

Plane Crashes in Arkansas Swamp, Killing 17

Seventeen persons lost their lives when a trans-continental American Airlines plane of the twin-motored Douglas type, shown above, crashed in a swamp near Goodwin, Ark., en route from Memphis, Tenn., to Little Rock, Ark. It is the worlds greatest commercial aviation accident ever recorded. F. C. Hart, wealthy New York oil man (inset) was one of the victims.

SLAIN BY JEALOUS WIFE

Los Angeles.—A jealous wife who fancied her husband was unfaithful to her pumped two bullets into the body of Charles Rovig as he lay asleep, then killed herself, according to the story Rovig gasped out to police shortly before his death in Georgia receiving hospital. His wife of a year, Mrs. Malitia Powell Rovig, 59, one time opera singer, was found dead, with bullet wounds in her chest and abdomen, when police reached the scene.

As Horatia Powell, Mrs. Rovig sang in the New York Metropolitan Opera company in 1910, police were informed by Don Powell, 24, her son by a previous marriage. An attack of laryngitis ended her singing career two years later. Her first husband, Capt. Homer Powell, war-time aviator, was killed in action.

Cass county has no bonded indebtedness, as, like the state, it has paid cash for its gravel roads and other improvements. That's a mighty good policy to pursue.

Farm Leaders Attend Parley

EXPLAINS AGE PENSION PLAN

Lincoln, Jan. 12.—Governor R. L. Cochran, in a radio address Sunday, urged Nebraskans seeking old age assistance under the state's untried social security laws not to make application to the state assistance committee but to their county committees.

He said applications had come to the state committee, which under the law has no initial power relative to granting of pensions. The governor explained county committees are vested with authority to approve or reject old age pension applications.

The state committee approves or overturns the actions taken by the county committee. Program awaits actual expenditure of funds until congress makes an appropriation for the national social security program.

Cochran urged local political subdivisions to lower public debt. He cited one Nebraska town where the debt exceeded the assessed valuation by $31,000.

"I do not cite that as typical," Cochran said, "but I do feel more efficient expenditure of public funds could be attained; if current revenues are used for current purposes rather than for constant retirement of debts."

BANK ACT CALLED ILLEGAL

Detroit.—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin said he believes the federal reserve bank act is unconstitutional, on the same basis of reasoning by which the supreme court invalidated the NRA and the AAA.

"Congress has no constitutional right to delegate its power without specification," the Detroit priest said. "It has no constitutional right to create a body of men to dictate the rules and regulations and laws concerning finance. Already the supreme court has expressed this principle in previous decisions. Congress, so it found, could not delegate its law-making prerogatives to the NRA board nor to the AAA administration without specified limitations. Does not the same principle apply to the federal reserve act?"

Norris Lashes Decree Ruling AAA Invalid

Farmers Applaud Stand of Nebraskan, But Feel That "Something Can Be Done."

Senator Norris (R.), Nebraska, bluntly expressed to farm leaders at Washington Tuesday a view that no law regulating agricultural production would be held constitutional in the light of the supreme court's AAA decision.

His opinion was given at a senate agriculture committee meeting summoned to hear farm views on AAA's replacement. The committee room, jammed with farmers, became suddenly silent when Norris said:

"I don't believe it possible to pass any law that in any way regulates agricultural production that would be held constitutional. I hate to say it."

Ask Alternative.

Earl C. Smith, Pike county (Illinois) farmer, and president of the Illinois Agricultural association, had just presented a farm legislation program recently submitted to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace at the mass conference of representatives of farm organizations called by Wallace when the AAA was invalidated.

Smith said he believed congress could devise an agricultural control program within the bounds of the constitution and one that would meet with the approval of the supreme court.

This statement was immediately challenged—fretfully—by Norris who, nevertheless, expressed "entire agreement" with the recommendations of the farm group—made to the administration Saturday—that soil conservation and domestic allotments be the basis of a new program.

"I think the decision was wrong, absolutely wrong," Norris said. "I thought the act was constitutional and think so yet." He was applauded loudly.

Suggests Added Powers.

Norris asked Smith:

"You feel the crop production must be regulated?"

Smith nodded affirmatively.

"But," the Nebraskan went on, "the court says in so many words 'regulation of agriculture is unconstitutional.' You don't have to be a lawyer to see that point."

"The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction with such exceptions as congress may provide."

"We could pass a law by which we could take away jurisdiction over this subject from the lower courts and providing, say, that a supreme court decision on this must be unanimous."

