4-H Judging at Lincoln.

District judging day, which is open to all 4-H club members and leaders interested in this line of activity, will be held at the College of Agriculture, Lincoln, on Saturday, June 15th. Classes will be available in all projects which include animal husbandry, crops, dairy, poultry, baked foods, canned foods, clothing and girls room, and detailed instructions will be given on making placings and giving reasons. Club leaders are urged to assist interested club members in every way possible, to attend judging day. Members should plan to be at the college, ready to work, by ten o'clock Saturday morning.

Mothers Vacation Camp.

Begin now to plan to attend Mothers Vacation Camp this summer. Nebraska will have four Mothers' Camps. This district will hold their camp at Camp Brewster, a delightful vacation spot one mile south of Omaha on Bellevue Boulevard. Mothers' Camp follows the district 4-H club camp, and is scheduled for July 25 to 28. The enrollment fee is $4.50. Other information may be obtained at the Farm Bureau office.

Hold Leader Training Meetings.

Training meetings for leaders of 4-H cooking and clothing clubs have been held by the Home Extension agent the past week. Fifteen clothing clubs are organized in the county with an enrollment of 127 active members and ten associate members. There are twenty-one cooking clubs with an enrollment of 172 active and 21 associate members.

The meetings were divided, the first for a general discussion of club management, which included conducting meetings, making out reports, and general club activities such as judging, demonstration work, and exhibits. The other half of the meeting was devoted to the discussion of subject matter and the preparation of illustrative material for use at local club meetings. Exchanging of experiences between leaders made the meetings interesting as well as profitable.

Can Fruits and Vegetables Now for Winter Use.

Fruits and vegetables are a necessary part of a well-selected diet. Since fruits and vegetables are grown during only part of the year, it is necessary to produce a surplus during the growing season and to find some means of conserving the food until it is needed. Just now the thrifty homemaker will gather and can greens to help fill her shelves with green vegetables, and will can the surplus rhubarb while it is young and tender. Rhubarb makes a nice filler when combined with other fruits to make spreads and preserves if you do not care for it cooked alone. Beans and peas will soon be available and some homemakers may be fortunate enough to have strawberries, cherries and other fruits will soon be in season. Complete instructions for canning all fruits and vegetables are given in Extension Circular 922, which is available at the Farm Bureau office upon request.

District 4-H Club Camp.

Extension Agents from Cass, Otoe, Douglas and Sarpy counties met Saturday to complete plans for the district 4-H club camp which will be held at Camp Brewster, south of Omaha on Bellevue Boulevard, July 21 to 24 inclusive. The camp is open to all 4-H club members and leaders, however the first one hundred and fifty applications to be received are all that will be accepted, so it will be well to start planning now to attend camp and make your registration early. Camp fee will be $3.25 plus six potatoes and six eggs. All club members and leaders will receive full information regarding camp within the next week.

Corn-Hog Compliance to Start Soon.

The present plans of corn-hog allotment committee are to start compliance work on the 1935 corn-hog contracts the week beginning June 17th. About thirty men have just finished a two-day school of instruction on compliance work. These men will start to the field Monday. They will measure all the land planted or to be planted to corn according to the 1935 contract. Each field will be surveyed accurately with a 100 ft. surveyor's chain. End measurements will be taken by the average length of the corn rows. The committee hopes to have the job completed by July 1st. This will be time enough for farmers to plant some other feed crop should they have too much corn planted.

Some time will be given to checking the high sales and informing the contract signers as to how many hogs they will be permitted to raise.

Bee Demonstration Next Monday.

Attention is again called to the bee demonstration scheduled for Monday, June 17 at 2 p. m. at the home of F. L. Bailey in Weeping Water. The demonstration will be conducted by O. S. Bare, extension entomologist from the College of Agriculture. He will discuss summer management of the colony, swarm control, disease identification and control, and methods of supering for comb and extracted honey. Co-operators are free to ask questions and for help with any other problems they may have.

National 4-H Camp.

