

Murray

Henry Vest was called to Plattsmouth on Tuesday to look after some business at the court house.

Albert A. Young was a visitor in Plattsmouth Sunday, going up after some medicine for Mrs. Oldham, who was very sick, but is now somewhat improved.

Earl Mrasek was in Plattsmouth Tuesday forenoon, going after some coal for a party here, as there was none to be had in Murray that day, although there were several cars billed to arrive soon.

O. A. Davis was in Plattsmouth on Tuesday of this week, having business to transact at the office of County Judge A. H. Duxbury and also looking after other matters of business while in the city.

Mrs. Will S. Smith entertained the members of the Missionary Society at her home on last Friday, as the church, where the meeting is usually held, was cold and required a lot of coal to get it warmed up for a meeting of this kind. There were a goodly number of the members in attendance and a most interesting and enjoyable meeting was held.

George Troop, desiring to look after some business matters in Plattsmouth, came to Murray horseback and, leaving his horse here, went to the county seat. After transacting the business, he returned to Murray a day later, and, getting his horse, rode back to the farm. While he was gone, John Campbell was looking after the cattle which he has on feed.

Roy Cole, Jr., of Weeping Water, and sister, Miss Sarah Cole, also of that place, were visiting friends in Murray last Sunday afternoon. They made the trip by auto, but were compelled to come by way of Union, as the road west of Murray is still badly drifted and closed to traffic. The only possible way to get it open will be to shovel it out or wait for warm weather, and the shoveling job is a gigantic one when miles of highway are involved.

Made Trip on Obsled

The country west of Murray and north of Nehawka, which has been so badly blocked that traffic of any sort was out of the question, has had no mail delivery for more than a week. Fred Engelkemeier, taking a team and obsled, and driving thru fields where he found the roads impassable was able to get to Nehawka last Saturday, purchasing some groceries there and as well getting the mail for himself and neighbors.

Now En Route Home

Word from Major I. Hall and wife and Mr. and Mrs. George Brinklow, who have been spending some time in Miami, Florida, conveys the information that they started for St. Louis the first of the week and after a brief stop there, will continue on home. In their letter, they tell of having bathed in the ocean nearly every day during their stay there. Unless they tarry in St. Louis longer than they contemplated doing, it is quite likely they will get here in time to experience some of our truly typical old-fashioned winter, now in its twenty-ninth consecutive day of sub-zero temperature, which will not be quite as pleasant as bathing in the ocean at Miami and getting a heavy coating of tan under the tropical sun. Come on folks, and welcome home. You will be able to experience the mean and extreme climatic of the nation.

Was Very Sick

Mrs. Sadie Oldham, who has been ill for some time, suffered a relapse last week, although she had been improving considerably up to then. Her sinking spell was a severe one and caused grave concern among the relatives and friends. Everything possible was done for her and we are glad to report that she is again considerably improved, although at her age it is a long, drawn-out process to bring back failing health. She is receiving excellent care and wants for nothing.

Depart for Kansas

Mrs. Maybelle Dick and four children, who have been making their home in Murray for some time past, left Tuesday morning via rail for McLeuth, Kansas, where they expect to make their home in the future, Mrs. Dick having a position awaiting her there.

Funeral Held Sunday

The funeral of the late Edward McCulloch, who died more than a week ago, was held last Sunday. The delay was due to the fact that it had been impossible to get to the cemetery, although several trials were made before the road was finally opened up part way and a route cleared across fields the rest of the way. Frank Read, of Plattsmouth, with the county's big tractor and a snow plow on the front, opened up a roadway across fields just ahead of the hearse and the funeral party followed immediately afterward, getting through to the cemetery in good shape.

