"MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM"

Premiere Production of Plattsburgh Dramatic Club.

POP LADEN WITH ALCOHOL

"That's the strongest pop I ever tasted," said Chairman Gass of the state liquor commission Monday when invited by Joseph Kastner of Nebraska City to sample a bottle he said his granddaughter bought in the hamburger establishment of William W. Metz, Jr. Others, including Metz, agreed it was strongly tinged with alcohol. It developed, however, that the purchase was made before young Metz got a license to sell beer. Liquor Inspector Buss testified when he entered the place not long ago the man on duty ran to the back room as soon as he spied him and he ran after him. There he found two men who had been playing cards. Each had a whisky bottle. They said they had brought them in there. Metz insisted he could not possibly prevent this being done, when he was not watching. He said he had fired the man. He also said he had discharged a man who had brought liquor into the place and caused Metz to be prosecuted and fined $100. His appeal has been pending a year.

Kastner and his wife complained the place was kept open all night, and a vacant lot in the rear was the scene of repeated carousals, disturbing their tenants. Metz's father, who made the pop, said it was all spite-work, and expressed the opinion that Kastner had put the alcohol in the bottle, which brought Kastner to his feet in indignant protest.

VISIT RELATIVES HERE

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Hassler and children, of Omaha, were in the city to enjoy a few hours visit with Mrs. William Hassler and Miss Anna Hassler at the family home. Mr. Hassler is engaged in traveling for one of the large drug houses of the west.

KENNAMER APPEAL DENIED

Oklahoma City.—Phil Kennamer, 19 year old son of a federal judge, was ordered by the criminal court of appeals to surrender Wednesday to serve a 25 year manslaughter sentence in the 1934 Tulsa "society" slaying of John F. Gorrell, jr. The court's ruling closed Kennamer's last state legal avenue of escape. The youth indicated he was prepared to obey the mandate. He had no comment.

Informed of the court action, Governor E. W. Marland said he would give no clemency to the youth "during my administration."

Kennamer was convicted in February, 1935, for the admitted slaying of Gorrell Tulsa dental student.

In the day's action, Judges T. H. Doyle, T. A. Edwards and James S. Davenport unanimously denied the defense plea for a new appeal ruling end then enjoined the trial court from vacating the conviction.

PRODUCTION BOOST NEEDED

Omaha.—T. M. Hayes of St. Louis, assistant general manager of the Wabash railroad, said in an address Thursday night that recovery is dependent upon increased production and proper distribution "and cannot come from their curtailment."

"The major part of the increase in production, which must come if we are to have permanent recovery, must occur in the durable goods industries, where the recession has been the greatest," he said. "The buying of durable goods hinges on the prospects which the industries that buy durable goods have of earning reasonable profits."

"See it before you buy it."

SLAYERS GET 199 YEARS

Chicago.—Durland Nash and Robert Goethe, both 19, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Dr. Silber C. Peacock, child specialist who was lured to his death by a spurious sick call Jan. 2, were sentenced to 199 years in prison each by Criminal Court Judge Joseph Burke.

Nebraska is one of but very few states that has no bonded indebtedness.
