

Nehawka

Oscar Brandt was at Plattsouth last Thursday where he rode a horse in the farmers' parade at the King Korn Carnival.

Master Laverne and Miss Maxine Steffens were visiting over Sunday at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Steffens.

Henning Johnson has been building a concrete feeding platform for his hogs, getting the materials from the Nehawka lumber yard.

Tommy Mason was in Plattsouth during most of the Korn Carnival, with his Musketeers, providing some excellent music for the revelers.

Mrs. J. H. Steffens, who has been in poor health, has not been feeling so well of late, but is reported as being some better at this writing.

V. P. Sheldon and wife spent three days of last week attending the King Korn Carnival at Plattsouth, where they enjoyed meeting many of their old friends.

Billie Cisney and her orchestra was one of the drawing features at the Korn Carnival in Plattsouth last week, the members also enjoying the various other attractions.

Little Avis Troop was at the King Korn Carnival in Plattsouth, riding her gaily decorated bicycle in one of the parades and made a very pretty scene as she peddled along the street.

William T. Schlichtemeier has not been feeling very well for some time past, but keeps going just the same and looking after his work. It is hoped that he will soon be feeling much better.

The membership of the Nehawka Methodist church are seeing to it that the roof on the church building which has been tenking is put in the best of condition, they placing a new roof on the building.

Elmer Philpot and wife were at Plattsouth last Saturday, where they spent the day at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Hallis Akin and husband and also enjoyed the closing day of the King Korn Carnival.

H. H. Stoll was one of the speakers at the old settlers' reunion at the King Korn Carnival in Plattsouth last Friday, telling of the early days here when there were few houses and many Indians. He made a most interesting address.

Miller Christensen and family enjoyed a visit last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Christensen's parents at Manilla, Iowa. They drove over to spend the week-end, returning in time to go to the American Legion convention at St. Louis this week.

Mrs. Lyle Kruger was visiting a few days during the past week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Buchols and husband of Avoca and at the home of F. S. Gaede of Unadilla. She returned home last Sunday after having enjoyed a very fine visit.

Grover Hoback and wife were at Plattsouth last Friday, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Frank Massie over where they enjoyed the playing of a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoback, who appeared on the program at the King Korn Carnival, and which was a very fine execution of the part played.

Forest Cunningham has been making some very substantial improvements on his home in Nehawka, including a new porch and some changes in the rooms, making the home more nicely appointed and will make the home more comfortable and convenient for this estimable couple.

Mr. and Mrs. John Opp entertained at their home in Nehawka last Sunday, having as guests for the occasion, H. P. Opp, a brother of John, and daughter, Miss Helen, of Lincoln; Enos Plunkett and wife and their little one of Weeping Water and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ehlers. A most pleasant time was had by all.

Marion N. Tucker, manager of the Sheldon department store, and George C. Sheldon, were at Ashland looking after some business matters, also going on into Omaha on a similar mission. Passing through Greenwood en route, they stopped for a short visit with their friend, George Bucknell of the firm of White & Bucknell.

Conrad Johnson was over to the home of his brother, Henning, where he was making some exchanges in seed wheat, getting some Turkey Red for his seeding this fall. He thinks this is an excellent seed and one that can be counted upon to produce most abundantly in nearly all kinds of weather and growing conditions.

Albert Anderson, wife and son were guests last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Bedella Stander, a sister of Mr. Anderson, where they enjoyed the day. There were also present for the occasion the families of Dan Anderson, Louis Ross of near Nehawka and A. C. Anderson and family, of Omaha, Keith White and family of Louisville and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marquardt of Avoca. A very fine time was enjoyed by all.

Home from the East

Stuart Rough, who was visiting at the old home at Lafayette, Indiana, for the past two weeks, also took a trip down into Kentucky, where he visited Mammoth cave. He says there is a passageway about 150 miles long in this great cave, a goodly portion of which distance could be negotiated by boat, as there is an underground stream running through the cave.

Stuart walked back into the cave a distance of some three miles, going through a passageway that was about 25 feet in width and nearly 100 feet in height. The interior is lighted by electricity. He enjoyed his trip to the east very much, but not the extracting of some of his teeth, which had to come out after he returned home.

At National Convention

Among those attending the national convention of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary in St. Louis this week, from Nehawka and vicinity, are District Commander W. H. Kruger and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nutzman, Martin Ross and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Miller Christensen. Although we have not heard from them since they left, we are certain they are enjoying a wonderful time while there.

Paraphernalia Has History

The paraphernalia which is now being used by the roque club, is the same which was used by the club when it was playing years ago. When some of the players went west that summer they took the balls, mallets and arches with them to the Masonic park, high up in the mountains, establishing a court there and playing some very spirited games. On their return they left the outfit and it has been stored in the cabin throughout the years. When they took it west, this was one of the most popular of games for young and old alike, the pleasures of motoring were few indeed, and bicycles were the principal mode of conveyance other than via horse and buggy or train. There were no paved highways and really "good" roads were mighty scarce.

Now, after reposing in its dust-laden box all these years, the set was resurrected and has been shipped back here, where the mallets, balls and arches present a unique appearance on the lawns. The outfit was there thirty years, or since the year 1905, and what an advancement these thirty years have made in the ordinary every-day life of people who are now surrounded by conveniences that were not even thought of in those days.

Will Farm Coming Summer

Clifford Mitchell, who has been working here on the river project, received news of the passing of his father at the home in Missouri and was called to attend the funeral. The passing of the father leaves the farm without an occupant except the mother, and Clifford will go down and farm for the mother the coming summer.

Pleased Over Selection

Members of the 1935 Senior class of the Nehawka high school are well pleased over the selection of Miss Lois Troop of this vicinity as queen of the King Korn Carnival at Plattsouth, as Miss Lois was one of their number. She has a large number of close friends here who were boosting for her to win and doing all in their power to help her do so. She is at the present time attending the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, but found time to attend the coronation at Plattsouth, where she became queen and Harrison L. Gayer king of kornland for the coming year.

Daughters of Revolution Meet

There was a very interesting gathering of the members of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Nehawka auditorium last Friday, which included representatives from Avoca and Weeping Water.

Prove Themselves Adept Players

The Nehawka Roque Club, which existed many years ago when this lawn game was popular, has been revived and a group of the young folks (as well as older ones) have been pushing the balls around with all the zest modern day golfers exhibit in their various shots to attain par.

A team composed of James Palmer, Herbie Kuntz, Mark Burton and Glen Rutledge went to Nebraska City last Friday, where they showed the players of that place what some had considered the lost art of placing the balls where they desired and won the series of games, which pleased the Nehawka lads very much. On Sunday, they went to McPaul, Iowa, where they also took a series of games with signal honors. The people here who play are greatly interested in the game.

New Pastor Here

The congregation of the Methodist church at their worship hour last Sunday were greeted by their new pastor, Rev. G. M. Carter, who has been assigned to the Nehawka and Weeping Water charges to take the place which Rev. E. S. Pangborn has filled for several years. The latter has been assigned to a charge at Shelton.

Rev. Carter was for three years pastor of the Methodist church at Elmwood and it was during his pastorate there that the present fine church building was erected. He is a very earnest worker in the affairs of the church and will soon be acquainted with every member of the church and all the residents of the town and will do his utmost to help make the two communities he serves better places in which to live.
