SPEAKS BEFORE ROTARY

Tuesday at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club, Boy Scouts and their work was the subject of the program which was under the leadership of E. H. Wescott, veteran Scout leader.

The speaker of the day was Raymond J. Larson, scoutmaster of the local troop, who for the past several years has been untiring in his work in the development of scouting in this city.

Mr. Larson gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the Scout and his duties. He took up the requirements as the youth entered the tenderfoot class, the requirements that are exacted by the Scout law and rules for the members as they advance through the various ranks to the highest that is offered to the Scouts. This was very instructive and in the limited time that was allowed Mr. Larson covered the field in excellent shape and gave a real lesson in the tests and requirements of the Scout.

The club had as a guest, Robert Waddick, of Seattle, Washington, who was present with his nephew, R. M. Walling.

CONDUCTING DEMONSTRATION

Miss Lois Hunt, one of the home service directors of the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co., is in the city for the remainder of the week conducting a demonstration at the salesroom of the company of the celebrated new Westinghouse electric ironer.

Promotional Exercises of the Eighth Grade

Young People From All Sections of Cass County Here Saturday for Auspicious Event.

The promotional exercises of the eighth grade of the Cass county schools were held on Saturday afternoon at the auditorium of the high school building in this city and very largely attended by the large group of young people as well as the relatives and friends who came to see the honors conferred on the students.

An excellent program had been arranged by Miss Alpha C. Peterson, county superintendent of schools, that fittingly marks this important occasion in the life of the boys and girls.

The Louisville school band, one of the excellent musical organizations of the county, under the direction of Superintendent G. E. Corum, opened the program with a very appropriate selection and was heard in several numbers during the afternoon as well as playing the march for the class.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. C. Loyd Shubert, of Murray, who is a member of the teaching forces of the county.

One of the impressive scenes of the exercises was the pledge of allegiance to the American flag given by the large audience as they stood to honor the emblem of their land.

Two of the talented young musicians of the class, Eloise and Robert Cole were heard in a very charming selection that added to the interest of the program of the afternoon.

Mrs. E. H. Wescott, with Mr. Wescott at the piano gave several fine musical offerings.

The Daughters of the American Revolution of the Jonathan Cass chapter of Weeping Water and Fontenelle chapter of Plattsburgh had each arranged the presentation of awards to the students having the highest rank in their history studies and these were presented by Miss Evelyn Wolph of the Jonathan Cass chapter and Mrs. R. W. Clement of the local organization, in a very impressive manner.

The presentation of the diplomas to the class was made by Miss Peterson the county superintendent and who gave words of commendation to the students for their excellent work and the attainment of the honor that was to mark the passing of the grade to the high school.

The audience joined in the singing of "America" with the band as the accompaniment and which with the benediction by Rev. Shubert closed this impressive school exercise.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

From Tuesday's Daily The passing of the twelfth birthday anniversary of James Mauzy, Jr., was made the occasion for a very pleasant party of his boy friends and schoolmates last evening.

The jolly party had gathered at the Mauzy home where a delicious dinner had been arranged and the table handsome with flowers and the birthday cake which furnished a most attractive setting.

When the dinner had been disposed of the jolly party enjoyed a visit at the Ritz theatre where they were guests of James at "G-Men" and enjoyed this to the utmost.

The evening closed with the serving of refreshments at the Mauzy & Co., store and the members of the party then wended their way home, wishing James many more pleasant birthdays in the future.

Those who attended the event were John Soennichsen, Donald Martin, Billy Knorr, Keith Miller, Donald Busch, Allan White, James Brown, James Jones, Gerald Johnson and James Mauzy, Jr.
