Anti-Primary Records Told by Democrats

Senate Journal Is Cited Against Dwight Griswold in Campaign Blast.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 28.—The democratic state committee issued a statement offering the evidence demanded by Dwight Griswold, republican governor candidate, for democratic claims that he sought to repeal the primary election law while a member of the state legislature.

The statement quotes Griswold as saying Friday, "They say I sought the repeal of the primary law. It is untrue and if they can prove it, I am willing to withdraw from the republican ticket."

The statement continues with purported references in the official Senate Journal of the 1929 legislature, showing that Griswold introduced, sponsored, voted for and moved for overriding the governor's veto of a bill numbered Senate File 195, which proposed amendments to the primary law.

The statement then quotes the veto message of the then Governor Weaver, a republican, in part as follows: "We now know that Senate File 195 would have destroyed the presidential primary preference in Nebraska, would have provided for the election of delegates to the state and national conventions by secret vote, would have taken from the people their right to elect their delegates and national committeemen, and later after these were all eliminated would have repealed the provisions prohibiting the convention from either endorsing or criticizing candidates, which provision is indispensable if we are to maintain a fair and open primary."

WRIGHT FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL OF NEBRASKA

The voters of Nebraska will make no mistake in the selection of William H. Wright, democratic candidate for attorney general. Mr. Wright is at this time an assistant in the office of the attorney general and has made a fine record in the office.

Mr. Wright is a son of Judge and Mrs. Fred A. Wright, who were former residents of Cass county prior to moving to Scottsbluff county, where the candidate for attorney general was reared.

A vote for William H. Wright is a vote for a capable and efficient public servant.

NO REPLY BY ICKES FAMILY

Chicago.—Cook county's republican central committee had received no reply to the invitation of its chairman for Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and his family to remove themselves from the republican party and stay out. Wilmarth Ickes, son of the secretary, whose resignation as a precinct committeeman was pointedly requested by Chairman William H. Weber, replied he had "no comment" on the communication.

Weber's letter also wove into the picture the names of Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, wife of the secretary, and Harold W. Snell, whom the chairman designated as Mr. Ickes' chief political major domo along the north shore.

The letter was written to Snell, accepting "with pleasure" Snell's resignation as a committee member. It thanked Snell for tendering it.

PREDICTS PERPETUAL NRA

Washington.—A prediction that NRA "is going to be perpetuated" with changes largely dictated by code administrative experience between now and spring was made by Arthur D. Whiteside, member of the governing board. He opened a hearing on revision of the retail solid fuel code, putting emphasis on the necessity of good code administration.

"I am opening this hearing because the board realizes that codes are not worth the paper they are printed on unless we obtain compliance and enforcement," Whiteside said.

YOUTH A VICTIM OF GUNMEN

Minneapolis.—Bennie Ostrin about 23, was shot and killed by gunmen here. Ostrin had just parked his automobile and as he emerged from the machine several shots were fired and Ostrin dropped in the street. Accident Toll Seen Lessened by Housing Act

High Percentage of Mishaps Occur Around Home, Figures Show; Hazards in Garages.

Success of the Federal Housing Administration's Better Housing movement is seen as materially reducing the heavy annual toll in lives lost and injuries inflicted by common hazards in homes and business places.

Of the more than 100,000 fatalities and the 500,000 serious injuries recorded annually, from one-quarter to one-third result from accidents in or about the home, statistics of the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, indicate.

The list of causes includes, gas leaks, fires starting from defective flues, heating apparatus, bad roofing and accumulated rubbish. Loose, poorly constructed banisters and broken stair steps, "blistered" or outworn linoleum, faulty ranges or gas plates, explosion of combustibles and improperly fused electrical circuits.

Hazards in Garages.

Garages in various stages of disrepair present a number of hazards. Broken walls and rotted steps, together with warped porch flooring claim a heavy toll, particularly in the winter time.

Many of the more common hazards can, and are now being eliminated at moderate cost to the property owner under the modernization program. Others that are basically a part of the structure are being done away with under remodeling projects.

Since the housewife is "safety director" of the home, the field is one for cultivation by the members of women's clubs, parent-teacher associations and kindred organizations. A tie-in of such forces with the Better Housing movement is seen as certain to produce telling results in abating this menace to women and children.

Points of the home which, at this season of the year, should be given the most scrupulous attention include stairs, both inside and outside. Are they equipped with solidly affixed rails? Are the interior stairs provided with adequate lighting? Are they at all times kept free of movable objects?

