YOUNG PEOPLE AND COMMUNISM

While the propaganda of atheistic Communism is much abroad, young men and women are being trained at The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago to combat error by an understanding and right use of the word of God. A new course is now offered for the training of English speaking Russian Christians, that they may do evangelistic teaching and preaching among the Russian people of this continent and Europe, in the hope that a door to service in Russia will eventually be opened. This course, as also the general course and all others, is provided without tuition cost to all institute students.

The Bible ranks first in all institute courses, but instruction is furnished in such subjects as Sunday School Administration, Daily Vacation Bible School, Gospel Music, Public Speaking, Home Economics, Hygiene, and Manual Training. In special courses are offered Theology, Homiletics, Church History, Apologetics, Hebrew, Yiddish, Greek, and medical subjects for foreign mission work.

There are three terms a year—fall, winter and summer—but students may enter at any time. An illustrated catalogue will be mailed on request. Address, 153 Institute Place, Chicago Avenue Station, Chicago, Ill.

FAIL TO REACH OFFICIALS

Washington. — Several hundred delegates attending the second national convention of the Workers Alliance of America made an orderly demonstration at the white house during an unsuccessful attempt to petition officials for an expansion of WPA activities.

The alliance is an organization of WPA workers, unemployed persons and cotton share croppers. David Lasser, of New York, national chairman, headed the men and women delegates who marched four abreast in a long column extending two city blocks.

At the gates of the white house executive offices, Lasser and his aides were told by the captain of the white house police that no executive officials were present and that therefore the delegation could not be received officially. Lasser, who estimated 800 persons were in the parade, said approximately 200 delegates were stranded here because of expenses involved in attending the convention.

HONOR UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Omaha.—A group of Omaha Boy Scouts plan to conduct burial rites Saturday afternoon in Hummel park here for an unknown soldier, whose remains were uncovered two weeks ago by a WPA grading crew working at the park.

The skeleton, encased in a hand-made walnut casket draped with flags, will be placed with ceremonial honors in a grave overlooking the Missouri river. The wooded spot was set aside by the city park department with the hope it will become a perpetual shrine for scouts.

Dr. Robert P. Gilder, Omaha archeologist, identified the skeleton as that of a war veteran of pioneer days from a military service button found among the bones. It at first was thought to be that of an Indian.

Crop Variety Tests Planned by Farmers

Seek Improved Varieties of Small Grains, Alfalfa, Corn and Sorghum.

The most ambitious co-operative crop variety test program in the history of Nebraska was announced for 1936 from the college of agriculture. Scores of farmers in all sections of the state will co-operate with the agronomy department in securing data on improved small grain varieties, alfalfa, corn and sorghums.

P. H. Stewart, extension agronomist at the college, made public a partial list of the co-operative tests. The undertaking, he said, will provide valuable information on the various crops in all sections. The increased activity in such tests for 1936 is due to requests on the part of farmers for such work. They had previously asked for tests in 1936 on a large scale, indicating their interest in improved varieties.

Only the oats and barley tests were announced, plans for the other crop tests to be completed and announced later. A total of 22 Nebraska counties are co-operating in the oat tests: Cass, Saunders, Colfax, Knox, Madison, Nance, Hamilton, Adams, Kearney, Harlan, Frontier, Thayer, Cheyenne, Scottsbluff, Morrill, Box Butte, Sheridan, Garden, Dixon, Hayes, Sarpy, Phelps.

Eight varieties are now being seeded in the co-operative tests on farms: Nebraska 21, Iogold, Burt 520, Burt 529, Bruner, Burt 2491, Kanota and local lots. Previous tests have shown that Nebraska's climate favors early maturing varieties of oats. Early types such as Kherston, Burt, Texas Red and selections from these on the average yield about 15 percent more than the late types such as Swedish Select, Green Russian and Banner.

Logold, very resistant to rust, has been the highest yielding variety in past years with Nebraska 21 standing second.