Delays Trip for Better Weather

Walter Allen, who has been visiting here with his parents for several weeks, had planned to visit friends in Chicago as well as in the state of Georgia, and even went as far as Omaha, but found the weather so severe and the roads so uncertain he concluded to return home and defer the visit until such time as the weather moderates. This would seem to be a most sensible thing to do, for certainly no one would want to go traveling in this kind of weather except called by some emergency. Walter is wishing he might be down in Georgia at this time however, as he feels he would be able to enjoy himself much more than here, where sub-zero temperatures have existed for twenty-nine straight days, to say nothing of the blizzards and blocked roads.

Stock Feeding a Problem Now

Parr Young, who has some 400 head of cattle on grain feed, with the coming of the severe storms has been faced with a serious problem of how to replenish his dwindling supply of corn for the stock. The badly drifted roads have prevented trucking in of grain, even from his nearest neighbors. Of course he has plenty of good hay, water and ensilage, but that does not take the place of corn, and if it becomes necessary to curtail or shut off grain feed all the present gains will be quickly lost.

Mr. Young is an expert feeder and is fully cognizant of the problem he faces (which is the same as is faced by many another large scale feeder) and will do everything in his power to get grain and keep up the feeding rations regularly. By using the fields where highways were blocked so badly as to be impassable, he has been able to get some grain and has hopes of getting more through before his supply runs out.

Stork Arrives Under Difficulties

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Saunders, who have been making their home in a house south of Murray owned by Charles McReynolds, had been intending to return to their home at Mountain Grove, Mo., prior to an expected arrival to join the family circle. But with the bad weather and impassable roads of the past month, they put off going from day to day until the stork came to pay them a visit here instead. Saturday night the call came for a doctor, but all roads in that direction were blocked so badly it would have been futile to even attempt to drive there in a car. The section foreman of the Missouri Pacific came to the rescue and volunteered to take Dr. Tyson very near to the place of abode of the Saunders family on his motor car, which clicked off the distance in short time over the snow-cleared rails. As a result the doctor arrived in ample time to greet the new arrival and make necessary arrangements for his care and that of the mother.

Building a Brooder House

Fred Drucker, who is a fancier of swine and a breeder of this species of farm stock, has a number of sows to farrow soon and is having a new and improved brooder house constructed for the care of the little pigs when they arrive, as with the kind of weather we have been having of late it would be most hazardous to attempt to raise them under any but the best conditions possible to attain. Albert Young has been assisting with the manufacture of the "parlor" for the little piggies.

Accepts Position in Kansas

J. A. Smith, who has been making his home here for some time past, departed last Tuesday morning for a point in Kansas, where he has a position offered him, and is hastening to accept the same. At this time of the year when one has work offered him, it is well to get to the work and hang onto it, as jobs are not so plentiful even in these days of proclaimed returning prosperity.

SELLS ASSETS

From Wednesday's Daily This morning the sale of the assets of the defunct Bank of Commerce of Louisville, was held at the district court room. There were several interested parties present to attend the sale and to make bids on the various assets. There were some $54,544.05 of bills receivable for sale but these were not in very brisk demand. Several pieces of real estate were included in the sale.

Alvo News

Alvo News Delayed

The Alvo news column, ordinarily appearing in the Monday issue of the Semi-Weekly Journal, is being run in the Thursday issue this week due to the fact that it did not reach our office until Tuesday, being postmarked out of Alvo Monday afternoon, February 17.—Editor.

Mrs. August Bockelman is recovering from the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Lefe Mullien have been ill with the mumps.

George Kitzel has been on the sick list again for several days.

Frank Hempke hauled a load of coal from Lincoln Wednesday for Charles Ayres.

Joe Taylor has been under the weather during the past week with a bad cold and a lame back.

The Mothers' and Daughters' council will meet at the home of Mrs. W. C. Timbini Friday, February 21st.

Charles Holmes is ill with mumps and Elmer Rueter is doing the chores at the Holmes farm while Charles Holmes is not able to be out.

The Alvo Woman's Reading club did not have their meeting Thursday afternoon as scheduled. The meeting was to have been held with Mrs. Wm. Coppel.

