

Cardinals-Fords are Winners in Monday Games

Westiders Take Rowdies 12 to 2, While Fords Win From Mynard by Score of 13 to 7.

In the games of the kittenball league Monday night the Cardinals from west of the city were the winners over the Rowdies by the score of 12 to 2 while the Ford V-8 team and Mynard toiled to a 13 to 7 result for the auto dealers.

The Cardinals massed an early lead that was not seriously threatened by their opponents who were held scoreless until the third inning. Stoehr and H. Meisinger were the chief stickers of the Cardinals, while Dasher, pitcher of the Rowdies, smashed a two bagger that scored for his team.

Fords Go Rolling By

The Fords in the closing game of the evening became hostile in the first inning when Fay Spidell doubled and from then on to the seventh they registered regularly. Spidell had a triple in the fifth, but Turner led the team in hits with three out of four tries. Earnie Hild of the Mynard team grabbed three of the flies from Newman to hold the lapping shortstop to a zero in hitting. The finale of the game showed 13 to 7 for the Fords:

Garden Flowers Grow Well in the House

Start Seeds in Cold Frame in the Autumn; Reset in Pots When Plants are Large Enough.

When killing frosts threaten in the fall the wish comes to many of us that some of the plants so brilliantly flowering could be lifted and taken into the house, where their beauty could be kept a while longer. This is not impossible with some annuals provided the plants are cut back and are given time to establish themselves in pots before being taken into the house. A much better method is to start your plants from seed at this time and allow them to develop as pot plants so that when winter comes they will be at the height of their youth and vigor.

Growing your own seedlings for indoor decorations in the winter is a great sport, adds much to your enthusiasm and interest, and enables you to have any variety of flower you wish. The practice is economical, too, and provides you with enough additional seedling to pot to make up for mistakes or failures.

A cold frame with a lath or cheesecloth canopy is the best place to sow the seed, but if you do not have one, seed boxes will do very well. In any event, you should plant in a spot which can be protected from inclement weather, and shaded on the hottest days.

When the second pair of leaves—true leaves—appear, pick them off and replant in other boxes. Be careful to get all the roots, and to reset them well in the new ground. After a few days they will become accustomed to their new location, and should then be given the full sun.

After the plantlets have developed a sturdy growth, transplant into small pots, and after a few weeks replant again into larger pots.

Particular attention should be paid to soil and moisture conditions. This is true of the original seed bed and even more so for the pots. Use a finely sifted loamy soil with a humus which is not too coarse. As the amount of soil is small in each case, you will have to add moisture often.

Here is a list of plants that will do well indoors: Russian statice, candytuft, calendula, dwarf nasturtiums, browallia, Lilliput zinnias and bush balsams.

VISITS OLD FRIENDS

Mrs. B. E. Woodward and children, Jean and Betty, of Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, are in the city to visit with the many old friends and acquaintances of the past years. Mr. Woodward will join the family here later for a short visit and to renew old acquaintances. Mr. Woodward was physical director and in charge of the band and orchestra in the Plattsmouth high school for a number of years before removing to the east.

Miss Rosalind Joliffe, of Talmage, was a guest last Sunday of her friend, Miss Mildred Wilson, and attended the Wilson family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brubacher and little daughter Beverly were visiting last Sunday at the home of Mr. Brubacher's parents in Plattsmouth.

A car load of lumber was received by the Murray lumber yard Monday of this week, and is being unloaded and stored in the sheds. With considerable building and remodeling under way this summer, the demand for lumber has been very brisk and promises to continue so right up to late fall.

Mrs. Violet Olsen, of Denison, Iowa, was found asleep in the car of John Frans, leaving the parents to wonder if they had not placed him in the wrong car, or, if not, that he had gotten out of their car and when he attempted to get back had climbed into the wrong car. Anyhow, he was found safe and sound and that was the all-important thing. With the lad back in their own car, the party started out on their long journey to the west coast, where they expect to make their home in the future.

