The meeting of the Rotary club Tuesday at the Stewart cafe was devoted to the club service department of the club and was under the leadership of L. S. Devoe.

"Classification of Membership," was the topic of William Baird, past president, who discussed this most interestingly, as to the lines of activity of the members of the group.

George Jaeger had as his subject, "Fellowship," touching on the high ideals and the broad field of the Rotary work and which brings into touch of fellowship leaders in community life over the nation and the world, promoting through this fellowship, a much better understanding.

C. A. Rosencrans took as his portion of the program of the day, "Rotary Education," touching on the necessity of the membership fully appreciating the workings of Rotary and the full and whole hearted appreciation of the duties required of the membership.

E. H. Schulhof, editor of "The Wheel," official publication of the local club, discussed the plans for the paper and its position in the club activities.

No Big Money Shows in Primary Expense Report

Voluntary Committee for R. G. Simmons in Omaha Gave and Spent Sum of $370.

No big money showed in reports of candidates' primary expense accounts filed with the secretary of state Tuesday. One the day before showed the expenditure of $1,800 by "Bread and Water" Chatt, democratic candidate for congress in the third district.

Jay P. Gibbs, treasurer of a voluntary committee in Omaha supporting R. G. Simmons, republican nominee for United States senator, filed a report showing the collection of $370.25 and the expenditure of a like amount on behalf of Simmons. The contributions were itemized, the list of names headed by Harry DeLamatre, each giving $20 or $15.25. The expenditures were also itemized showing the amounts paid and to whom for advertising and small donations to clubs.

State Land Commissioner Conklin reports the expenditure of $391 for traveling expense and printing and $80 which he says he was told Ernest Bock, employed by him at the capitol as plumber, spent to obtain loud speaker equipment which Bock used on a campaign trip. Conklin states that he does not know to whom Bock paid the $80. The names of others who received money from Conklin are given in the report.

State Treasurer George E. Hall, who had no opposition, spent $35, $10 for filing fees and the remainder for advertising and postage.

James Brunt of Fairbury, candidate for supreme judge, spent $75.50. Judge Tewell of Sidney, candidate for supreme judge, reports the expenditure of $340.66, itemized, which he says is not required by law to be reported, comprising traveling expenses, telegrams and cards, altho the card item was not specifically listed by him as exempt.

Herbert Rhoades, republican nominee for congress, second district, reports that he spent only $10, this for filing fee.

Secretary of State Swanson and Deputy Tolen had received and tabulated official returns from sixteen counties showing a total vote of 22,267 for democrats, 22,007 for republicans at the primary and a total of 43,981 votes cast for non-political candidates. Garfield did not send its total party or non-political vote. Several other county returns were received during the day.

The Packers had three home runs to their credit in the game, Long, Henney and Charley Nelson being in the Babe Ruth class.

Rofie for the Packers pitched a good game up to the sixth when he was nicked for three blows and three in the seventh as well as two walks.
