

MANLEY NEWS

Virtus Haws went to Clay Center, Kansas, one day last week and will work there for the present.

W. J. Rau and wife, taking advantage of the Memorial day holiday with the bank closed, visited in Lincoln last Thursday.

David Brann was a visitor in Louisville last Tuesday, where he went to look after some business matters and also visited with friends. He made the trip in his car.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lau, of Hoardville, were visiting for a few days during the past week at the home of the parents of Mrs. Lau, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schliefer.

Miss Helen Corb, of Omaha, daughter of Mrs. Antonio Auerwald, was visiting with the Auerwald family over the week end, both she and the parents enjoying a very fine visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reynolds, who make their home at Kansas City, were visiting with relatives and friends in Manley for a few days, being guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Scheehan.

Gust Krecklow was in Omaha last Monday, taking with him a truck load of sheep for disposal at the South Omaha market and on his return brought back some goods for the merchants here.

Last Sunday evening and Monday many of the people of Manley went over to our neighboring town of Louisville to view the effects of the flood that occurred there Sunday afternoon. Although not nearly as great as that of 1923, this latest torrential rain did a good bit of damage in and about the town.

Visited in the North

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. York and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moeckenhaupt were visiting for a few days at the home of Jose Huse, near Jackson, Nebraska, and on their return were accompanied by their little son, Jack, who is spending a week at the J. C. Rauth home.

Very Enjoyable Afternoon

The Altar society of St. Patrick's Catholic church were entertained on last Thursday by Catherine and Lena Stander, who were to be assisted by Mrs. Otte, but as she was not feeling well and unable to be present, Mrs. J. C. Rauth substituted as the remaining hostess. A goodly number of the members were present and a most enjoyable time was had.

Married at Hartington

The friends of Harold Krecklow have been kidding him a lot about his girl friend, who resided in the northern part of the state, but Harold just smiled on and said nothing. In the meantime he kept getting the house on the farm in good condition, making numerous pieces of fine furniture and letting his friends talk.

Last Wednesday, attaching a trailer to his car, he sped away on another of his trips to Hartington, where he was united in marriage to Miss Lois Davis at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, who reside there. On Friday the newlyweds arrived in Manley with the effects of the bride packed in the trailer as well as some additional furniture which they had purchased in Omaha as they passed through.

The newlyweds will make their home on the farm northwest of Manley. The Journal joins with the many friends of this excellent young man and his bonny bride in extending congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life.

GOLD COIN WASHED UP

Beatrice.—A. Staechs, pioneer resident of this city, found an English gold coin which the recent heavy rains had washed up in his garden. It proved to be a half sovereign, minted in 1848, worth normally $2.44 or ten shillings. It was in fine condition and looked almost like new, despite the probability it had been buried in the ground perhaps 85 years—possibly lost by some immigrant from Great Britain on his journey west several years before American settlers came into this valley.

Bleaching of Cauliflowers Not Difficult Task

Late Crops are Best Grown from the Seed is Advice of Journal's Expert Gardener.

Gardeners who hesitate to grow cauliflower in the home garden because they think cauliflower in the market has a clearer complexion, are needlessly fearful. To bleach the heads and keep them that delightful creamy white that makes this vegetable so tempting in appearance, it is only necessary to start as soon as the head begins to take definite form to protect it from the sun. This is done by tying the outside leaves closely together at their tips and watching the growth of the plant to see that the developing head is kept shaded.

In cooking, the snowy whiteness may be preserved or even made to appear whiter by proper methods. If cauliflower is overcooked it becomes pink. It must be bleached and cooked in an open vessel to remain white. Let it boil 3 minutes, then plunge in cold water until thoroughly cool. Return to the boiling water and 15 minutes of actual boiling will finish the task.

For early cauliflower, it will be necessary to buy plants at this season to be sure of a good crop. Start seed for the later crop which is really the easiest to grow. Cauliflower has one resemblance to the radish, it makes a fast quick growth in cool weather and is inclined to languish in hot weather. For this reason it should be started early to make its growth in the cooler spring months or later to make its growth in the cool fall months.

It is also necessary for the protection of the heads to slay the insect enemies with great thoroughness right at the start. Emery No. 1 is the cabbage worm. Slugs, pyrox, or other arsenate of lead mixtures will get them and should be applied before the heads start.

In later applications do not get the spray upon the curd, or white portion of the cauliflower.