In A Quandary!

The person who faces, for the first time, the need for deciding upon a funeral director, is in a quandary indeed—if he has given no thought to the matter in advance of the need.

One reason for our continuous messages to the public is to acquaint them with what we have to offer, so that they may make an intelligent choice, if comparisons are made.

Departed for the West

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bakke and son Teddy, and daughter, Mrs. William Griffin have left for California, expecting to make their home there in the future. They went from here to Missouri, where the parents of Mrs. Bakke reside, for a short visit before continuing on their westward journey. They have resided here a good number of years and have many friends who will regret to see them leave, but wish them success in their new home in the west.

Gave Them Much Concern

When A. D. Bakke and family were preparing to take their departure last Friday morning, when all ready to go, they found their young son, Teddy, whom they had placed in the car earlier, was missing. This caused consternation and the beginning of a search for the lad. The street lights were turned on, it being yet dark. After considerable search the young lad

Will Buy Many Calves

Jay Oldham, who has been working for the government, having completed his work at South Omaha, left, last Sunday morning with his wife for Denver, where they will make their home for a time while Mr. Oldham is engaged in purchasing a train load of calves for the government. They will be shipped to the Pacific coast. Mr. Oldham is a cousin of Mrs. A. A. Young and a nephew of Mrs. Sadie Oldham, and while in this vicinity was a frequent visitor at their homes here.

Accompanied Husband to Kansas

Font T. Wilson and son, Roy, who have been at Tangeman, Kansas, for nearly a month, where they have been operating an elevator which the Wilson Grain company has leased, were home for the family gathering that was held at the home of Herbert Beins on last Sunday and returned early Monday morning to their work in the neighboring state. They were accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, who is staying with the husband and son during the present week.

Wife Injured, Car Damager

Last Sunday when Curtis Faris and wife, with their little one, were going to enter the highway east of town and had driven to the pavement stopping as all cautious people do, awaiting to see the road was clear. A car came up on the highway on the pavement and just before coming to the spot where the Curtis Faris car was turned off the pavement and struck the Faris car, which was standing still, throwing Mrs. Faris from the car and injuring her very severely, as well as damaging their auto seriously. Mr. Faris and their little one were not injured. It would seem that there is no place of safety, not even when one takes the greatest of care himself.

Oil Well Tower Going Up

The tower which is to be used in drilling for oil northwest of town is being erected and now stands some eighty feet in height, which is about as high as it is expected to build it. Those behind the enterprise are very sanguine that they will strike oil and we are hoping they will be successful for this would provide a great boom to the business interests of all kinds in this vicinity.

Funeral of Miss Beulah Sans

Miss Beulah Sans, who passed away last week after a lingering illness, was buried last Friday, the funeral being held at the late home and conducted by her pastor for a number of years past, Rev. J. C. Stuart. Mrs. E. H. Westcott of Plattsmouth sang a number of the good old songs, being accompanied on the piano by her husband. A large concourse of friends and acquaintances was present to pay their last tribute of honor to one whom they had loved and who had ever been a faithful worker in the interest of the home town and home schools, being a friend to all who were in need of a friend.

Interment was in Oakhill cemetery at Plattsmouth, to which burial plot the remains of the parents now resting in the Horning cemetery will be transferred at an early date.

Miss Sans had been in poor health for some time, but notwithstanding this handicap, gave her strength unreservedly in the carrying on of her routine work as an instructor in the local schools as well as contributing to the upkeep of the home maintained by herself and two brothers, John and Charles Sans.

She was patient and painstaking with the scholars, always seeking to do them the most good during the years she carried on her work in the Murray schools and was rated very highly as an instructor. Relatives who were present at the funeral included Mrs. W. G. Boede-ker, sister; and three brothers, John and Charlie, of Murray, and Walter, of Omaha. Another brother, Joseph, who resides in the west, could not get here for the funeral.

The Journal joins with the community in extending sympathy to the bereaved relatives.