Farmers in 21 counties are also co-operating in the barley tests which will soon be planted: Nemaha, Johnson, Saunders, Madison, Nance, Howard, Kearney, Frontier, Lincoln, Garden, Cheyenne, Morrill, Dawes, Sheridan, Knox, Burt, Cumings, Clay, Hayes, Perkins, Hamilton.

Varieties to be planted in these tests include Short Comfort, Trebl, Wisconsin 38, Spartan, Velvet, Club Marjout, Ezond and local lots. Considerable interest revolves around the tests since there is an increasing interest in barley production in Nebraska. Acreage, due largely to the introduction of improved strains, has increased rapidly since 1925. Trebl retains the lead in yield per acre among all varieties tested over a period of years and is well adapted to all parts of the state. Glabron and Spartan are inclined to shatter some if allowed to get too ripe before harvest. Velvet is in demand for malting.

LANDON SUPPORTER WINS

St. Paul.—Sentiment for Governor Landon as the republican party's presidential candidate predominated at seven district conventions which named 14 uninstructed delegates to the national G. O. P. conclave at Cleveland in June.

Landon supporters succeeded in electing two delegates from each of three districts friendly to the Kansas governor's presidential aspirations as his party's standard bearer in the 1936 political campaign.

Advocates of Col Frank Knox's candidacy saw two delegates favoring his nomination, selected in the seventh district, while the ninth district named representatives friendly to both Landon and Knox. In each instance, however, delegates were uninstructed.

GUILTY OF MURDER

Los Angeles.—Mrs Grace DuBois, 60, was convicted of murder on the state's charge that she slew her son to terminate the family line because the men were "too gentle" to cope with economic conditions. The jury recommended life imprisonment for the inoffensive appearing widow who denied the killing.

Roosevelt Appears as a 'Vote Getter'

Wisconsin Poll Favors President; Borah Wins Party Fight; Hoan Re-elected.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 8.—In an election in which the La Follette progressive party was the big question mark, President Roosevelt today emerged as the big vote getter. His presidential preference vote in yesterday's election, on the basis of incomplete returns, was expected to mount to 350 thousand—about 180 thousand greater than the preference vote for Senator William E. Borah, who succeeded in winning the large majority of Wisconsin's delegation to the republican national convention.

With all but four hundred of the state's 2,913 precincts reported Roosevelt topped the highest of 24 delegates elected to support him at Philadelphia by 130 thousand votes. Borah ran ahead of his ticket by more than 40 thousand.

In these figures was believed the answer to the question of how progressive voters, lacking advice from party leadership, cast their ballots. The returns showed great numbers of voters were interested only in the preferential votes for Roosevelt and Borah and did not bother to mark ballots for candidates pledged to them. The presidential vote was only advisory.

Wisconsin law requires no advance registration by parties for either the delegate or preferential primary elections. The democratic ballot listed the names of President Roosevelt and the delegate at large candidates and candidates for the particular congressional district below. The republican ballot carried only the names of Borah and the candidates at large and by districts on the Borah and unplugged slates.

Voters could mark either the democratic or republican ballot and were required to return the unmarked. Available returns showed Borah forces winning all four of the delegates at large and all but three of the 20 congressional district seats. In each of three districts the vote was split between one Borah man and one of the uninstructed slate backed by the state republican committee.

Landon Defeated.
 In a statement at Chicago Senator Borah predicted that Illinois on April 14 will go as Wisconsin did "if we can have an untrammelled expression of the people."

In the Seventh Congressional district, where the strength of Governor Alf Landon of Kansas was put to its only test, two Landon pledged candidates were trailing Borah and uninstructed candidates with half the 355 precincts reported. The leading Landon candidate was 2,040 votes behind the leading Borah man and 851 votes behind the leading uninstructed candidate.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, after the most spirited race of his long political career, staved off the challenge of Sheriff Joseph W. Shinnars, backed by republicans and democrats, but he faced the prospect of a four-year tenure without veto power over the city council.

The youths denied guilt and will be given a preliminary hearing Friday.

