Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless use of strong laxatives may do more harm than good.

Harsh laxatives often drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gently helps the average person's bowels while nature is restoring their regularity. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go!

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. At all druggists, ready for use, in big bottles.

Mrs. Etheredge's son (and brother of Mrs. Diemer), who has been in a hospital there for the past month. He is showing some improvement at this time.

Those present were Mrs. Allie Buckingham, Mrs. Rosetta Axmaker, Mrs. Lulu Hurlbut, Mrs. Nannie Coleman, Mrs. Ben Howard, Mrs. Joe Kyles, Mrs. Patricia Hise, Mrs. Merton Gray, Mrs. Leo Peters, Mrs. Ed Brunckow, Mrs. George Bucknell, and Mrs. Harry Anderson and Mrs. Harry Hughes, the latter two of Waverly.

Wheat Checks Being Received

The farmers who have wheat reduction contracts are now receiving their wheat checks from the government, which is bringing quite a little money into the community. This is greatly appreciated, as there is a scarcity of money coming in on corn at this time.

Erecting New Barn

A new barn is being built at the farm of J. A. Grady to replace the one that was destroyed by fire some weeks ago. The work has been pushed along rapidly but was held up for a number of days on account of the wind being too strong to permit erection of the rafters. The wind subsided Wednesday, however, and the workmen were able to get them in place and ready for the roof. They expect to have the new structure completed in a short time.

Lives are Lost in a Wild Storm in Coast Cities

Flood Waters Pour Into Los Angeles With Six Known to Be Dead—Property Loss High.

Los Angeles.—More flood waters and another earth shock preyed upon Los Angeles and its environs, adding to damage caused by wild storm conditions. Six persons were dead in traffic accidents attributed to the storm. Two were missing and believed to have drowned. Hundreds were forced to flee ahead of raging waters. Official estimates of damage ranged between $150,000 and $200,000.

Tracing virtually the same course as last January's flood, which claimed more than two score lives in this area, a great wall of water swept out of the fire denuded foothills and thru the towns of Montrose and La Crescenta and the city of Glendale, about fifteen miles north of Los Angeles. More than fifty homes were damaged, several were wrecked. Scores of persons scurried to higher ground as the ten foot wall of water, sweeping down out of Pickens, Briggs and Eagle canyons, spread out over the lowlands and raged down the main streets of Montrose and La Crescenta valley, where the Jan. 1 flood claimed its heaviest toll of lives and property. Many homes rebuilt since the New Years day disaster were damaged by the flood water.

Long Beach, to the south of Los Angeles, was hit heavily by the rainfall. More than three inches of rain had fallen there since the storm started about 9 p. m. Tuesday night, shattering a fifteen year old precipitation record. Hundreds of persons were made homeless by the down-pour in the beach city, which was visited by earthquakes, one Thursday morning and once Wednesday. More than 150 homes were damaged by the rain. The earthquakes awakened many residents, but caused no serious damage. Ocean life guards and police were pressed into service to rescue marooned families.

Heaviest Rain on Record.
Pasadena city authorities reported the heaviest rainfall of record in Fern canyon, near there. A twenty-foot wall of water rushed down the canyon, demolishing several cabins, but no loss of life was reported. Three families, totaling seven persons, escaped the flood by climbing the sides of the canyon.

After being marooned all night by a slide of rock and mud on the transcontinental highway near San Bernardino, more than 200 automobiles, trucks and buses were released by highway crews shortly before noon.

The two persons reported missing in the Los Angeles area were Leo D. Bean, 25, of Montrose, and Donald Butterworth, 9, of Los Angeles. Butterworth was reported by a playmate to have been swept into a large storm drain. The dead in the Los Angeles area:

Ernest Feyer, 56, Los Angeles.

An unidentified man, each struck by automobiles during the rain storm.

Stanley Gronsky, 22, San Diego, a CCC worker, killed when his auto plunged over an embankment near San Bernardino.

Raymond Mundez, 26, and Candellario Avina, 26, both of Covina, killed when their auto struck a tree near Chino, during the storm.

President Roosevelt was appealed to by Congressman Evans and County Supervisor Jessup to speed action on pleas for financial aid from the government in saving the Montrose-La Crescenta district from additional flood damage.

Nearly 100 homes have been demolished or badly damaged. Most of them lay in the La Crescenta and Montrose region washed by last New Year's day floods. Promise of relief was seen in the weather bureau's forecast of "fair weather" for Friday.—State Journal.
