

Civic Body to Urge Securing of Federal Funds

Chamber of Commerce Appoints Committee to Take Up Matter with Proper Authorities.

The Chamber of Commerce in its regular meeting yesterday expressed keen interest in two matters which are of importance to the community. The first was the proposition of securing federal funds for projects under the huge work relief bill recently passed by congress. E. A. Webb, who is Plattsmouth representative on the county project committee, was the guest of the directors and explained the proposition as far as the committee had been able to secure information. He mentioned a list of projects which might be proposed and urged that a committee from the Chamber of Commerce be appointed to co-operate with the city council committee in getting action as quickly as possible. President F. I. Rea appointed a committee composed of L. S. Devoe, S. S. Davis and R. W. Knorr.

The second matter in which the members of the Chamber of Commerce were interested was that of the revival of the Happy Hundred banquets which were so popular over a period of several years. Thursday night, April 25th, Governor Roy L. Cochran will be present as the speaker of the evening and a group of 150 men from all over the county is expected to be present for the renewal of this fine good will program.

Large Crowd Attends Fights at Boys' Camp

Some Fast Bouts Witnessed as Youth Exchange Blows in a Five Card Program.

From Friday's Daily
That the sport lovers are growing boxing minded was shown last evening when the weekly boxing card at Camp Plattsmouth north of this city, found a capacity house to witness the clever youngsters in their interchange of blows in the roped arena.
Before the start of the card Earny and Elmer Newton boxed a few exhibition rounds that entertained the fans and showed that the two local boys have plenty of stuff in their boxing skill.

G. Reyans of the camp lost to C. Smith of Bellevue by the decision route at the close of the third round. Kid Ski of the camp also won himself a decision over Teddy Kopacz, also one of the local camp group.
R. Shockley of the camp and Frank Nelson, clever Plattsmouth boxer staged a nice battle that resulted in Frank being given the decision of the clever exhibition of boxing.

In the semi-windup Charles Anderson and J. Falsey of the camp staged a nice go and in which Anderson received the nod of the referee.

In the main event Charles Fulton officiated as the referee and a merry mix up was staged in the opening between Jimmy Burke of the camp and Verdon Kell of this city, both doing a nice job, but in the second Kell faltered and the victory was deservedly awarded to Burke.

It is planned as soon as possible to stage the bouts in the open as the crowds are getting too large to be accommodated in the recreation building of the camp.

Swimming Pool is Suggested for Local Improvement

Thought That Pool Could Be Made Easily on City Land East of Burlington Station.

A number of civic projects have been suggested for the coming summer to add to the improvement of the city and among these is one of a freshwater bathing beach located on the city property just east of the Burlington station on the site of the former baseball park.

Those who are familiar with the cost of preparing a project of this kind believe that the cost would be only a few hundred dollars to dredge out a bathing place similar to that formerly in use at the Merritt pits north of this city. The dirt and sand taken out would form a nice beach when properly arranged and make an ideal bathing place and one so located that it could be supervised in a proper manner.

The location of the land should permit water being reached without difficulty and the pool made self clearing with the flowing water so that it would comply with all necessary health regulations.

A beach of this kind would fill a long felt want and provide a bathing place where the residents could enjoy their water sports and in a well regulated place and without a large cost of operation.

Poultry Producers in Good Situation

Storage Stocks Are Low and Meat Prices Are High Throughout the Country.

Nebraska poultry producers apparently are favorably situated at present. That's the opinion of L. B. Snyder of the rural economics department at the college of agriculture.

Production has been low and storage stocks are low. Meat prices are high and probably will not be much lower. Even the feed prices are higher than in 1934, the increased use of feed should prove profitable. Grain prices should be lower later on, which will prove an advantage to the man whose pullets are developed enough to come into production this coming fall. These are some of Snyder's conclusions.

"Stocks of poultry in storage have been high all season because of the extraordinary close culling practiced this year," he declares. "With the rise in egg prices during February, the heavy movement of fowls into storage has been checked. Stocks of frozen broilers is high this year. Commercial early broiler production has been heavy in the eastern parts of the country. Most of these birds will have to be consumed before prices can go up very substantially."

Nebraska farmers have reduced the number of hens and pullets on farms. On Jan. 1, 1934, there were 14,631,000 on farms. On the same date this year, A. E. Anderson, state statistician, estimated there were about 12,000. Production per hen has been lower than usual, but feeding for heavier production should prove profitable for producers who can supply yearly green feed and who have flocks ready for laying early this fall.

Class county is one of the finest agricultural centers in the state. Improved farming conditions and better prices for farm products will react to the advantage of every town in this territory.

Land Bank Reduces Interest on Farm Loans

Made Effective Thru County Organizations Handling Farm Loans; Means Sharp Reduction.

For the second time in 10 days, the Federal Land Bank of Omaha has reduced the permanent interest rate on new loans, including those made in this vicinity thru the Alvo National Farm Loan Association of Alvo, Nebraska.

On every land bank loan closed after April 10 the rate of interest will be 4 1/2 per cent for the entire life of the loan. The first reduction, announced April 1, cut the rate from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent. The new rate is the lowest ever offered by the land bank.

According to information received by Carl D. Ganz, secretary-treasurer of the association the new low rate is made possible because there is a ready market for land bank bonds. An offering of $162,000,000 in bonds bearing 3 1/2 per cent coupons, made in New York April 8, was heavily oversubscribed. Land bank officials said this indicates a firm faith in the soundness of the land bank cooperative credit system, of which the Alvo association is a part.

Since May, 1933, farmers in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming, have borrowed more than $300,000,000 from the Omaha bank in the form of land bank and commissioner loans. The new interest rate will save thousands of dollars annually for 14,000 farmers whose applications for loans are now in the bank, as well as for all future borrowers.

The interest reduction does not affect commissioner loans, also made thru the bank, the rate for which remains at 5 per cent.

Dianthus Hardy Race of Sparklers for Your Garden

Grass Pinks, with Clover-Like Scent, and Sweet Williams are Two Favorite Members.

The large family of pinks, dianthus, have rooted themselves deeply in the affection of most flower lovers. They are a hardy race of sparklers and with the exception of a few of the alpine varieties may be grown with complete confidence.

Fragrance is one of their delightful qualities. The old-fashioned grass pinks, dianthus plumarius, with their clove scent, and the Sweet Williams, dianthus barbatus, are the two most generally grown forms, and deserve a place in every garden.

The grass pinks have been developed into a fine range of large-flowered types, with colors ranging from rich crimson to white, all with handsome dark zonings. Combining the carnation with these pinks has given a new strain known as the Allwoods. The Allwood pinks have the heavy texture of carnations with the free blooming habit of the grass pinks and also retain the clove fragrance. There are many named varieties but mixed seed gives varieties of fine quality which may be propagated from cuttings. Hardy carnations are again coming into popularity because of their rich coloring, particularly in the scarlet and dark red shades. While not as hardy as the grass pinks, they survive the winters easily if given a mulch of straw or leaves.

A robust rock garden flower has been produced by crossing the Allwood with a dwarf alpine pink.

All the pinks are very easily raised from seed, being noted for the speed with which they germinate, five days sometimes bringing them through the earth. The pinks as a race delight in lime soil. They like good drainage and rich fare. Transplant them as soon as the first pair of true leaves appear and let them grow 2 inches apart until their permanent quarters are ready for them.

The greatest value of the grass pinks is for edgings. Walks edged on each side with these pinks are one of the most popular plantings that can be made and when covered with fragrant bloom in June make a fine display. If the bloom is sheared as it fades they will give intermittent bloom all summer. If allowed to seed the blooming season is over for them.
