Omaha. - Police Commissioner Knudsen is investigating "push the button" traffic lights such as are in use in some California cities, with a 20.70 view to installation of such lights here. The "push the button" lights 3.65 are designed for use at intersections where automobile traffic is light and pedestrian traffic heavy. The pedes-1.51 trian pushes a button on the iron pole where the traffic light is located. 17.50 This turns on the red light and the pedestrian immediately gets the right-of-way.

You wouldn't start out on a long trip intending to drive a few miles the first day and then rest up for a week or a month before continuing. Yet that's the way a great many merchants conduct their advertising campaign. Little wonder it doesn't get results.
