Thousands are Eligible to Receive Old Age Pension

State Pension Commissioner Perry Predicts 30,000 But No Sign of Payment.

State Pension Commissioner Perry has approved the 5,000th old age pension application and begun checking over 12,000 more. He predicted there ultimately would be 30,000 persons on the pension roll—a dubious advantage because Perry is beginning to wonder whether the pensions ever will be paid.

The cost to Nebraska of paying its half share of the $30 pensions to elderly persons, even if there are only 25,000 persons qualified to receive them, would be $9,000,000 a biennium. That is almost as much money as the state collects to support the entire state government. Tax revenue runs about $11,900,000 a biennium.

The federal government's share would be $9,000,000 and it is not yet certain whether President Roosevelt will find a way to make the federal security act effective. Appropriations for the federal pension fund lost out in a filibuster by the late Senator Long of Louisiana.

With the cost conservatively estimated at $9,000,000, Nebraska has made available theoretically only $5,500,000 a biennium for old age pensions and there is considerable doubt whether the pension fund will get all that. This issue hinges principally on the state supreme court's decision on constitutionality of the assistance fund act.

The court must decide soon whether the one cent gasoline tax, the proceeds to go to the state assistance committee, is legal.

CONVICTED IN LIQUOR CASE

Papillon, Neb.—Five men were convicted Friday of selling liquor without a state license by a six man jury in Sarpy county here. They were the first liquor law violation convictions in Sarpy county under the state's new liquor law.

The men were: Bert Hiatt and Leon Shurlock, arrested at the New Modern club; H. E. and William Norman, arrested at Norman's; and Jess Marshall of Fort Crook, arrested at Walnut Grove. All were charged with unlicensed sale except Marshall, who was charged with possessing untaxed liquor.

County Judge Collins said he would pronounce sentence Saturday unless the men file appeals.

DOLLAR VOLUME INCREASES

Washington.—The federal reserve board reported that the dollar volume of department store sales in August showed a 4 percent increase over the same month last year.

A survey of 507 stores in 240 leading cities showed a similar increase for the first eight months of 1935, with larger volumes of sales reported in all reserve districts except the three eastern regions of Boston, New York and Philadelphia.