Mrs. Olga Swanson has been confined to her bed several days, but is some better at this time. It is hoped that her condition will soon show such improvement.

H. L. Bornemeier went to Omaha Monday where he attended the state convention of the Farmers Union held there during the week. He did not return home until Saturday evening, as he was delayed by late trains.

Miss Edith Robertson, of Eagle, found it possible to get to the Harvey Hires home Tuesday, where she stays while teaching. School has been held in that district, as it was impossible for the children to reach the school house.

The Alvo school remained closed all week because of blocked roads. At this time very little has been accomplished toward opening up the roads on any but the main highways, and traffic from the rural areas remains at a standstill.

Mrs. L. M. Hauptman did substitute teaching for Miss Marjorie Arn Friday, February 7, while Miss Arn accompanied the students who went to Peru to take part in the M-I-N-K music contest. Carl D. Ganz drove to Peru to take the group that went from here.

Arrival of Son

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Coatman are the proud parents of a son born Wednesday morning, February 12. The little man weighed nearly ten pounds. The parents have not decided definitely on a name for him. Mother and son are doing fine.

Had a Difficult Task

Fred Reuter, with the snow plow and a crew of thirty men with shovels, worked until noon Monday south of Alvo and were able to open only three quarters of a mile of road. During the afternoon a larger crew of men were assisting with the work and they were able to get the road opened through to its juncture with

HAVE PLEASANT MEETING

The Plattsmouth Woman's club held a very pleasant meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Henry G. Soennichsen on high school hill, who was assisted by Mrs. A. H. Duxbury, Mrs. J. H. McMaiken, Mrs. W. G. Kieck and Miss Marie Kaufmann.

Despite the fact of the extreme cold weather there was a very pleasing attendance of the membership present to enjoy the fine program that had been arranged.

The roll call was responded to by the members with the name of their favorite movie star.

Dr. O. C. Hudson was the guest speaker of the evening, taking up the discussion of cancer, one of the great maladies that have affected the human race, presenting many interesting facts in regard to this disease and which was followed with the greatest of interest by the club members.

The one act play, "Finders Keepers," presented under the direction of Miss Bernice Welland, was one of the enjoyable features of the evening. Miss Welland, Gertrude Valery and Wilbur Hall forming the cast and giving a truly artistic rendition of the playlet.

Little Miss Ruth Westover was heard in a reading that was delightfully given and much enjoyed by all of the audience.

The evening closed with the serving of refreshments by the hostesses to add to the completion of an ideal evening.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF JANET MEISINGER

Hush, hush for the day is still The angels fall on their knees to adore
The little girl who will be their playmate,
Who was once so happy before.

She will be happier in heaven than here,
No happiness as in heaven will compare.
Many will mourn for her on earth,
But in heaven are waiting for her up there.

We miss our dear little girl,
To us she was our only and very dear,
Perhaps she is thinking now of us
And saying, "I wish they were with me up here."

Now we must tell her goodbye,
We know we will see her no more
Until we too must give up this life,
And meet her on that Golden Shore.
—Dorothy Ulrich.

RIVERVIEW CLUB

The Riverview club met at the home of Mrs. Slagle and Mrs. Kuhns on Feb. 4, 1936 which was to be held on Jan. 28 at the home of Mrs. Brinklow with Mrs. L. Sack assistant hostess. Due to bad roads none of the east end members was able to attend, so the president, Mrs. Slagle, called a meeting so we could have a chance to get the interesting lesson on "Home Needlework." Seven members were present, a few learned to crochet the chain stitch. Mrs. Hull, one of the leaders, had a sample of each couching, candlewicking, French net, mesh, simple trim, fillet, double stitch, shell stitch, waffle stitch, needle point and fagoting which was very interesting to study. Several songs were sung. The meeting was adjourned to meet again in February. A very appetizing lunch was served by our hostesses.