Compensation Rates to Employers are Lower

Cost of Basic Premiums Will Be Cut June 30 in Most Industries; Vary Widely.

The Nebraska compensation court was informed Wednesday of substantial reductions in the basic premium rates on workmen's compensation insurance for most classifications in Nebraska. Big reductions were made in street, road and power line building, and power company and beet sugar industries.

The changes, effective June 30, vary widely on different types of employes. On packing house employes and in a few other industries the rates are higher, and in some cases there will be no change.

The rate alteration was announced by the national council for compensation insurance. The cause for the changes was not given, but the legislature which created the court last year was told the new setup would tend to bring Nebraska rates down. Nebraska rates generally are higher than those of neighboring states.

Comparisons of rates per $100 of payroll on employes of some of Nebraska's common industries follow:

SUGAR TOO HIGH, MOVES

Omaha.—Morris Fox, president and treasurer of the F. & F. laboratories of Omaha, manufacturers of cough drops, said the company's plant would be moved to Chicago next month. Fox said the move to Chicago was being made because sugar, one of the principal ingredients of the cough drops, could be purchased cheaper there than in Omaha. Fox said he understood the differential in the cost of sugar in Omaha and Chicago was due to a basing point system of marketing prevailing in the sugar industry and thru which a "phantom" freight charge is imposed on consumers from base cities regardless of where the sugar originates.

Aurora, Neb.—Arnold Uplinger, 76, inmate of an Aurora home for the aged, suffered a fatal head gash in an unknown manner Wednesday. He died shortly after he was found on a railroad track here by the crew of a motor car.

Candling of Eggs Urged by State Officials

W. B. Banning, Head of Department of Agriculture and Inspection Sends Out Warning.

The state department of agriculture and inspection, of which W. B. Banning, of Union, is the head, has sent out notice that the law relative to the candling of eggs is to be strictly enforced in the state.

The department in the following communication to the dealers is stating its position:

"Eggs are to be candled when sold. For many years, there has been a candling law on our statutes, which plainly states that when eggs are bought or sold, they must be candled and the candler must fill out a certificate, giving the date, his name and the company he represents; this candling certificate to be placed in the top of the case.

"Owing to the fact that some 5000 companies and individuals buy eggs in the state, it has been a difficult matter to enforce this law. Many of these egg buyers are store keepers, who operate in a small way. They receive eggs from the farmer and as a rule, pay for them in groceries. This practice has led to the violation of the law, due to the fact that the grocer being busy will put off candling, and many eggs reach the market uncandled. Such a practice is detrimental to both producer and consumer, because uncandled eggs will depress the price. The merchant will buy at a low figure in order to play safe and be able to discard, if he is compelled to, such eggs as are unfit for sale.

"All farmers who produce good eggs, giving them proper care; collecting frequently; keeping them cool and getting them to the market at the earliest possible moment should be rewarded. A strict enforcement of the candling law will improve the eggs of the state and with this, improve the price.

"A well attended meeting of the poultry and egg industry was held in Grand Island on March 31st. The subject of egg candling was discussed and it was universally agreed that this law should be enforced.

"About 60% of the Nebraska eggs are sold outside the state; going principally to the big cities of the east. This means we are competing with all the states of the union and the quality of our product will largely determine the demand and the price."

CLOSE MAILS ON LOTTERIES

Washington.—The Grand National Treasure Hunt, Inc., and the Association for Legalizing American Lotteries, Inc., both operated from New York, Friday were barred from use of the mails on charges of "violating the postal fraud and lottery statutes." Issuance of a single "fraud order" against the "treasure hunt" and the association by Acting Postmaster General Howes, effective immediately, was the first postoffice ruling to result from a protracted series of recent hearings on various "contest" organizations. Early rulings were indicated at the postoffice on the Golden Stakes Advertising company, of which Alfred E. Smith, Jr., is vice president and counsel, and on the National Conference for Legalizing Lotteries, Inc., of which Mrs. Oliver Harriman of New York, is president. Mrs. Harriman's organization was not charged with fraud, but only with operating a lottery.
