Starting Fight on Army Worms and Chinch Bugs

Ounce of Prevention Is a Popular Ingredient on Nebraska Farms—Survey Made.

Employing the old axiom that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," O. S. Bare, extension entomologist at the Nebraska college of agriculture, has begun plans for pest control work in 1935. The early appearance of western army cutworms in one southwestern county and the possible invasion of chinch bugs in some eastern counties causes him to emphasize the importance of control work to Nebraska farmers.

Weather conditions this winter for chinch bugs in Nebraska have been ideal, and an almost perfect survival is expected. A favorable spring is almost certain to result in trouble.

A survey last fall showed a threatening situation in Douglas, Sarpy, Cass and Saunders counties and the same situation was found in small sections of Dodge and Butler. Light and scattered infestations were discovered in Washington, Lancaster, Otoe, Nemaha, Richardson, Pawnee, Johnson, Gage, Jefferson, Saline, Seward, York, Fillmore, Thayer and Nuckolls counties.

Early appearance of western army cutworms in southwestern Nebraska and quickened interest in control work of the pest, according to the entomologist. Several western counties experienced trouble with the pest last year, and in the past it has caused serious damage to alfalfa, sweet clover and small grain in various counties throughout the state. Poisoned bran is used in control work.

Regarding pocket gophers, eight-seen counties have scheduled control work. A prepared mixture of strychnine, soda and saccharine is used in controlling the pest. Farmers in the western half of the state probably will be interested in knowing that E. T. Winter, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation, will have a carload of poisoned oats for prairie dogs in that section. The bait is prepared by the U. S. biological survey, following the formula used so successfully by Bare and agricultural agents in Sheridan and Dawes counties in 1933.

333 Million Climb in Tax Income Seen

U. S. Treasury Plans a New System of Financing to Lower the Cost of Credit.

Washington.—While tallying up with one hand a $333,894,104 increase in seven months in its tax income over a corresponding period in the last fiscal year, the treasury drafted with the other a new device for its borrowing system.

The monthly statement by the bureau of internal revenue disclosed the January collections as $194,365,650, in comparison with $184,404,924 in January, 1934. This brought the fiscal year's total to $1,731,844,578 as against $1,397,950,474 in the fiscal year 1934.

Meanwhile, taking advantage of easy money market conditions, Secretary Morgenthau announced nine month bills would be added to the financing program of the government. Hereafter, the treasury will issue weekly $50,000,000 of 273 day bills, to be sold on a discount basis to the highest bidder, in addition to a similar amount of similar six months paper. The first issue under the new program will be dated Feb. 27. "It is a move to obtain money for the government at a lower rate of interest," he said.

Internal revenue collections for January included a boost in income tax receipts. They were $6,470,476 over last January while the cumulative figure showed an improvement of $110,215,180 in this form of revenue.

The month's liquor taxes were $3,974,188 higher than last year, due almost entirely to distilled spirits and to beer. The seven months receipts were $119,634,294 higher than in 1934. Beer returned $122,397,310 in the latter period, as compared with only $83,680,728 last year.

Miscellaneous taxes which President Roosevelt wants continued, yielded $11,293,367 in January and $72,384,394 in the seven months period, while manufacturers' excise taxes—also expected to be continued—brought in $25,845,747 in the month and $193,398,903 thus far in the year.

Announcement of the financing offering revealed the treasury will not ask for any new money on March 15, quarterly financing period of the government. By borrowing 100 millions weekly while maturities are only $75,000,000 weekly, the secretary said that 325 millions in new money would be raised within the next three months, which, together with the present huge cash balance of more than $2,100,000,000 would be adequate for cash needs.

Estimate Ten Million are Now Unemployed

Unofficial Figures Are Given in Report Issued on Survey of Various Lines of Industry.

An estimate of the number of unemployed—the first such compilation since President Roosevelt took office—Monday placed at 10,830,000 the number out of work in December, 1934.

This disagreed by half a million with the conclusion by the American Federation of Labor that 11,329,000 persons were unemployed at that time.

The figures were released at Washington without public comment as part of a 68-page report on the operation of the national recovery act. They were attributed to the national emergency council, but officials said they should be taken as a somewhat informal presentation, not official.

Month-by-Month. The table in the report covered unemployment month-by-month from January, 1930, through December, 1934. Such detailed figures have never before been published by the government, officials said.

The council figures showed that since December, 1930, the number of persons in the United States available for employment has increased 1,678,000 to a total of 50,426,000. The gain resulted from the normal increase in population.