Danger in Bathroom

Is the bathtub provided with safety hand hold if the tub is built-in? Is the bathroom floor free of dangerous sliding mats? Parenthetically the bathroom which is outmoded and illy maintained is the scene of an appalling number of accidents each year.

Are the porches, if raised, provided with safety railings? Are the floorings and steps leading to the porches sound? Has the home a special closet fitted with lock for the storage of combustible materials such as gasoline, kerosene, stove polish, cleaning fluids and the like? Has it a cabinet where medicines, antiseptics and other poisonous compounds can be kept safely away from the children? Are all gas cocks in order and are the electric lights in kitchen and bath controlled by wall switches?

All of these suggested hazards and many others can be eliminated at moderate cost by including them in the list of repairs proposed with a loan obtained under the modernization credit plan. Neglect may lead to an accident with resultant doctors' bills far in excess of the cost elimination of these hazards would entail.

VISIT AT CORNING, IOWA

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Cloidt and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lutz were at Corning, Iowa, Sunday, where they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark. Mrs. Clark was formerly Miss Edith Buzzell of this city and the visit was very much enjoyed by the members of the party.

HIGH WAVES ON LAKE ERIE

Lorain, O.—One fisherman was believed to have drowned when a fifty-six mile an hour gale sent huge waves crashing along the south shore of Lake Erie. Scores of small boats scurried to safety thru the raging waters while coast guards stood by. Considerable property damage was reported along the lake from Cleveland to Sandusky. The man believed drowned was Lloyd Easterwood, 43, father of three children, and one of four aboard a thirty-five foot fish tug of the Reder-Werner company here.

The tug was eighteen miles from shore when the wind freshened, and Capt. Ray Crown began a fight to reach shelter. A mile off Lorain, a huge comb crashed a deckhouse in which aEsterwood was sitting. Another big wave capsized the boat. Captain Crown and Fred Zimmerman, Jr., were washed ashore alive. Ivar Carlsen was picked up by a coast guard boat after swimming for twenty minutes.

Washington.—Conservation of more than 500,000 tons of corn stover and corn-fodder and a million tons of hay for use in drought areas was reported by the farm administration. The administration has agreed to purchase such quantities as may remain unsold on farms on or after April 1, 1935. The administration set Nov. 10 as the closing date for signing of applications and agreements by farmers for harvesting and selling fodder and stover.

Already he has decided the three states were unable to meet the situation themselves.

Disease War Plans Drawn at Washington

Relief Administration Aiming to Combat Poverty Death Rate in the United States.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Confronted by a higher death rate among the destitute than among others, the relief administration moved today to tighten its defenses against disease.

Dr. Clifford E. Waller, newly appointed medical director, was charged with seeing that destitute families share more fully in public health advances.

Relief officials said they hoped to duplicate in other fields the showing already made against pellagra, the dietary deficiency disease which causes some insanity and many deaths.

"Pellagra, the country's outstanding nutritional disease, has been falling off rapidly since the depression and relief activities began," Dr. Waller said. "The national death rate and the infant mortality rate have been coming down, too, in spite of economic conditions."

Employment of medical directors by every state relief administration is one of the steps proposed by Dr. Waller. He believes, too, that more emphasis might well be placed on immunization against specific diseases, community sanitation projects and the like.

As to medical aid for persons on relief, Dr. Waller made it clear that the relief program was intended only to supplement the care ordinarily given by local and state health authorities.

The girl's mother declined to comment here, and Senator McCarran was reported in Florida, where he attended the American Legion convention a Miami. He was awaiting for the street to be cleared of pedestrian traffic. J. J. Farmer, building superintendent, ran into the street immediately below Betts and in a high voice pleaded that the manufacturer pull himself back.

"Please, get out of the way," Betts shouted back.

Finally, when policemen reached the landing of the fire escape above Betts, he released his hold. By this time scores of nearby residents had gathered in windows. Horrified, they watched Betts fall. Betts, 62, a graduate of Princeton, had been suffering from a nervous ailment.

MISS McADOO GOES ON TRIP

Hollywood, 19.—Ellen Wilson McAdoo, 15, left her Hollywood home accompanied by Miss "Dickey" Jones, her childhood friend, for an unannounced destination where she can "think things over." She "things" on which she will think will be whether she will go ahead with her plan to marry Rafael Lopez de Onate, 38 year old movie actor, a marriage that has, in her own words, been "postponed indefinitely." Stern disapproval of her marriage has been expressed by Miss McAdoo's father, Senator William McAdoo and his divorced wife, Eleanor Wilson McAdoo.