There is no inherent difficulty in raising cauliflowers. They require exactly the same treatment as cabbages with the exception of caring for the blanching of the heads so that they will be white and protected from discoloration by insects.

Some Garden Annuals Good for the Rockery

Use Them to Fill in the Dull Spots Where Alpine Plants Have Failed.

A common experience in rock gardening is for the gardener to buy plants which are new to him, and which will not grow in his locality, or need some special attention of which he is unaware. The result is that he is left with dull or bare spots which detract from the picture he had planned. How to remedy such a situation should be first-hand knowledge to every rock gardener, or prospective one.

The easiest way to fill in spots that become bare is with the fast growing annuals. The man with the perennial border knows this, and has a supply ready to seed or transplant as necessary. There are several which will serve the rock gardener, among which are: the tiny rock cress, in-gonopodium aculea, a 3 inch miniature with lovely lilac flowers; the old-fashioned portulaca is a good flower for even the hottest spots on the rocks; some of the violas make a fine showing; the phlox drummond, dwarf varieties, are good.

Alyssum Little Dorrit gives bushy Asperula azurea setosa (blue wood-ruff) bears gray-blue flowers from June until fall, and accommodates itself to most locations. Clintonia pulchella has lobelia-like flowers, of white marked with blue, on bushes 4 to 6 inches tall. Leptosiphon hybrids are free flowering dwarf plants studded with flowers of various colors. Myosotis Victoria is a strain of dwarf plants studded with flowers of various colors. Myosotis Victoria is a strain of dwarf forget-me-nots which grow 8 inches and are covered with bloom.

Sanvitalia procumbens is sometimes called a creeping zinnia, growing 6 inches, and bearing tiny golden yellow flowers with dark purple centers. Virginia stocks make 6 inch plants with flowers of gay colors blossoming throughout the summer.

Forgetting last year's drought, Cass county farmers are looking hopefully to the present season to produce bounteous crops.

Wabash News

H. P. Hinds was called to Plattsmouth last Saturday, where he was looking after some business at the court house.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ohms, of near South Bend, were visiting at the home of Mrs. Ira Bothwell on Memorial day.

H. P. Hinds, who was spending the greater part of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ray Norris, returned to his home in Wabash last Monday evening.

Frank Plymale, the feed grinder, who makes his home at Alvo, was looking after some business matters in Wabash and was engaged in grinding feed here for a few days.

Parker Otte and Guy Hinds have been enjoying themselves fishing at such times as they are not otherwise engaged. Some of the time they have met with good success and at other times have had no luck at all.

E. F. Marshall, who resides in Weeping Water and owns land near Wabash, was having his corn shelled last week, delivering it to the elevator. Corn prices are considerably lower now than a few weeks ago.

The storm which came up suddenly last Sunday afternoon, brought a considerable amount of hail in some sections. The field of William Reuter was badly damaged by the storm, but he expects to get some return from it.

Lester Reasoner, the operator, who is working at Manley in the Missouri Pacific office, has it very convenient, as he is able to drive over in the morning and return home at night and does not have to move as is ordinarily the case.

H. H. Gerbeling who makes it a practice to plant his corn as early as weather conditions will permit, got the crop all in before the coming of the continued rains and is very well pleased, for the grain has not been damaged and will soon be ready to plow. This is not the case with many other early planted fields, however, a large number of which will have to be planted over. If the wet weather continues it will soon be too late to plant even the ninety day varieties without taking chances on having the crop nipped by early frosts.

Minister Retained Another Year The Rev. C. F. Weber, who ministers to the Wabash church and the church at Callahan has been returned to these two charges for another year by the conference held at Ethics recently. Members of both congregations are highly pleased at the action of the conference in providing his re-assignment here, as he is a very able minister and under his pastorate the church work has been going along in good shape.

Delayed in Getting Home Mrs. A. B. Stromer, of Alvo, was a visitor in Wabash last Wednesday afternoon, being a guest of her father, J. C. Browne. As the afternoon wore on, the storm clouds gathered and looked very bad, so she started for home, hoping to outrun the storm. The deluge of rain caught her, however, and she had to turn in at the home of Mrs. W. A. Cook, remaining in her car while the rain poured down in torrents. When it finally slackened, she went to the house and telephoned both the husband and father, informing them she was all right. Later, as the weather cleared, she was able to proceed on her way homeward.

