HOOVER STOPS IN ARIZONA

Chandler, Ariz.—Herbert Hoover, en route to Colorado Springs, Colo., to address a republican meeting, stopped here for a rest. He plans to resume his trip Friday. Former Gov. Frank Lowden of Illinois is spending the winter at the hotel where Mr. Hoover stopped.

NEWSPAPER ADS CHEAPEST

Minneapolis.—Newspaper want ads and farm sales are closely tied together, it was said. Donald M. Johnson, advertising manager of the Federal Land bank of St. Paul, told the real estate section of the fieldmen's meeting that "newspaper want ads are the least expensive and most effective means of finding buyers for farms." Inquiries for farms resulting from want ads in daily papers, he said, cost the Federal Land bank 16 cents as compared with a cost of $2 to $7 per inquiry resulting from direct mail advertising. "Last year," he said, "we sold close to $340,000 worth of farm real estate thru these little want ads at a cost of approximately four-tenths of one percent."

BODIES FOUND IN A CREEK

Jacksonville, Fla.—A man booked as M. C. Powell was charged with the slaying of his wife and mother-in-law after their bodies, one nude and the other nearly so, were found in a creek in Nassau county. Mrs. Powell's body was unclad when found by two fishermen, and her mother, Mrs. Lou E. Speers, was clothed only in a corset and stockings. The abdomens of both had been slashed. Powell, who reported the women had been missing from their home since Sunday when they left to attend a motion picture show, had been held by police for questioning since Thursday.

VOTE TO RATIFY PACT

Paris.—The senate foreign affairs committee voted 19 to 4 to ratify the Franco-soviet mutual assistance pact, already approved by the chamber of deputies.

Co-Operation is Necessary in Crime Curbing

Attorney General Cummings in Rotarian Tells of Need for General Move Against Crime.

If we are to achieve progress in the national movement against crime, says Homer S. Cummings, attorney general of the United States, in the Rotarian Magazine, the co-operation of the community is essential. Its role is quite as important, and its responsibility as great, as that of the federal, state, or local governments in coping with the seriousness of this menace to society.

"Without the intelligent co-operation of all citizens, without community support and interest," he urges, "no people can achieve a control over crime. In the United States, crime control must necessarily depend as much on the county sheriff and the local law enforcement officers, as upon the federal agents and the police forces of the cities. More vitally, it is to an enlightened public opinion to which we must look for the cure of the causes of crime as well as the apprehension of the criminal.

"The roots of crime reach out into the community," Mr. Cummings continues, "... whether it be city or hamlet in which the criminal first embarks on his career. It is here, therefore, that the initial opportunity lies for prevention. The betterment of schools, the elimination of slums, the improvement of working conditions and of homes—these and other social advances all help to remove crime-breeding environments, and thus the number of recruits for the crime army of tomorrow.

"Important, too, is a better co-ordination between local police authorities and citizens. Public support in full measure is needed, if the work of law enforcement officers is to be effective. The citizens of each community must understand the work and problems of the law enforcement officers, and they need to be kept informed of what these officers are doing."

"It is essential also that the public insist that the law enforcement agencies be staffed with the best possible personnel. Security of jobs is desirable, in order to maintain a maximum efficiency. Other factors making for more efficient personnel are adequate salaries, freedom from political interference, and high professional standards of training for all."

CARBON MONOXIDE POISON?

Whether Edith B. Stone, widow of a Chattanooga dentist, is entitled to recover $10,000 or $600 only from the Physicians Casualty association of Omaha was argued and submitted to the supreme court Wednesday. The smaller amount, under the terms of the policy, was payable only when death followed suffocation from illuminating or other gases or when poison was taken accidentally.

Dr. Stone died from carbon monoxide poisoning, being found in his garage with his motor running. His widow claims that carbon monoxide is not a gas, that he did not die from suffocation, and that while it is a poison the policy clause meant the smaller amount would be paid when poison was taken accidentally whereas in this case death resulted from an involuntary act on his part. The company took the position that it was a case of suicide and cited the fact that some time before he had been found in his office with gas jets open. The plaintiff said that this was accidental and occurred after he had been out to a convivial professional meeting.

WOMAN FATALLY BURNED

North Platte.—Mrs. Francis A. Seaton, sr., pioneer resident of the Wallace vicinity, was fatally burned at the home of her son, Merton Seaton, the son, was in town. Neighbors heard screams and saw Mrs. Seaton in the front yard, her clothes ablaze. Relatives believed her clothes must have caught fire when she attempted to light an oil stove.

WOMAN DIES IN FALL

Chicago.—Mrs. Algona Wright, 29, member of a Chicago family noted in the law and judiciary, died of injuries suffered in a three story drop from a window of the apartment where she lived with her father, Walter S. Trude. Mrs. Wright's father believes she fell while opening a window.

Rock surfacing of farm-to-market roads this winter will be of benefit to every resident and land owner in Cass county.

Gov. Cochran Has Opponent

Anton H. Jensen of Lincoln Files Unicameral Legislative Filings Reaches Total of 259.

Lincoln, Neb., March 5.—As the list of candidates for 43 seats in the one-house legislature reached 259 at the close of filings tonight, a candidate entered the democratic primary against Governor R. L. Cochran.

The new opponent is Anton H. Jensen of Lincoln, unsuccessful primary candidate in 1930. A total of 57 filings for all offices was made today. The republican column was headed by Dwight Griswold of Gordon, republican gubernatorial nominee in the last two state elections. Also entered are O. S. Spillman of Norfolk, former state attorney general, former Mayor William Madgett of Hastings and Stanley Wright of Alliance. Petitions were filed for Roland V. Rodman, Kimball attorney, but he has announced he will not run.

Most of the legislative candidates are members or former members of the two-house body. However, several of Norris' prominent admirers filed in the hope of fulfilling his belief the change would provide better lawmakers.

John N. Norton of Polk, former democratic congressman, and Charles E. Sandall of York, former republican United States district attorney for Nebraska, were among those to file. Former Congressman Edgar Howard, Columbus democrat, came out of retirement following six terms in Washington to run for lieutenant governor in the hope of presiding over the unicameral legislature.

John A. Boelts of St. Libory, who failed in sponsoring a unicameral proposal six years ago, filed for a seat. Seven women are in the unicameral races. Of the total, 76 were former members of the present bicameral legislature—22 senators and 54 representatives—and 33 were members of former legislatures.

State Land Commissioner Leo N. Swanson, Omaha republican, was the only executive state officer to escape competition in the primary.

McKELVIE EARLY TO SHOW

Fort Worth, Tex.—A former governor of Nebraska apparently believes in the old proverb: "It's better to be an hour early, etc." He came to Fort Worth to attend the southwestern exposition and fat stock show just ten days too soon. Mr. and Mrs. Sam R. McKelvie, en route home from a trip to Jamaica and Haiti, arrived here and asked to be taken to the stock show. It doesn't open until March 13. They promised to come back.