"Then the decision of a week ago onday would have been just the opposite."

Norris gave no immediate indication, however, that he planned to press for such a statute.

No 'Parlor Farmers'

The committee was called in special session by its chairman, Senator Smith (D.), of South Carolina, militant member of the senate farm bloc, who made it plain at the outset that it was to be devoted entirely to farmers—real dirt farmers, or their representatives.

The board took no action in setting the salary at this meeting, the matter being put over until the February meeting.

PASTOR FILES A SUIT ON SLANDER CHARGE

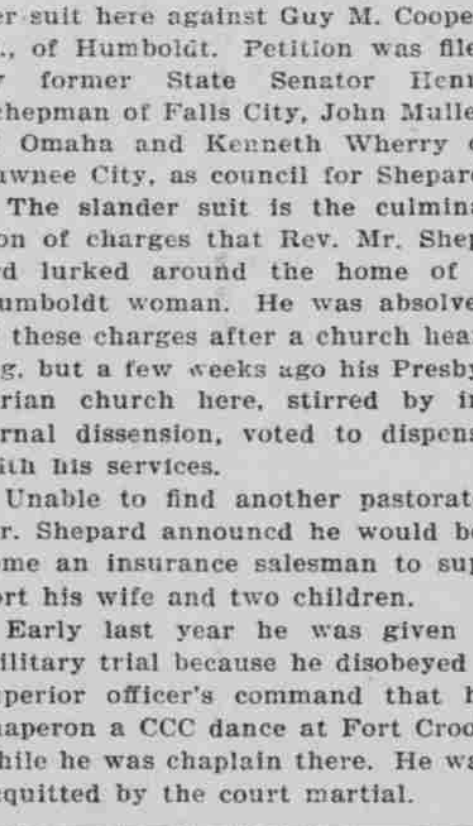

Falls City, Neb.—Rev. Theo Shepard of Humboldt filed a $50,000 slander suit here against Guy M. Cooper, sr., of Humboldt. Petition was filed by former State Senator Henry Schepman of Falls City, John Mullen of Omaha and Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City, as counsel for Shepard.

The slander suit is the culmination of charges that Rev. Mr. Shepard lurked around the home of a Humboldt woman. He was absolved of these charges after a church hearing, but a few weeks ago his Presbyterian church here, stirred by internal dissension, voted to dispenze with his services.

Unable to find another pastorate, Mr. Shepard announced he would become an insurance salesman to support his wife and two children.

Early last year he was given a military trial because he disobeyed a superior officer's command that he chaperon a CCC dance at Fort Crook while he was chaplain there. He was acquitted by the court martial.

State Would Encourage Oil Prospecting

Cuts the Minimum Lease on State Lands to 10c an Acre; Means a Minimum of $64 a Section.

Acting upon the advice of Attorney General Wright, the state board of educational lands and funds Monday assumed jurisdiction to lower the minimum charge for prospecting for oil upon state leased lands from $25 a year upon forty acres to 10 cents per acre, which means a minimum of $64 a section. When the state leases lands it reserves the mineral rights and these rights may be leased separately, the state to receive one-eighth of any oil or mineral discovered by the prospector.

Several prospecting companies have been asking for mineral or oil leases but have been demurring to the price charged by the state. While the prospecting rights are now available at 10 cents an acre, those desiring such rights have the privilege of bidding as high as they please, and the state will accept the highest bid. Usually there has been no contest over mineral leases such as occurred many years ago when there was a rush to obtain potash rights on lakes on state lands in the northwestern part of the state. There are several companies prospecting for oil in various parts of the state. The board some weeks ago had an inquiry from Harold Cook of Agate for oil rights on state lands.

The board sat a short time as a state assistance board and adopted a form of blank to be used by persons applying to county boards for old age assistance.

As a board of educational lands and funds three members, Governor Cochran, Land Commissioner Leo Swanson and Attorney General Wright, contracted to buy $22,000 of bonds of the school district of the village of McGrew in Scottsbluff county, bearing 4 percent, to yield the state 3.65 percent.

The board agreed to accept refunding bonds from the school district of Valparaiso in the sum of $10,000 for bonds now owned by the state. The bonds are to bear 3 1/2 percent interest and after option date 3 1/2 percent.

The board offers to buy $7,000 of the bonds of school district 37, in Sarpy county, at 3 1/2 percent. It bought $35,000 of Superior city refunding bonds at 3 1/2 percent.
