Warm Weather Aids Dairymen in Production

Good Dairy Cows in Greater Demand, More Sold for Breeding Purposes in March.

Return of more favorable weather conditions accounted for a rise in butterfat production in Nebraska dairy herd improvement associations during March, M. N. Lawritson, extension dairyman at the college of agriculture, declared in his monthly dairy report.

Cows on test averaged 28.3 pounds fat. More than 3,000 cows were tested during the month. An increase in demand for good dairy cows was noted in the report with more animals sold for breeding purposes than during the previous month.

The Douglas-Sargy association lead the month. A total of 254 cows averaged 34.3 pounds butterfat. The Platte Valley association ranked second and the Cornhusker third with Dawson county in fourth place.

Fred Leibers, Bennet, had the high herd in the 5 to 15 cow class. His Holsteins averaged 56.8 pounds. In the 16 cow or more division, the high ranking herd belonged to A. W. Ackerman, Bennington. They were registered Holsteins.

Honor for having the highest butterfat producing cow in Nebraska dairy herd improvement associations for March went to A. W. Ackerman of Bennington. His registered Holstein made a record of 121.8 pounds fat. The Girl's Training school at Norfolk owned the second high cow. The third high animal belonged to D. D. Thayer of Monroe.

ASKS A FURTHER PROBE

Grand Island.—Dr. L. Philan, medical member of the Hall county sanitary board, recommended further study of Emil Martens, Schleswig, Ia., who came here April 16 for the avowed purpose of killing Joe Sprague, auto salesman; Ellis Anderson, a mechanic and T. F. Kinnman, auto agency head.

Dr. Philan said his preliminary investigation of Martens failed to establish whether the man could be listed as incompetent. In a letter to County Attorney Kelly the physician recommended that Martens be placed in an institution where his mental reactions can be further studied.

Martens, according to authorities, still threatens to "get" the three Grand Island men upon his release. He wished to shoot them, he said, because they had testified against him in a law suit in Iowa on April 6. When arrested he was carrying a loaded revolver.

Farm Women of the World to Visit Capital

Triennial Conference Will Take 1,500 Farm Women to Washington This Year.

Nebraska farm women, who have increased vastly their social activities in the last few years, now are planning on taking an active part in a world wide event which will bring together rural women from all countries.

It is the third triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World which is attracting their attention. An assembly of some 1,500 rural women representing more than 10 nationally organized associations in the 40 nations in the world will convene under one roof for a study of their mutual problems.

Plans now are going forward rapidly for having Nebraska represented at this gathering in Washington, May 31-June 6. Probably 30 farm women from various sections will make the trip.

In Washington they will mingle with rural women of other countries. A program, promoting good-will among women of all nations, has been arranged. Among the general topics for discussion by delegates at the conference are: "Safer Motherhood," "How Rural Women are Meeting Their Economic Problems," "Cultural Interests of Rural Homemakers" and "International Relations as they Affect the Rural Home."

The formal opening of the conference will be held at noon Monday, June 1, at which time Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will address the group. There will be motor trips around the city followed by a garden party for the women given by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. One evening occasion will include a program of music and folk dancing at which many of the women from overseas will wear their traditional national costumes while the women from English speaking countries will wear period costumes.

FROST STILL IN GROUND

Officials of the state highway department announce the frost isn't out of the ground yet. The weather's been generally above freezing for more than a month, but on some gravel roads the frost below the surface interferes with drainage.

East of Merriman, road crews tried unsuccessfully to dynamite holes in the frosted earth along a road, but found blasts strong enough to accomplish the job might damage the highway, said P. H. Kletsch, state maintenance engineer. He reported several stretches of gravel in the same condition.

A. T. Lobdell, chief of the bureau of roads and bridges, said a friend told him some winter-frozen water pipes at Lawrence, in Nuckolls county, haven't been thawed out yet.

Nebraska had some of the worst cold in history during January and February.

SAYS TEACHERS UNDERPAID

Omaha.—Homer W. Anderson, superintendent of schools, told the Nebraska Association of University Women here Saturday that "salaries of rural school teachers in many of Nebraska counties average less than what we pay our maids in Omaha and less than the WPA workers."

"Nebraska has only one source of school revenue—the property tax," he continued. "The reduction in assessed valuation has cut the source of revenue from 20 to 40 percent, depending on the counties. The decrease in assessed valuation has continued from the lowest point of the depression thru 1935. Teachers salaries are still going down except in a few instances. If prosperity comes back within five years and if there is no increase in school funds the school funds the schools will break down," he asserted.

DIES FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

Wahoo, Neb.—Clyde Garrison, about 26, of Ashland, was injured fatally and Ivan Johnson, about 27, of Wahoo, was injured seriously in a motor truck accident at the edge of town here Monday night.

Garrison died in a Wahoo hospital two hours after the accident from a crushed chest and internal injuries. Johnson suffered body bruises and shock, and physicians said his condition was not critical.

The truck in which the men were riding went over an embankment on a highway No. 77 curve and overturned several times in a deep ditch. Garrison is survived by his wife. He was connected with the Ashland Dead Animal service.

TAB ON PATIENT'S CREDIT

York, Neb.—Members of the York Dental association organized a credit association at a meeting here. Under the set up, each dentist will turn over to all other members of the association a list of his patients who allow their accounts to become delinquent. Accounts not paid within 60 days will be considered delinquent, unless satisfactory credit arrangements have been made.

Association members asserted some patients have unpaid accounts with one dentist and then switch to another dentist when in need of dental work.
