

Auto Tax Bills by Regan Now Before Senate

Designed to Correct the Registration and Assessment Bills of the Last Legislature.

Reception of two new members into the fold, introduction of two bills on automobile registration and taxation, completion of a list of twenty-three employes by the committee on committees, constituted the work of the state senate during the forenoon.

Leon H. Hines of Benkelman and L. A. Sprague of Red Cloud, democrats, were admitted to membership in the senate by appointment of their county committees and the governor.

"In trying to fill Bill Bullard's seat, I mean Bill Bullard," said Hines, "I do my best."

Sprague of Red Cloud was introduced as the "left end of the senate," that being the position of his seat.

"As substituting for Pedersen, resigned," he said, "I do not want to be understood as either bragging or apologizing."

The senate revenue committee has two of Howell's bonding bills, one for issuance of county, city and village bonds, and another for Omaha to issue sewer bonds, both designed to accept federal aid for public improvements, without a vote of the electors.

O'Brien Not Pleased. Preliminary perusal of the governor's old age pension bill, H. R. 17, failed to please State Senator O'Brien, author of an old age pension bill in the regular session.

"Why, there isn't a farm in the state of Nebraska that nets 5 percent of its value," O'Brien said. "That's got to come out."

Regan of Columbus introduced two bills in the senate to simplify the two laws passed by the regular session for registration and taxation of motor vehicles, H. R. 70 and H. R. 90, bills which the governor said in his call were unworkable measures.

S. F. 4 relates to registration. It provides that the treasurer of a county shall not receive applications or registration fee nor issue a certificate of registration unless the owner first exhibits proof of tax receipt or otherwise that he has paid all personal tax on said vehicle based on assessment thereof made in the year next preceding the year for which such application for registration is made; or that he was the owner of another vehicle of a similar kind, on which he paid personal taxes during such year; or that he owned no such motor vehicle upon which personal taxes might have been levied during said year.

S. F. 3, by Regan, strikes out much of the old law and simplifies the work of listing for taxation. It requires dealers to report vehicles on hand April 1 of each year as merchandise, describing each thus returned and the county treasurer shall on April 1 and the first of each month, up to and including July 1, of each year, furnish the county assessor a list of all vehicles registered, and addresses of owner, township and school district. The state tax commissioner is to certify a schedule of values to county clerks on or before April 1 of each year.

The bill further provides that notwithstanding the general laws relating to revenue, the taxation of personal property in general and the delinquency of taxes on personal property, all taxes on motor vehicles shall be due and payable in a single payment on Nov. 1 of the year in which they may be assessed, and shall become delinquent on Feb. 1 thereafter. Provided, that in 1935 such taxes shall be due and payable Dec. 1. Receipts issued for payment of taxes on motor vehicles will not carry the levy of the state and the sub-divisions, any more general law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Rotarians and Wives at 'Ak' Stock Show

Local Rotarians and Wives to Be Guests of Omaha Club at the Big Fall Attraction Tuesday.

Announcement comes from Omaha that the Rotary club of that city has planned quite an elaborate entertainment for Rotarians from throughout the middle west and their families in connection with the Ak-Sar-Ben Live Stock Show, Horse Show and Rodeo.

The night of Tuesday, October 29 has been designated as Rotary night at the show and special seats have been set aside for the Rotary crowd. Hundreds go to Omaha for this annual Rotary night.

Visiting Rotarians and "Rotary-Anns" will have an opportunity to display their talents, it is reported. As a part of the dinner program to be held at Hotel Fontenelle preceding the show, an amateur addition, a la Major Bowes, has been arranged. It will be in charge of Charles Gardner and only the visitors will be permitted to participate.

"If you can play a harp, a saw or a piccolo, croon like Rudy Vallee or imitate Mae West, send your name in to "Colonel" Gardner through your local Rotary Club" the announcement to Rotarians states. "You may win for your club."

Rotarians and wives from this city who plan to attend are: Dr. P. T. Heineman, L. O. Minor, C. A. Rosen-chron, L. S. Devoe, G. J. Jaeger, F. A. Cloldt, Fred Lugsch, Dr. R. P. Westover, J. L. Tidball, F. M. Bestor and Dr. H. G. McClusky.

SCHOOLS AND SAFETY PROGRAM

The Plattsmouth public schools are co-operating with the Red Cross organization of Cass county in developing a safety program throughout the entire school. Each teacher is giving lectures on safety supplemented by talks by Chief of Police Libershal. A survey is being made of all of the homes in the community with the view of eliminating any possible danger hazards that might be in the homes.

