ENDS LIFE AT CEMETERY

Stratford, Conn.—Edward Gargullo, 31, widely known in theatrical circles and recently master of ceremonies at Roxy's theater in New York under the name of Wesley Eddy, was found shot to death, his body lying across the graves of his parents in St. Michael's cemetery Dr. H. H. DeLuca, acting medical examiner, said Gargullo died of a self inflicted bullet wound from a revolver, the slug piercing his brain. In a farrowell note to his brother Joseph of Bridgeport, which he sent special delivery, Gargullo said: "please see that I am buried right away next to our dear mother."

NORTON LET FREE ON BOND

Chicago.—Dr. Edwin J. Norton, 35, dentist and former coach at Loyola university, Chicago, was free under $5,000 bonds after being named in a manslaughter charge based on the death of Maynard Lawhon, 32, a commercial artist, who had been working as a guide. Norton is to be arraigned in felony court Tuesday. Police said that Norton, connected with the affair after a chance remark by a girl member of a party in his home, admitted he had struck Lawhon after the latter had struck at him, but declared he had not intended to injure the artist seriously.

SUGAR HEARING SET

Washington.—Preliminary to formulating a labor policy in its sugar beet program, the farm administration arranged hearings to be held in East Lansing, Mich., on Sept. 21 and in Denver on Sept. 25.

Capitol Commission May Not Dedicate It

Governor Bryan to Recommend Dissolution of Body, as Work Nearly Done.

Governor Bryan will suggest the advisability of dissolving the capitol commission Monday afternoon at a meeting of that body, now that the work of constructing the $10,000,000 capitol and grounds is practically completed. To the legislature, he said, he will again recommend that the building be placed in the hands of the governor and its upkeep be delegated to the state engineering department. This recommendation would apply also to the governor's mansion. Bryan said he intends to remove the first of next year from the mansion to his home at 17th and B, which he has retained unoccupied altho he maintains his legal residence there.

The capitol is now under State Land Commissioner Conklin as to care and the hiring of janitors and caretakers. Formal dedication of the capitol once fixed for Sept. 1 and abandoned, Bryan said he had been informal talk among members of the commission about not attempting to have a formal dedication because of fear of inclement weather this late in the year, and for the further reason that many people who had helped pay for the structure in taxation would be financially unable, thru no fault of their own, to attend. This matter is to be discussed at the commission meeting. President Roosevelt had been invited to attend the proposed dedication Sept. 1, but was unable to come then or at a proposed later date.

Bryan said he would again recommend that the capitol be placed under the governor in order that its upkeep might be under supervision of the state engineer's department. "Upkeep, to preserve it from deterioration, is more important than scrubbing, waxing, washing and cleaning of draperies," he said. "The cracking and leaking of the terrace over administration offices on the ground floor and to let these go uncarred for has cost thousands of dollars to the state. Constant engineering attention is necessary, and this should be provided."

OPEN DOOR AIDS IN ESCAPE

Springfield, Mass.—Sheriff Manning revealed that a steel door "purposefully unblocked" or left open by accident aided Alexander Kaminski, convicted slayer, to escape from Hampden county jail. Edward A. Berube, James Di Santi and John J. Brook, special officers who have been on guard outside Kaminski's cell since his conviction of murder, were subjected to a lengthy questioning at police headquarters. The fugitive was awaiting the death sentence for the slaying of a guard in the same jail last October, during a previous escape.

ASTOR UNITED WITH WIFE

New York.—John Jacob Astor, III, hurried to New York by train from Newport and joined his wife, the former Ellen Tuck French.

Breaking silence for the first time since he and his bride of a few months were reported to have quarreled in the lobby of a Providence hotel, young Astor said he would attend the wedding Wednesday of Niss John Blake and H. Herman Harjes. It was to attend rehearsals of this wedding that Mr. Astor presumably left Providence hurriedly the day before for New York.

TO UNVEIL MT. RUSHMORE

Rapid City, S. D.—Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, announced that he expects President Roosevelt to come here next August to unveil the two colonial figures of the Mount Rushmore memorials Borglum is carving—Washington and Jefferson.

The unveiling would be at the close of the pageant of America which will take place in a natural bowl near here.

Up to the hour of going to press there was no report that poverty is preparing to move out of California before Upton Sinclair has a chance to kick it out.

We still wonder whether the Ontario brewer has ever been able to remit his September ransom installment to the kidnapers. It is rather important, because if he hasn't, the kidnaping industry may decide to abandon the easy payment system altogether.

Nehawka

D. C. West was looking after some business matters in Omaha last Monday, driving over to the big town in his auto.

Hallas Alkin of Murray, was a visitor in Nehawka last Monday and was looking after some business matters for a short time.

The twins of Mr. and Mrs. James Hasen won second prize in the baby show which was held in connection with the Cass county fair. They seemed to enjoy the contest as well as did their elders.

Mrs. Jessie Rice who has been making her home at Bladen for some time, arrived in Nehawka and the neighborhood late last week and is visiting with her many relatives and friends here for some time.

Dick Steffens was painting the old awning at the store, which is good insurance for preserving the material therein, as well as improving the appearance of the awning. Mr. Steffens believes in keeping everything up in the best of condition.

J. H. Steffens and wife were in Omaha last Monday, where Mr. Steffens was called to look after some business matters and was accompanied by the Mrs. Steffens, who has been showing good improvement in the condition of her health for some time past.

Stewart Rough and wife were in Tekamah last Sunday, where they went to visit at the home of a brother of Mr. Rough, John Rough and family. They enjoyed their stay there very much and report that the crops there are very little if any better than in this locality.

