While Fred Carsten, state senator from Cass county and an excellent one at that, was working with his wheat harvest he had the misfortune to cut a small portion of the end of his thumb off. It is however getting along nicely at this time and it is expected to be well in a short time.

Carl Zaiser sold a used tractor that he has had setting around in need of repairs, to Henry Steinhoff, who expects to use it in the harvesting and threshing of his wheat crop. He secured George Trook to overhaul the machine and put it in good order and it is now pulling a binder in the harvest field with all the efficiency of a new machine. Later it will be put to work supplying power to operate the separator for threshing the grain.

The Dankliff Brothers have just combined their wheat, which made in the neighborhood of 20 bushels per acre, and tested a high quality. Although this is not as much as was looked for earlier in the season, it is considered very good in view of the heavy rains, prevalence of rust, etc. The crop on the Stubendock estate has also been combined and marketed and is testing 53 pounds to the bushel and grading No. 2, a very good quality of wheat.

The Changing Years For many years a business house stood just across the street south of the store of Lloyd Behrns, in which John Marquette operated a general store and later B. C. Marquette also conducted a store there. Some fifteen years ago this building and a number of others were burned. The site where the Marquette store was located is now an alfalfa field and last Monday afternoon George Durham and Reed Owens were putting up hay there. The place just east across the street where A. C. Johnson and Aug Buss had their places of business is used as a horseshoe court.

Home from the West Claude Durham, who has been at Pineville, Wyoming, for his health, returned home last Sunday evening, feeling much better. He came via Sioux City, where he stopped for his sister and brother-in-law, Reed Owens and wife, who accompanied him here to a visit this week.

Died at Home in Cozad Word has been received in Avoca of the passing of Mrs. Minnie Conley, sister of the late Mrs. W. H. Bogard, who died last week. Two sisters who had been here from their home at Platteville, Wis., went on to Cozad on receipt of the news, arriving there in time to see this sister before she died. Their arrival here, however, was not so opportunely timed, as they did not get here until after the sister, Mrs. Bogard, had passed on, her demise coming as a very severe blow, and now being followed so closely by the passing of Mrs. Conley.

Was Early School Teacher Mrs. W. H. Bogard, who died so suddenly on Tuesday of last week, was one of the pioneer teachers of Cass county and was the teacher of the Rock school east of Avoca at the time of the great blizzard on January 12, 1888. She had some twenty scholars at the time and as the storm came on so suddenly, she wisely kept them at the school building over night. W. H. Betts was one of the larger scholars and had left the school a little early to look after the chores at home, being able to get there just ahead of the storm, so did not stay at the school with the other scholars over night. Among those who did stay were six Morley children, of whom Edward Morley, the service station man was one. There were also William N. Morley, now in California; Earnest Morley and three sisters, Lucy, Flora and Susan, the latter now deceased; John and George Williams, Lottie and Sarah Betts, Bonnie and Fannie Warder, John and Henry Westcamp, Rose and Laura Gale, Arthur Gale and a number of others whom our informant did not recall.

Expressed in Verse Here is an expression of one of our very true friends, who has expressed himself in verse, and being of a modest, retiring nature, has requested us not to tell that he is the author of what we consider a very fine expression of true character. Here it is:

"Love, The Real Life." Let us live for love, Let us live for God above; Let us live for our girls and boys And for them rejoice.

Let us live for Father and Mother, And remember we won't get another; Let us thank them for what they have done And not wait until they have gone.

Let us always pray and work hard And not our duty shirk; Let us always think of Him Who frees us from all our sin.

This appeared last week in the Weeping Water Republican. Mrs. Fred Allen Doing Better. Mrs. Fred Allen, who fell down the stairs at their home in Weeping Water last week and sustained numerous cuts and bruises and who has been feeling pretty badly since, is getting on very nicely at this time, though still suffering from the effects of the fall. Played Ball at Lincoln. The American Legion Junior baseball team which is sponsored by the Legion post of Weeping Water, were over to Lincoln Tuesday to play a game with the Junior team of that place. We are hoping they were able to win, but we do not know how the game came out.

Believe in Cass County. That is just what Fred H. Gorder county commissioner, and George H. Dannis, contractor and at this time interested in county bridge work do. They were out over the county last Monday morning looking after some road and bridge work and by the way they could not keep their eyes off the growing crops. The wheat is being harvested and as well the oats, the alfalfa which is being cut now the second time and the corn, king of crops in Nebraska and Cass county, growing with leaps and bounds and surprising everyone with the wonderful progress which it is making. Mr. Dannis also visited in Lincoln during the afternoon looking after some business matters.

How About the County Fair? The officers and directors of the fair are taking care of the work of getting ready for the exhibition which comes early in September, and by the way, are you, its patrons, friends and exhibitors doing your part? All you friends of this home institution say a good word as you go about over the country and thus advertise the greatest fair yet held in the county. The officers, and especially their president and secretary will give you all the aid possible. How about that call? Are you giving it the best of care so it will be a winner when you come to exhibit it? and those pigs, the chickens and what are you growing on the farm? Potatoes, vegetables of all kinds and fruits and what ever you have, give them some special attention that they may fully develop, for to you belongs some of the work to make the fair better with each succeeding year. Will you do it?

Lawn Social Sunday Given by St. Patrick's parish at church grounds at Manley, Sunday, July 21st. Bingo, Lunch and Ice Cream. Serving starts at 5 p. m.

Miss Leola Michelson who is visiting for the summer in the west, seeing much of the western country, writes very interestingly of her experiences, telling of a trip to Mount Hood and with the snow higher than the auto in which they were riding. She is enjoying the trip so much that she does not want to come back. She was at Astoria, Oregon on the Fourth, riding some hundred miles to eat dinner on the shores of the Pacific ocean.

Last Conference July 23rd. On Tuesday, July 23rd there will be held at the Methodist church in Weeping Water their last conference of the conference year and at which Dr. Gilbert, district superintendent of the district in which the Weeping Water church is located, will be here and conduct the deliberations of the gathering.

A broken water pipe caused the tearing up of the sidewalk and digging a large excavation in front of the Coffee Shoppe to make repairs, well called to Omaha on business.

John E. Johnson tells us he is so busy in the blacksmith shop that he can scarcely get caught up with the work.

Richard Cole and wife were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cole last Sunday, all enjoying the visit and the dinner very much.

Uncle W. H. Frizel, the only member of the Grand Army of the Republic in Cass county, is in very poor health on account of hardening of the arteries.

Newton L. Grubbs who conducts a blacksmith shop in Murray, was a visitor with the family at home for the week end, returning to his work Monday morning.

four groups according to age. Each group has a corporal who helps the children check when ready to start home. Each child has a swimming buddy and this pair must stay together and look out for each other while in the pool. The co-operation has been splendid so far and we hope every branch will co-operate with Mrs. Norris in giving this service to Cass county folks. Plattsmouth helped in a big way last year, providing trucks to carry boys and girls to the Merritt pool. The branch officers gave their time to see that this was done. The Cass county chapter is providing this service for your boy and girl and every local branch is giving support to this valuable training.

Returns from Hospital From Tuesday's Daily Miss Jean Knorr, who has been in an Omaha hospital for the past ten days, recuperating from an operation for appendicitis, was able to return home this afternoon. She has rallied nicely and her recovery has been rapid and the patient feels in the very best of condition and after a short recuperation will be able to resume her usual activities.
