IMPEACHMENT THREAT MADE

Denver, October 3—Governor Johnson made good his threat to "blow the lid off" the state liquor scandal by announcing a special session of the legislature for October 30, to consider the impeachment of Secretary of State James H. Carr.
"Two special sessions may be necessary," the governor said. "One to consider impeachment and the other to revise the Colorado liquor code and possibly the federal old age and security program."
The governor called newsmen into his office a few minutes after expiration of the forty-eight hour deadline he set for Carr to answer the thirty-four question interrogatory asking what part if any Carr played in the alleged $3,000 "shakedown" of a Denver drug firm.

The governor suggested to the district attorney that criminal charges, if any are participated, not be filed against the state officer until after the special session.
Carr's attorney, Fred Dickerson, said he "couldn't for the life of me" see why the special session should be called now. "If the governor had just been a little more patient perhaps he could have saved the state a lot of heavy expense," the attorney said, explaining Carr was completing his answers to those portions of the interrogatory which do not require completion of the audit.

Modern Method of Making

COOKIES

"The children run from near and far To dip into the cookie jar."

THAT'S one of the immemorial prerogatives of childhood. So prevalent is it, in fact, that a vast cookie baking industry has been built up to keep all the cookie jars in the country comfortably full so that children can exercise that prerogative.
But, after all, it's fun to surprise them. They all know the contents of the innumerable cartons of delicious cookies that save modern housewives so much preparation and baking. But when they plunge their eager hands into a cookie jar—a real old-fashioned cookie jar—which they know contains cookies made at home, the pleasure of uncertainty is added to their anticipation of something delicious.

Dried Apricot and Nut Cookies:
Put one cup dried apricots through a food chopper. Then combine them with one and a half cups condensed milk, one cup canned moist coconut and one cup chopped nuts, drop by spoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for from twelve to fifteen minutes. Makes about thirty cookies.

Molasses and Coconut
Molasses or Ginger Cookies:
Boil one cup molasses a minute, add one cup sugar, one cup shortening, two teaspoons ginger, two teaspoons cinnamon and two well-beaten eggs. Add four teaspoons soda mixed with one-fourth cup vinegar. Add about five cups of flour to make a stiff dough. Roll thin. Cut as desired. Bake in a moderate—375 degree—oven for about twelve minutes. Use also for making gingerbread men. May sprinkle with sugar before baking if desired.

Almond Apricot Squares:
Cream one-half cup shortening and one-half cup sugar, add one well-beaten egg, and then one-fourth cup apricot purée. Sift together two cups pastry flour, one-fourth teaspoon soda and a few grains salt, and add. Stir in two-thirds cup finely chopped blanched almonds. Chill well, roll very thin and cut in squares. Place on a greased sheet. Will not spread. Bake at 400 degrees, a hot oven, for eight or nine minutes. Makes five or six dozen cookies.

Apricots Inside!

Cocoanut Buns:
Cream one-third cup shortening and three-fourths cup sugar, add one well-beaten egg and then one-third cup canned raspberries, mashed but not sieved. Sift together one and a half cups pastry flour, one and a half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon soda and one-fourth teaspoon salt, and add. Add one cup bran and one cup canned moist coconut, and chill. Drop by small spoonfuls on a greased pan, about two inches apart. Bake in a moderate—350 degree—oven for about ten minutes. Makes three and a half dozen cookies.
