

Alvo News

W. C. Timlin was shelling and delivering corn to the Rehmeier elevator in Alvo on Wednesday last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Braun, of South Bend, were visiting in Alvo one day last week, being guests of Mrs. William Yeager.

August Stander, of Elmwood, was a visitor in Alvo last Wednesday afternoon and was meeting with his many friends here as well as looking after some business matters.

D. E. Sheesley and son, George, were in Murdock last Saturday, where they secured their corn-hog allotment checks and were among many others who were there for that special purpose.

Robert Coster, who has been assisting with the receiving of grain at the Rehmeier elevator for some time past, has been feeling rather poorly during the past few days and not able to work.

Mrs. Jennie Rouse who has been so poorly and had to remain in bed for some time past, is at this time reported as being much better and is able to be up a portion of the time and is showing good improvement.

Mrs. E. L. Nelson has been feeling quite poorly the past week and has had to give up her work a portion of the time, especially at the store. Her many friends are hoping that this good woman may soon be able to resume her daily tasks.

Frank Taylor and wife and A. T. Suedgen and family, the latter of Lincoln, where Mr. Suedgen is employed as a teacher and his wife has a position in the state house, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Soren Petersen on last Sunday.

Mrs. Simon Rehmeier took Mrs. Soren Petersen and their little girl, Ruth Ann, to Lincoln, where she underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils, which had been giving the little lady a great deal of annoyance. Since that time she has been getting along very nicely.

Miss Betty Jane Briggs, of Wahoo, was a guest in Alvo on Wednesday of last week, together with her cousin, Miss Beverly Briggs, of Plattsmouth. The two young ladies enjoying a very fine time as they accompanied their grandfather, the Journal field man, on his trip about the county in search of news.

More water is the crying need of the farming community as well as in the towns of this territory. Last week Delbert Skinner sank his well deeper in order that he might secure more water for his stock and was well pleased, for he now has an abundance of good cold water. Chick Roelofs is another who has made his well deeper and attained like results.

Uncle Charles H. Kirkpatrick, who has been very poorly at his home for some time and who has always been able to get out to the polls and vote, thought it very bad if he should not be able to get out and cast his vote this year. Although not feeling as well as usual, he did get out and came down town and voted, that he might feel he was doing his part for the country and performing the act of a good citizen.

John Banning was a visitor in the county seat last Tuesday night, or rather, early Wednesday morning, he being delegated to take the election returns there at the conclusion of the count of ballots. He arrived in the wee hours of the morning, but found the office of County Clerk George R. Sayles open to receive him and take care of the returns. In that way, the Cass county vote was tabulated by sunrise of the morning after election. And it was about that time, when Mr. Banning arrived home from his trip.

Ran a Pretty Race

In the contest for the nomination for County Commissioner for the third district, there were three aspirants, E. H. Armstrong, Wm. Bornemeier and Henry Backemeyer, all seeking the republican nomination and an opportunity to oppose Fred Gorder at the fall election. The contest was won by Mr. Backemeyer, but only by a few votes, as each of these excellent gentlemen polled a good vote in their respective neighborhoods, with Mr. Backemeyer getting a little the best of the voting and winning the nomination.

At the Top of the World

On Friday, August 10th, Carl D. Ganz and wife departed for the west, joining the Cornhusker excursion trip for an outing of several weeks. The excursionists will sail from the Pacific northwest on a trip to Alaska, spending some time there and having ample opportunity to see that wonderful country, land of the midnight sun. This should prove a very educational trip and doubtless one of a great deal of pleasure to all those who are making it. They will be home early in September.

Will Shell Out Corn Crib

The Miller Cereal Mills, of Omaha, having a large amount of corn stored in its cribs near the Missouri Pacific station here, began the shelling of this crib, which contains in round numbers some 40,000 bushels of corn. W. E. Hiers has the contract for doing the work and estimates it will take him about eight days to complete the job.

