under state supervision with funds raised by subscription from a number of south central Nebraska towns, is not filling as rapidly as was expected. Fed by springs, the prolonged drought has cut the flow into the lake to such an extent that little change in the water level has been noted the past two months. When filled this lake was to have covered about thirty-five acres. Seward.—Seward has good city water and plenty of it, but during the present drought the city pumps, which are fifteen years old, and many water mains were found to be small and inadequate for present needs. The city council called two special meetings this week, consulting with Special Engineer V. L. Hollister. A result, three new pumps will be purchased, a turbine pump at the wells, a booster pump in a new pump house which will be built near the present reservoir, and a new fire pump. Changes in the water system include laying of over 100 feet of new water pipe. Jean Chadburn. . . . Rex Lease, whom you haven't heard so much about recently, has just signed a six-picture contract with Consolidated films. . . . Glenda Farrell was visiting at the home of her doctor in Virginia when that chronic appendix sent her hurrying to New York and the hospital. Did You Know— That Wallace Beery is a crack pistol shot with either hand? ASKS FOR INJUNCTION From Saturday's Daily An action was filed in the district court today in which C. Lawrence Stull is the plaintiff and W. B. Alexander, engineer in charge of the work on highway No. 75, and others are the defendants. Mr. Stull asks that the defendants be required to make him a private crossing from one section of his land to the other, the highway lying for some distance through his farm. It is set forth that the need of the crossing is imperative as he has large numbers of cattle and hogs that to properly water and care for requires that he have this crossing rather than be required to go long distances out of the way to care for the stock and hogs. Owing to the absence of Judge D. W. Livingston from the court it is asked that the injunction be granted by the county court to the plaintiff. The various civil wars in the European states are perhaps just reminders of what those nations would be doing to each other if they had any money. (Political Advertising) J. R. Reeder for Co. Manley News Items Herman Dall and Carl Schlaphoff were called to Plattsmouth on last Tuesday to look after some business matters for a short time. Andy Schliefert was called to the county seat on Monday of last week to look after some business matters, he making the trip in his auto. Messrs Frank Bergmann, Joseph Welpert and John A. Stander were doing some work at the St. Patrick's church on Wednesday of last week. Joseph Macena, who is at this time making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Herman Gansemer, was a visitor with his old time friends of Manley on last Monday for a few hours. Miss Rosemary Cildit, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor for a few days at the St. Patrick parish house, a guest of Miss Margaret Hays, who is housekeeper and caretaker at the parish house. Paul Murphy and sister, Miss Mary, who make their home in Omaha, were visiting with friends in Manley for over the week end and after enjoying a very fine visit returned to their work in the big city. Mrs. Alice Alberding, of Detroit, Michigan, where she has been employed in a large commercial establishment, was visiting at the home of her parents, Theo Harns and wife, the greater part of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Krecklow, of Falls City, were in Manley for a few days during the past week and during the time, Andrew Krecklow was assisting in the completion of the addition to the home of August Krecklow. Gust Stander and daughter, Mrs. A. W. Selker and husband, all of Elmwood, were visiting in Manley one day last week and as well attended the funeral of the late W. H. Pankonin, which was held at Weeping Water. Miss Anns Rauth, who is employed in Omaha, was a visitor at home for the past week-end, enjoying a very pleasant visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rauth, as well as at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rauth and wife. Many of the old time friends, of Manley, and all the business men closed their places of business and attended the funeral of the late W. H. Pankonin, which occurred last week, an account of whose life and demise appears elsewhere in this paper. Herman Rauth, who completed the cultivation of his corn, has been out over the district consulting the voters in regard to his candidacy for nomination to the position of county commissioner from the second district and was over to Union on last Tuesday. A Steinkamp was very poorly on Thursday of last week and grave concern was had by the family and friends as to his rallying. However, he was able to shake off the spell and has been feeling much better since. All the family were here to see him during his critical period. Billie Moeckenhaupt was in Weeping Water, where he was taking his music lesson as a member of the juvenile band of Weeping Water and was accompanied by the father, who would have much preferred to have remained and enjoyed the pinocle game which was on at the John C. Rauth home last Tuesday afternoon. Home from the West The Rev. Patrick Harte, who was sojourning in the west for a number of weeks and was a visitor at the home of his sister for a time while there and who also occupied a cabin with his friend, W. J. Rau much of the time, returned home Friday of last week. Mr. Rau remained for a longer visit. Played a Good Game In a very tightly contested game of baseball, which was played at Manley last Sunday between the Manley team and a team from Omaha, the game was won by the home team by a score of 7 to 4. Gave Pleasant Social The ladies of St. Patrick's Altar

Visiting Here Mrs. Simmons, aunt of Herman Rauth, who has made her home in Omaha for some time, and who suffered a fall several weeks since, when she received a very severe wound on her throat which came near severing the jugular artery and from which she has since been sick, has so far recovered that she is able to be out and has during the past week been visiting at the home of her nephew, Herman Rauth and wife. BLAIR FISHERMAN IS HELD Blair, Neb.—Herbert Phillips, Missouri river fisherman, is awaiting trial in the district court here on charges of shooting with intent to kill Gus Thompson, another fisherman, on July 21. Phillips was bound over to the higher court when he waived preliminary hearing before County Judge Carrigan. Police said Phillips became unbalanced the night of July 21, and after assaulting Thompson with the butt end of a rifle, raised the weapon and fired at Thompson. Thompson fled, uninjured. COLLECTOR INDICTED Seattle.—George Hubbard, former United States collector of customs here, was indicted by federal grand jury on charges involving diversion of liquor from government warehouses under his charge. "See it before you buy it."
