DEN SHOW AND RACE TICKETS AVAILABLE

A supply of the complimentary den show and race tickets, good on Southeastern Nebraska day, Monday, June 8, has been received here and may be obtained at the Bates Book Store or Conis Shining Parlor.

Present indications point to the usual large crowd from here attending the den show in the evening, and in addition a good many will go up for the afternoon racing program. Although no admission is charged to holders of these complimentary tickets to the races, there are certain state and federal taxes that cannot be waived, amounting in all to 25 cents per person. It is this state tax money, coupled with some of the proceeds from the pari-mutuel betting that is apportioned back to the various county fairs of the state, and the law prescribes that the tax must be paid, even on complimentary admissions.

Those desiring tickets can obtain just the kind they will require—one type good for both the races and show and the other good only for the night show—by calling for same at either of the above mentioned places of business.

A delay in getting the tickets here this year may inconvenience some, but there is still ample time and will be ample tickets for all who desire to go.

Present indications are that the new Murray-Lewiston band under the direction of James Smith, will accompany the Cass county delegation to the show. Mr. Smith took his Lewiston band up three years ago.

COLLECTIONS SLOWED UP

Progress in the "150 Club" membership drive has been slowed up a good deal since the last report a few days ago. As a result, there is still a marked shortage in money required to meet the area dues, to say nothing of overhead expense.

Only about half the solicitors allotted lists of names to be seen and a return made thereon, have submitted their reports, the other half leaving the committee in the dark as to how much has really been paid in.

Dues collected should be turned in to E. H. Wescott, accompanied by a statement showing those paid. Splendid progress has been made in Scouting during the last couple of years, and it is hoped to keep up the good record.
