

Macon Overtaken by Disaster Off Southern California Coast

The U. S. S. Macon, giant navy dirigible and sister ship to the ill-fated Akron, which sank into the ocean off Barnegat, N. J., in 1933, met with disaster off the coast of California yesterday, but at latest reports all but a very few of its crew are accounted for as safe, in direct contrast to the heavy loss of life when the Akron went down. Under command of Lieutenant Commander H. V. Wiley (inset), the Macon carried a crew of 79 men. Battleships rushed to the rescue promptly and lifeboats were lowered to pick up the members of the Macon's crew.

TO CLEAN COOKSON HILLS

Oklahoma City.—The Cookson hills, bandit rendezvous since the days of Belle Starr, train robbing outlaw uen of the seventies, are to be depopulated by the federal government and transformed into a game refuge. Formal approval of the project was announced by E. C. Jeffrey, managing director of the Oklahoma Rural Rehabilitation corporation. Thru the years since the Civil war, the trackless fastness has harbored such bad men as Al Jennings, Jesse James, who was struck to death by his own men; Wilbur Underhill, who was slain near Shawnee, Okl., and Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, a killer who was shot down last fall near East Liverpool, O.

Frequent raids into the hills were almost consistently without result. Officers complained the residents resented official invasion and sheltered the criminal element.

FILIPINOS TO DROP PLAN

Davao, P. I.—A plan under which the Philippine government would purchase extensive Japanese landholdings in this province in the same manner as it bought estate of Spanish friars twenty-five years ago, was believed to have been virtually abandoned.

Eulogio Rodriguez, secretary of agriculture and commerce, completed a survey of lands in question and indicated belief that the plan was impracticable. It was understood a stricter policy in the granting of new leases on agricultural and timber lands would be recommended. Rodriguez recently estimated Japanese own or lease more than 100,000 acres of land in Davao province, exclusive of timber concessions.

Remainder of Public Land Taken from Use

Some Acres of Nebraska Is Affected by New Order of President Roosevelt.

Washington.—In preparation for a nationwide conservation program, President Roosevelt withdrew all remaining public land from use. His order, completing that of last November, affects about 1,200,000 acres, and puts the final touch on withdrawal from settlement, location, sale or entry of the entire 165,695,000 acres of public domain.

The November order was to make possible segregation of 80,000,000 acres as permanent livestock grazing areas under the Taylor act. The president said Saturday's withdrawal, applicable to 12 states, was "pending determination of the most useful purposes to which they may be put in furtherance of the land program and conservation and development of natural resources."

He added that this land, not suited to profitable growing of crops, was destined for the conservation and development of forests, soil, and other natural resources, the creation of grazing districts, and the establishment of game preserves and bird refuges.

Altho the interior department has not yet made final selection of the 80,000,000 acres of grazing land, Chairman DeRoun (d., La.) of the house public lands committee has introduced a bill to extend it to the remaining areas suitable for livestock.

Little of the land withdrawn Saturday was grazing acreage, and officials said much of it would be used for forest and game preserves. A legislative program to end further homesteading and set up permanent uses for the acreage was authoritatively reported to have been drafted and is to be submitted to congress soon.

A ban on further homesteading was one of the urgent recommendations of the national resources board, headed by Secretary Ickes, along with withdrawal from cultivation of 75,000,000 acres of unproductive farm land.

The federal relief administration land purchase division plans to complete the purchase of 7,000,000 acres by July. Officials explained the prohibition of further settlement conformed to the board's remark that it was useless to buy up sub marginal land with one hand while settlement of additional sub marginal acreage was permitted by the other.

Washington, with 692,751 acres of unsettled public land, was more affected by Saturday's order than any other of the twelve states. Public land in the others named included: Nebraska, 20,225.