DANIEL YOUNG WON'T TALK Omaha.—The loquacious Daniel Young, Negro preacher, and harassed fugitive from a Texas oil fortune friends say belongs to him, closed up like a clam in his cell sanctuary Friday and referred all questioners to his attorney.

"I've hired him for my mouth-piece," explained Young, "so let him do the talkin'. I'm all tuckered out talkin' myself." Young hasn't weakened however, in his insistence that he is not Gabe McElroy, missing heir to Texas oil land.

A Texas "estate prospector" claims Daniel Young is the missing Gabe and brought along a boyhood chum who identified Young as McElroy, who fled from Texas forty years ago under a cloud.

STAGE RED CROSS SHOW North Platte.—Seven North Platte children, unable to contribute to the Red Cross drive for money to send to the McCook flood and tornado area, staged a neighborhood show to raise funds. There were singing, dancing, clown acts, and speeches. The audience contributed $3 which was turned over by the children to the Red Cross. Meanwhile, with amounts being received from various communities, Lincoln county's goal of $1,000 has almost been reached.

TO HOLD REUNION Spanish-American war veterans and their ladies auxiliary will hold a three days encampment at Lincoln, Neb., June 16, 17 and 18.

National Commander Judge Leon McCord of Alabama and several other national officers from other states will attend the encampment, which opens Sunday with registration, a reception at the capitol and memorial services at the St. Paul M. E. church. Business meetings, a banquet and ball will be held in the Lincoln hotel and the convention will be in charge of the state commander, C. M. Sutherland of Lincoln.

The convalesce is to be a "grand reunion" of the First, Second and Third Nebraska volunteers who responded to the colors in 1898, and other outfits who served in every branch of the army and navy during the Spanish war, Philippine insurrection and in the China relief expedition from 1898 to 1902.

ARBITRATION EFFORTS FAIL Omaha.—The Omaha street car strike apparently had lapsed into an endurance contest again by Friday night, following the suspension of arbitration efforts by W. P. White of Washington, representative of the department of labor, and Edward McMarrow, official of the tram workers' international organization. Both prepared to leave the city after announcing their efforts to bring about concessions had failed.

Explosion of a bomb under the wheels of a tram in South Omaha, which shattered several windows and broke the front entrance door, was the only instance of violence Friday. Police continued to hold Raymond Marchand, a striking street car company bus operator, whose arrest Thursday night was followed by the finding of forty pounds of dynamite cached in a cave south of Nashville, Neb.

Plant Carrots and Turnips into Fore Part July

They Are Excellent Crops to Follow Lettuce or Radishes—Young Roots Best.

Carrots and turnips are vegetables to plant until into July. The supply of baby carrots can be maintained only by successive plantings and the carrot in its infancy has now displaced the mature vegetable in popular esteem and rightly so as it has a tenderness and delicacy of flavor lacking in the full grown vegetable. We have also learned that the young turnip, fresh pulled, is better than the mature root which formerly was the only form in which it was eaten. Young turnips with their green tops are now a staple market commodity. The tops or turnip greens are also an excellent article for the table.

The second week in July is the traditional time to plant turnips for the mature roots for winter storage. They are a convenient fall crop for the early peas which are done leaving in July. The vines can be pulled up and turnips planted in the patch. Carrots can be employed in the same manner.

Plant the turnips in rows. The old-time style was to broadcast and rake in the seed. Better turnips, more uniform and regular in size can be obtained by planting them in rows, thinning to six inches apart and keeping them cultivated. The old style gardener used to turn the turnips loose to take care of themselves which they did and produced good turnips, but they will do much better when given the aid of good gardening and allowing any vegetable to struggle for its life with weeds is not good gardening.

Carrots are much better quality when taken care of. First of all it should be thinned to four inches apart. Then the soil should be kept stirred and the baby carrots will grow amazingly and be ready to pull for the table in larger quantity than if left to struggle with too close family relations.

Carrots and turnips are excellent crops to follow lettuce, spinach and young onions. Do not plant turnips to follow radishes. They are of the same family and the same races of plants should not be used as follow crops for the kindred.

It is now time to put in summer radishes, a large rooted type that makes fine radishes in summer and does not get pithy and strong as do the early spring types in hot weather. Summer radishes can follow the early spring leaf crops as the lettuce and spinach. Planting these root crops now will keep the garden working full time.