It is the hope of the Red Cross organization to carry this work from the school into the homes developing the consciousness of danger on the road and in the home. Mrs. Henry A. Tool of Murdock, Nebraska, is the director of this movement. She is promoting the program throughout the entire county.

GRANT MARTIN STRICKEN

Grant G. Martin, 824 So. 18th street, Lincoln, suffering from an internal hemorrhage, was given no chance to recover, according to his consulting physician, Dr. B. F. Williams, Monday. Martin was stricken Sunday.

Mr. Martin has been a resident of Lincoln for a number of years, and has been prominent in Methodism, being a member and official of St. Paul's church for more than thirty years. He served as attorney general for Nebraska for four years after having previously been an assistant in that office, and was later a supreme court commissioner. In his more active years he was a leader at the state bar.

Mr. Martin is well known in this city where he has been a frequent visitor in past years at the F. M. and E. J. Richey homes. Mrs. Martin was formerly Miss Laura Richey of this city, who made her home here with the relatives for a number of years.

HERE FROM SEDALIA

Anton Peterson, of Sedalia, Missouri, is in the city for a visit with the relatives and old time friends in this city and vicinity, as well as taking a short vacation from his duties with the Missouri Pacific at Sedalia. "Yankee" reports the former Plattsmouth group in the Missouri city as doing nicely and are well and happy.

Funeral of M. P. Fleming is Held Today

Large Number of Old Friends Attend Services at Sattler Funeral Home This Afternoon.

From Tuesday's Daily. This afternoon at the Sattler funeral home there gathered a large group of the old time friends of the late Marvin P. Fleming, whose death on Sunday brought such a sense of deep regret to the community.

The services were conducted by Dr. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who had been a friend of the deceased for many years. The pastor brought words of comfort to the members of the bereaved family and the sorrowing friends in the going on of their loved one.

The Masonic quartet gave two numbers, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Nearer My God to Thee," the accompaniment being played by E. H. Wescott. The quartet comprised Frank A. Cloldt, H. G. McClusky, R. C. Cook and L. O. Minor.

Following the services at the funeral home the body was borne to the Oak Hill cemetery to rest beside the children that had preceded the father in death.

Marvin Porter Fleming, born in Cass county, December 27, 1869, died at his home in Plattsmouth October 27, 1935, at the age of 65 years, 10 months. When a young man he was united with the United Brethren church at Otterbine.

In 1896 he was united in marriage to Almeda C. Rusterholz. To this union were born four children: Gerald V. of Nebraska City; Mrs. Elmer Stoll of Nehawka; Sterling M., and Alvin C., who have preceded him in death.

His boyhood and young manhood were spent in Cass county until 1900, when he and his wife moved to Coleridge, Cedar county, living there until 1920, when they moved back to Plattsmouth, where he lived until his death.

Although Mr. Fleming had been in poor health for the past three years, his death came as a shock to his family and friends. Mr. Fleming acquired many friends while being employed at the E. A. Wurl store for the past eleven years.

Besides his widow and two children, he is survived by two grandchildren, one brother, Torrence W., of Glendale, Calif., several nieces and nephews and other relatives.

UNION CASE IN COURT

From Wednesday's Daily. This morning another case of law violation was being aired in the court of County Judge A. H. Duxbury, this being a complaint filed against Albert L. Belden, of Omaha, charging him with being intoxicated and a second count of resisting an officer.

The alleged trouble occurred on the night of Monday, October 28th, it being charged by the Union law enforcing officers that Belden had been using loud talk on the streets and that when approached by the officers had resisted arrest. The testimony of Marshal John Morris and his assistant as to the resisting an officer and intoxication charge was offered.

Belden, his head swathed in bandages told his story of the affair and in which he claimed that with his wife and several friends he had gone to Union to attend a show, being friends of the company producing the same. He admitted that he may have talked loud, claiming this was his habitual manner of speech, but denied the drunken charge, claiming he had drunk only one small glass of beer. The story of Mr. Belden was that he was trying to find out what he had done when he was hit in the back of the head, a wound being caused that made necessary six stitches to close.

After the evidence was submitted Judge Duxbury dismissed the charge of resisting an officer but held Belden on the drunkenness charge, assessing a fine of $1 and costs.

FILES NEW TAX SUIT

From Wednesday's Daily. This morning in the office of the clerk of the district court an action was filed in which the City of Plattsmouth is plaintiff and the Allen Investment Co., et al., the defendants. The suit is for the foreclosure of tax title certificates on some fifteen pieces of real estate in the city and on which they city has held certificates for the required three years and now seeks the foreclosure that they may be disposed of and again placed on the tax list. C. A. Rawls appears as the attorney for the city in the action as special counsel.