Paul and Frank Schlichtemeier were over to Syracuse last Wednesday, where they were attending a community sale, making purchase of such things as would be needed to embark in farming. Bert Lloyd will farm the farm of Paul Schlichtemeier the coming summer.

Mrs. Frank Cox was over to Omaha, where she was in the hospital for a short time receiving treatment. Mr. Cox took the wife to the hospital and as he was having much grief with the old car, traded it for another, which he was able to make good speed with, and is well pleased with his new acquisition.

Mrs. George Hansen, who is at the hospital in Omaha, where she has been for some time ever since the recent operation she underwent there, still remains in a very critical condition. Mr. Hanson and other relatives have visited her each day and done everything possible for her welfare, but she does not show the desired improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Pittman, who have been making their home with their daughter, Mrs. Laura Fleischman, departed early this week for Avoca, their old home, where they will visit with friends and relatives for about ten days or two weeks and expect to enjoy themselves very much renewing acquaintance with their life-long friends at Avoca.

Enjoys Passing Birthday

Mrs. Mary Mast, who was 78 years of age last Saturday, September 15, was a guest of her friend, Mrs. Ray Creamer, who had a number of the old time friends in to enjoy a dinner and social gathering with Mrs. Mast. As they departed for their homes, all extended to her best wishes for many more happy birthday anniversaries.

Many Attend G. O. P. Rally

About twenty of the republicans of Nehawka and vicinity were in Louisville Monday evening, where they attended the dinner and speaking program arranged to start off the campaign in this county. The Louisville republican club was host to the gathering and a splendid meal was served to the 200 people from all over Cass county who were gathered there. The speakers included "Mike" Potest, the congressional nominee; Dwight Griswold, nominee for governor, and the Hon. Robert G. Simmons, nominee for United States Senator.

New Cars are Selling

Troy Murdock was the purchaser of a deluxe two door Plymouth, which was bought through the Clarence Hansen Garage and Sales Agency of Nehawka. Mr. Murdock, after negotiating the purchase, went to Detroit to secure the new car, and had not arrived home the first of the week. Another purchaser of one of these cars from Mr. Hansen was Fred Hill, of Murray, who got his car in Omaha. It was a four door deluxe sedan.

During the past week Mr. Hansen also sold a Diamond T truck to Henry Stoll.

Enjoyed a Nice Trip
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carrithers of Long Beach, California, having relatives at Colorado Springs, came east for a visit with other friends and to take in the Century of Progress at Chicago, leaving the mother of Mrs. Carrithers at Colorado Springs while they completed the rest of their planned trip. On their way back, they stopped off in Nehawka to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Cunningham, Mesdames Carrithers and Cunningham being sisters. On their departure from here, Mrs. Cunningham accompanied them as far as Colorado Springs, where all visited for a time, after which Mrs. Cunningham returned to her home in Nehawka and the rest of the party proceeded on their way to Long Beach.

Senior Class Picnic

The practice of the schools of Nehawka, Union and Avoca has been that early in the school year, the Senior classes of the three schools arrange for a picnic at some convenient place, and this year the place selected was Avoca, the picnic being held at that place on Tuesday evening. As the weather was ideal, there was almost 100 per cent turnout of the Seniors of the three schools and a splendid time was had by all.

Made Fine Showing in Parade

School District No. 15, which is taught by Miss Beatrice Chapman, was one which drew much attention in the parade of floats held on the closing day of the county fair last Friday. The float was designed by Miss Beatrice, who was assisted in its preparation by her father, who is the clever and genial rural mail carrier out of Nehawka.

Water Bonds Approved

Word has been received of the approval of the water bonds for the construction of the new water works system in Nehawka, by the proper authorities in Washington and it is hoped that there will be little if any delay from now on in getting started on the job, so that it may be completed before the advent of the cold weather season, for winter is a poor time to work on a project of this nature. The construction of this system will result in the employment of a goodly number of local men and with those employed in the quarries and elsewhere hereabouts, no able bodies man should be out of a job.

Turned the Tables Slightly

With the coming of the depression and the necessity of saving every particle of feed for animals due to the drouth drying up the corn and forage grain crops, corn binders were resurrected and put into use and a number of new ones were also bought, proving a good investment to the purchasers, who were able not only to cut their own, but that of their neighbors as well.

A young man from Otoe county, desirous of securing fodder (which was not available in his locality due to the extreme drouth even dwarfing the stalk), came with his corn binder, which he had resurrected and rebuilt from an abandoned junk pile, and after he had cut what he desired to purchase, he and his machine were given plenty of work to do and it was not long until he had accumulated earnings in excess of a hundred dollars, together with the old binder, three head of horses and what feed he will need to tide him over the coming winter. Not so bad, eh?

Another instance was that of Sterling Harris, who, having a tractor, purchased a corn binder at a cost of $400 and with it cut some 1,100 acres of fodder at $1.25 per acre, and had the binder left.

These men were transforming calamity and a dismal outlook into prosperity and we say that when a man can do that he has the real stuff in him. It is that indomitable spirit our forefathers had and which aided them in weathering many a storm.

LINDY AT SANTA MONICA

Santa Monica, Calif.—While a large crowd waited for them at the Grand Central airport in Glendale, Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh landed at Clover Field here, Colonel Lindbergh brought his small monoplane down at 1:10 p. m. and explained to T. C. McMahon, Aircraft corporation official, he came here instead of going to Glendale because he wished to look over some of the planes being built in Santa Monica. The Lindberghs left late for Pasadena where they will be guests of Mrs. Lindbergh's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Morrow Morgan.
