

Happiest Time of Year Here for Flower Lovers

Abundant Supply of Year's Greatest Variety of Blossoms at a Small Outlay.

June is a happy month for the flower lover. There are hundreds of flowers in season, enough to keep the whole house ablaze with color, from cheerful plants on the porch, to sweet peas in the boudoir.

The best part of it all is that in June, flowers are perhaps most economical of all the year, and although one does not care to speak of flowers in terms of bargains, who will deny that cost is not an important item!

First, there are roses. We have them all year round, and they seem welcome at all times, but in their own best month of June, when they bloom under the sun's heat instead of costly steam heat in the greenhouse, we can enjoy them abundantly.

Then, there are the garden bowers. Delphiniums and larkspurs are two of the most beautiful. Their tall, stately spikes, always shaded in cooling colors, make a fine display for any large room. Place them in a tall vase, atop the piano, or as a centerpiece for a living room table. They look best where they have plenty of room to be seen.

The huge snow-white blossoms of candytuft are richly decorative. They also come in colors, but the whites are best, and the largest. For bright, cheerful colors, there is no better flower than the Shirley poppies. They fairly shout for attention, and if you want to change the whole aspect of a room by drawing attention away from old objects and corners, make a display of these June sparklers. They are not good keepers, and should be moved as little as possible.

The peony, with its gorgeous blossom and delicate fragrance, is the flower of June. For the large arrangement, or for sheer quantity of color it has no peer, either in display quality or value.

While at the florists' get a few bachelor buttons, not only for a small arrangement, but to wear on afternoon street clothes. The gladiolus, which will be available for the next few months, is beginning to be offered. Carnations may be scarce but there are always a few to be had, and a single bloom for a boutonniere is always in style.

The bright marigolds in their variations of gold and red are fine June flowers. The new ones do not have the objectionable marigold odor, and are excellent material either for cut flowers or pot plants. There are still a few stocks with their delicate fragrance, and a few snapdragons, throughout June.

It is a fine time to satisfy your longing for sweet peas. Get them in large bunches and make more than one display in the house. The breakfast room, the upstairs hall, the dining room table will all be more attractive for their beauty.

FALSTAFFS SWAMP MURRAY

From Tuesday's Daily:
Last evening Donat's Falstaffs kitenball team swamped the Murray softballers by the one-sided score of 29 to 8 in a comedy of wildness and errors that permitted the suds hoisters to slide through without effort.

The first inning opened in good form with Murray taking one run and the Falstaffs two, but then came the deluge of walks and errors as well as extra base hits that swept the visitors down to defeat.

The box score of the game was as follows:

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Contryman and daughter, Dorothy, of Oshkosh, Nebraska, were visitors last week at the home of Mrs. Contryman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Oliver. Miss Contryman had just finished teaching a very successful school term in the western part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Contryman were accompanied by their son, Orin, who is a student at the University of Nebraska. He returned to his home with his parents Monday morning. Mr. Contryman and family were dinner guests Sunday of the Harry Henton family.

VISITS IN WEST

Mr. Harvey Eggeling, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lillie of this city, left late Saturday evening on the Zephyr for a short trip to the western part of the state. While away he will visit both relatives and friends in and near McCook, Nebr.

START CHURCH REPAIRING

From Monday's Daily:
The work of repairing the steeple on the First Presbyterian church was started this morning by the Gilmore company of Omaha. The steeple was damaged last fall by lightning and while the lower portion has been fixed up the top of the steeple will require a great deal of repair.

1935 Cost of Relief Exceeds the 1934 Total

Administrator Harry Hopkins Makes Final FERA Report on Spending of Four Billions.

Washington.—In a final report on the federal emergency relief administration, Harry L. Hopkins said that relief activities cost the federal government nearly 300 millions more in 1935 than in 1934.

His report showed also that from Jan. 1, 1933, to Dec. 31, 1935, when the federal government ended the so-called dole, the total cost of relief was $4,096,433,367. Of this amount the federal government supplied $2,905,701,296, or 70.9 percent; state governments, $522,779,649 and local communities $667,952,422.

Altho the new work relief program which was started last August attained its goal of 3,500,000 jobs in December, FERA spent $1,359,980,575 during the year. This compared with $1,065,004,451 in 1934 and $480,716,270 in 1933.

Because of the delay in getting the new program under way, $935,930,085 was required to taper off FERA instead of the 880 millions estimated when the 5 billion work relief fund was made available.

Hopkins' report, made as senate and house conferees strove for an agreement on a new $1,425,000,000 appropriation for the works progress administration, did not include the $833,965,000 of federal funds spent on the old CWA, WPA expenditures, or activities of other agencies such as PWA and the civilian conservation corps.

During the three years state and local relief contributions amounted to $663,000,000—$196,697,293, or 29.7 percent of the total cost in 1933; $224,564,038, or 15.3 percent in 1934; $241,745,894 or 13.3 percent in 1935.

Federal expenditures for the three years varied from $385,599,738 in New York to $2,193,756 in Delaware. In all southern states the federal contribution was 90 percent or more of the total, but the report said the cost of relief was much less there because of the smaller payments to families. Hopkins reported the total cost of Displaying some of the speed that won her honors as a member of the Olympic relay team in 1932, Annette Rogers of Chicago trains in preparation for the Central A. A. U. women's track meet to be held in the Windy City. The team of which she was a member set a world's record in the last Olympic.

relief in Nebraska from Jan. 1, 1933, to Dec. 31, 1935, was $28,091,783, with the federal cost $21,583,108, none paid by the state and 23.2 percent furnished locally.

CASS CO. WILDLIFE CONVENTION

The convention for the organization of the Cass County Wildlife Federation will meet at the office of the County Agent in Weeping Water on Friday, June 19th, 1936, at 2:00 o'clock p. m. It is important that all delegates and persons interested be present.

A. L. TIDD, Chairman.

TO CALL LAND BANK LOANS

Washington.—Gov. Myers of the farm credit administration announced approximately $83,125,000 of 4 1-4 percent individual federal land bank bonds would be called Wednesday. The administration further announced it contemplated a new issue of approximately $82,000,000 of consolidated federal land bank bonds to be offered to the public June 11. The called bonds will be refunded with the proceeds from the sale of the new issue together with cash on hand. The new issue will bear 3 percent interest. It will be callable in 9 1-2 years and will mature in 19 1-2 years.

MARRIED AT NEBRASKA CITY

Tuesday at Nebraska City occurred the marriage of Mrs. Cleo Ward Lawrence of Thurman, Iowa, and Mr. Frank Martis of Murray, one of the well known young men of that community. The marriage ceremony was performed last evening by Justice of the Peace Frank Painter. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martis of near this city.

Improvement of farm-to-market roads will help everyone in Cass county.