Cass county 4-H club members will have an opportunity to learn all about the national club camp, held annually in Washington, in June, by listening to an NBC broadcast about colorful events of the week.

The broadcast comes between 11:30 and 12:30, central standard time, on both June 17 and June 19. It is not known whether any Nebraska representative will appear on the program. Nebraska however will be represented in Washington at the national camp by Mervin Aegerter, Lancaster county; Frances Hutchinson, Cheyenne county; and Doris Gray, Otoe county. Although Cass county does not have a representative in Washington this year we have had several in the past and feel that all 4-H'ers are interested in hearing all about the week's activities.

574 Boys and Girls in 4-H Clubs.

534 active and 40 associate members are enrolled in 52 4-H clubs organized within the county. Cooking and clothing work seems most popular, there being 137 girls enrolled for clothing and 193 for cooking. Rope club work appeals to the boys, there being 74 enrolled for this project. 32 boys are feeding and caring for baby beavers, and 18 are caring for a litter of hogs. Sixteen boys find dairy cows more interesting, while 12 of them prefer to raise sheep. Eight boys and girls are caring for a flock of poultry and fifteen find keeping accounts of income and expenditures on their father's farm interesting. Other clubs are Garden, Weed, Keep-Well, Fix-It and Canning, all of which are enthusiastic over their work.

End to Parole Abuses is Asked by Roosevelt

Reports That Kidnapers of Weyerhaeuser Seion Were Violators Stir the President.

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 10.—Aroused by published accounts of the criminal records of the Weyerhaeuser kidnapers, President Roosevelt Monday disclosed he wants parole system abuses ended without delay.

Both Harmon Waley, who confessed to participation in the Tacoma crime with his wife, and William Mahan, named in the confession, were wanted for parole violation.

The president sent this telegram to Attorney General Cummings in Washington:

"Newspapers report long criminal record in case of two men definitely suspected of Weyerhaeuser kidnaping including not only arrests and convictions but also paroles.

"Every decent citizen is interested in humane parole systems which seek rehabilitation of offenders but at same time we should seek to prevent abuses of parole especially in cases of habitual criminals; therefore I am glad that you are having a special study made of these two cases investigating all facts relating to their previous records in every jurisdiction where they have been apprehended or paroled.

When President Roosevelt returns to Washington he will talk with Cummings and if the facts warrant, a thorough check-up on the whole parole system will be made.

The president has been following the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping case since the beginning and has evidenced keen satisfaction in the quick work of the G-men.

SEE LEANING TOWARD WAR

London.—Labor party leaders, accepting Stanley Baldwin's reconstruction of the cabinet as the formal opening of the general election campaign, began a vehement attack on policies of the national government. A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty in the last labor government, in a search at Cardiff charged Baldwin's rearmament campaign is "likely to lead not only to war, but to such an exhaustion of the taxable reserves of the people as must culminate in repudiation of the internal debt."

The government was accused by Sir Stafford Cripps, former solicitor general, of using "jubilee ballyhoo and the false cry of patriotism" as traps for votes in lurching the election drive.

George Lansbury, labor leader in the house of commons, asserted: "With the fake covering of nationalism torn from the government by Baldwin's reshuffle of the cabinet, we see the great labor movement arising with its might to meet the election challenge of torism and all its do-nothing policies."

BUILDING TRADE JOBS GAIN

Washington.—Reporting that "a great many" federal housing administration committees said "there is no longer any idleness whatever in certain building trades in their territories," Stewart McDonald, acting administrator, announced that last week set a record for insurance applications.

The total was $10,272,933, double the amount of applications the first week in April, he said. Applications included $7,085,000 for insurance of mortgage loans, with 34 percent new construction; and $3,187,933 for modernization loans.

Several additional contracts are to be let soon for river development work in this vicinity.

Invents Insect Electrocuter

An invention which is capable of killing millions of harmful insects and pests in a brief time has been perfected by Dr. W. B. Hernies, professor at University of California, who is shown hanging up his electrical device which attracts the bugs by its light and then electrocutes them when they contact the charged wires of the case surrounding the bulb.