The estimates showed a slight gain in employment for December over November.

A Further Gain. Officials said they believed the emergency council data for January, 1935, would show a further gain.

January Federation of Labor figures also show an improvement over December.

The council's statistics were that the peak of unemployment in the depression was 13,597,000 in March, 1932, and that a decrease of 2,767,000 has been made in the number of unemployed during the Roosevelt administration. The total number put back to work was estimated at 3,536,000.

The best month since March, 1933, according to the council's tables, was October, 1933, when the unemployed totaled 9,684,000.

Murray

Everett Spangler who is a director of the Omaha Land bank was called to Omaha this week.

Earl Terhune, the new barber, says he is well pleased with Murray and is very glad he came here to reside and as well with the barber shop.

Don Rhoden left Sunday for Winner, S. D. He will visit Mrs. Rhoden who is teaching in Okreek, S. D. and will bring back some horses.

Ed Redden has been hauling wood for a number of days and say this is a good time to get in the wood as one can warm two times in handling it.

Dallas Young of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Murray last Tuesday and was looking after some meters and was as well meeting with his many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack West were given a farewell party. They will farm near Syracuse. A large crowd was present. Cards and dancing were enjoyed followed by a lunch.

Mrs. George Park was spending the week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Kidwell at Auburn. Mr. Park was keeping house and doing a good job of it at that.

Van Allen who was kept to his home and bed for three days with an attack of quinsy is feeling much better at this time and is able to be back to his work at the garage.

Julius A. Pitz of Plattsmouth and a member of the board of county commissioners, was a visitor in Murray last Tuesday, looking after some business matters for a short time.

Jay A. Oldham who is employed in the purchasing of hogs for the government and shipping them to the west coast, was visiting with friends and relatives in Murray for a short time last week.

Kelley Rhoden who has been feeling not the best but who was down for a number of days with the flu was a visitor in Murray Wednesday morning looking after some business and was feeling somewhat better.

Representative George E. Nickles and wife were home for Saturday night and on Sunday afternoon when the storm began getting fierce departed for Lincoln fearing the storm would block the roads and sure enough it did at that.

Will Seybolt, who runs the maintenance, with Henry Vert, Will Vest, Arch Poynter and Herman Wohlforth were over to Mynard where they were assisting in the opening of the roads there which were blocked by the recent snow storm.

Miss Ann Maryliss Tyson celebrated her first birthday last week. She was presented with a cake from Mrs. Fred Hild with all the decorations and one red candle. Mrs. Hild enjoys doing this, for it isn't the only birthday cake she has given.

At 2:30 on March 6th, the Ladies' Aid of the Christian church are to meet at the church parlors where they will hold their regular meeting and also will have something to eat as well and enjoy a very fine program. Mesdames L. D. Crosser, J. E. Gruber and Miss Bertha Nickles will entertain and Mrs. Curtis Faris will be the leader. Let all get out and attend.

The corn-hog meeting was well attended Tuesday evening. Jack Stamp was chosen chairman and to hurry appraising extra men were appointed. Ora Davis, Alf Gansemer and Chas. Reed for West Rock Bluffs, and H. L. Gayer, Mike Kaffenberger and Fred Campbell, East Rock Bluffs. There was an extra heavy signing in the Rock Bluffs precincts.

The Rev. J. C. Stewart was conducting the funeral of the late Wm. J. Holmes who died southwest of Ne-hawka and who for a number of years resided in Murray, conducting a wagon shop here during his stay of twenty years. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smith were in attendance at the funeral and as well Mrs. W. G. Boedecker, Mrs. Bessie Seybolt and Messrs. O. A. Davis and Ray Gerking did the singing.

Delivering Corn to Plattsmouth. J. V. Pitman shelled his corn on Wednesday of this week and was delivering it to the Norfolk Packing company at Plattsmouth, who on account of the very excellent quality of the grain is using it for the making of hominy. The packing company is getting a large amount of the very best corn for that purpose.

Walter Emerson

Jane Scholtz Emerson

Sensational revelations in the tangled love affairs of two prominent Beverly Hills couples were made in testimony presented in a divorce suit before Judge Ben Lindsey in Los Angeles. Walter Emerson, upper left, actor-writer, sued Jane Scholtz Emerson, right, former Denver socialite, for divorce and named his former close friend, Barton Sewell, lower left, wealthy yachtsman, as correspondent. Mrs. Emerson filed a counter suit and named as correspondent Mrs. Sewell, who denied stories of alleged all-night "wife-swapping" parties.