Won Over Omaha Team

The Alvo baseball team, which is under the management of John Elliott, had a tussle on last Wednesday with a ball team from Omaha, known as the Henry Peterson team, with the result that the Alvo boys won, 7 to 3. Come again boys!

May Attend Church Wedding

Many of the people of Alvo and vicinity, friends of the contracting parties, were over to Elmwood last Wednesday evening, where they were attending the church wedding of Miss Margaret Capwell and LeRoy Cook. This young couple are among the best citizens of the community and are highly honored by their many friends, who are extending them well wishes for a long and happy life.

Charivari'd the Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Deles Dernier were bountifully charivari'd by their friends during the past week, are thankful to all their friends who thus honored them by paying them a visit, even if the charivari business did get a little old before they all got around to pay their respects. On Sunday night, August 12, there were ten in the party, Monday night, 46; Tuesday night, 23; Wednesday night, 38, and Thursday night, 42.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Deles Dernier were honored at a shower at their home on Tuesday evening, August 14th. The bride, who was formerly Miss Frances Wibbels, was tendered a miscellaneous shower and Mr. Deles Dernier was given a hardware shower. A color scheme of pink and green was carried out. After an enjoyable evening, delicious refreshments were served to the hundred guests.

VISITING IN COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Schneider departed Friday for Estes Park, Colorado, where they will enjoy a short vacation. They are making the trip by auto and will visit many of the most interesting points in that section of the west.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to those, my friends, who so loyally and unflinchingly gave me their support at the recent primary election in my candidacy for nomination for the office of Sheriff.

ED W. THIMGAN.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express to the voters of Cass county my deep appreciation of the fine support given me at the primary election and I shall endeavor in every way to merit this confidence.

Start Plans for a Shelter Belt for the West

Nebraska Headquarters Will Be at Lincoln—To Extend Work Through Six States.

With establishment of a central field office at Lincoln, Nebraska, planned for an early date, the Forest Service is rushing plans for beginning field work on the president's project for a great shelterbelt of trees to be planted for 1,000 miles across the Plains States. In addition to the general headquarters at Lincoln, it is expected that state divisional offices will be established in the capital cities of each of the states traversed by the belt—North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma and Texas.

Fred Morrell, who has been named administrative director of the shelterbelt project by Chief Forester Silcox, was in Nebraska last week. Active work will be started in the shelterbelt area as soon as the necessary organization is completed. Land leases, seed collection, and nursery arrangements to supply planting stock on a large scale will be initiated as soon as possible. The pressing need for emergency relief employment is being taken into consideration, the Forest Service stated. Qualified men are being assigned to the project from the Forest Service rolls and are being hired from other sources to speed up the organization of the field work.

Dr. Raphael Zon, director of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station, will have charge of technical phases, including the determination of suitable species to plant in the various soil types, nursery selection and practice, planting practice, etc. The Bureau of Chemistry and Soils will assist in the study and classification of soils within the shelterbelt region, and the Bureau of Plant Industry will cooperate actively in technical service and in the use of its established nurseries and other facilities.

Inquiries for information about the shelterbelt plans are pouring in to Washington from the region and from adjoining states to the east and west. Some criticisms also have been received, the Forest Service says, largely to the effect that thousands of trees planted in the region of the proposed shelterbelt in the past have failed to survive. It is pointed out however that other thousands of plantings are still surviving, although the plantings were largely haphazard, in many cases of species not especially suited to the region, and seldom given proper care. The Forest Service is undertaking the shelterbelt planing with the benefit of many years of intensive investigation of tree planting methods and cultural practices adapted to the dry land areas. Only trees will be used which have already been tested and have shown their adaptability for shelterbelt use in the region, both in point of survival of climatic conditions and in their protective value.

Approximately 2 million acres in all will be covered in the forest strips, to be located about one mile apart, and the lands will be acquired through lease or purchase, by cooperative agreements with the owners, or by donation. The lands will be classified according to soil and other conditions. In the purchase of land the dominant objective will be to determine valuations with equity both to the landowner and the United States.

All kinds of commercial printing done promptly at the Journal office.
