FARM FAMILIES ASSISTED

Washington.—The relief administration is staking destitute farm families to a new start in life with long interest loans at the rate of 7.5 million dollars a month. Relief Administrator Hopkins said 80,000 rural families, half of them in the south, already had been removed from relief rolls by the long-term rehabilitation loans. The advances had been made to purchase needed livestock, farm tools, food and—in some instances—entire small farms.

"A lot of these people do actually become independent of us," Hopkins declared. "We want to get them out of this damned relief business. By spending a little more in one shot than it would take to keep them on relief rolls, the trick is done. The plan will be extended later to people in towns who have suitable backgrounds."

Hear Reports on Success of Korn Karnival

Stress Laid on Fine Co-Operation of Everyone Connected with Putting on 1934 Show.

From Friday's Daily

Twenty-two of the officers, committee chairmen and active workers responsible for putting over the third annual King Korn Karnival in Plattsmouth two weeks ago, met last night around the dinner table in the private dining room over the Stewart cafe and proceeded to wind up the year's affairs.

President Henry Soennichsen, Secretary Leslie Niel and Treasurer Emil Wurl all gave encouraging reports of the smooth manner in which the enterprise had functioned; Mayor Lushinsky spoke briefly as to the prospective success of next year's gathering and the pleasure of himself and other city officials as to the fine manner all had co-operated in handling traffic and other problems that came up.

Chairman Devoe of the parades committee stated that the amazing total of eleven parades had been put on leading up to and during the four day festival and outlined plans for contemplated changes next year when it was hoped to branch out into lines of pageantry, the latent possibilities of which had been shown in the historical offering of BREX shop employees.

Charles Barnard, chairman of the all-farm parade, paid compliment to the fine co-operation he had received and the many owners of fine horses who had responded to the call by providing a total of 106 saddle horses for that parade. Other rural guests at the meeting who spoke were John Wehrlein and John Hobscheidt, Art Wetenkamp and Henry Nolting, right hand lieutenants of Barnard's in arranging the farm parade, were on their way to St. Louis for the world series baseball games and could not be present.

The club voted to set aside an all-farm day next year, with the platform program, music, parade, etc., including the announcing, to be done solely by farm talent.

Reports on cap sales, soap box derby, band co-operation, agricultural and other exhibits, old settlers' reunion, concessions, parking and like details of the work were also made.

In all of the reports, errors of past experience were pointed out, and a concerted plan made to overcome them in the future.

The expense, which was heavier this year than heretofore, has been met or will be with money from contemplated activities of the current week, including a card benefit this afternoon and evening and the pony ball game and horse show at the Athletic park tomorrow afternoon, with a small balance left on hand.

Before adjournment a motion was carried that all of the present officers be retained for another year, the club becoming dormant until early next summer when it will come to life to plan and prepare for the fourth annual festival.

In all the reports, the co-operation that has prevailed was stressed as the one thing responsible for success, Ed Schulhof particularly pointing with pride to the fine manner the musicians of the county had responded by coming here to the number of nearly 150 at no expense save for their meals and entertainment. He said next year it should be possible to secure a mass band of 150 musicians for a concert, which should prove a great attraction in any man's town.

And so, the Korn Klub adjourned until another year, when the exigencies of preparing for next fall's show shall again call it into action.

SEES SPOILS SYSTEM DOOM

Chicago.—Doom of the spoils system in the city government was forecast by Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago at a meeting of the U. S. civil service assembly.

"The spoils system of governing cities is now definitely on the rocks. Those who would coin money under it had better hurry up," he advised. "We'll probably have a few more examples of the working of the system, but we're moving toward a new type of government."

RFC TO PAY $6,000,000

Washington.—The RFC expects to advance about $6,000,000 to pay off depositors in about 400 small national banks now in the hands of receivers. Chairman Jones told newspapermen plans were nearly complete to lend that amount on the assets of the banks upon application by the banks.

The assets then are to be turned over to depositors' committees, for sale at the best possible figure. Any amount over the RFC loans may be used for additional payments to depositors. Jones and Comptroller of the Currency O'Connor conferred on the plan. O'Connor, Jones said, wanted to clear up the receiverships in the closed banks as soon as possible.

At the same time, Jones issued the corporation's September report, showing that the RFC had authorized or committed $8,052,477,459 in loans and grants up to and including Sept. 30. That total included $700,597,739 in disbursements to other governmental agencies and $799,574,401 to the states for relief.

Letterheads, envelopes, statements and all kinds of commercial printing done promptly at the Journal office. Call No. 6.

As Iowa Stopped Wildcats Win Big Ten Opener

Spotting Northwestern's Wildcats to a first-quarter touchdown, the University of Iowa came back in smashing fashion to crush the Purple, 20-7, in the opening game of the Western conference season before 30,000 spectators in Dyche Stadium, Evanston, Ill. Above photo shows Iowa's big team stopping Halfback Swisher after a one-yard gain. Arrow points to ball.

Greenburg Helps Tigers Triumph

The big first baseman of the Detroit Tigers, "Hank" Greenberg, is shown after crossing home plate with the first run of the three the Tigers made in their win over the Cardinals, in the fifth game of the world series played in St. Louis Sunday. Greenberg scored after Pete Fox drove a sharp two-bagger to centerfield.
