

Roosevelt Honors Texas Heros at San Jacinto

More Social Workers Needed to Merit Relief

Federal Funds Are Being Held Up Pending Action by State Committee.

The full list of changes in Nebraska's "social security" program requested by the federal social security board was revealed by State Assistance Director Tolen.

Tolen said he had not been officially notified that the state's quarterly allotment from the federal government, amounting to nearly $700,000 being held up until the changes are made but said "it begins to look that way."

Tolen said he and Federal Field Representative and State NERA Administrator Witte had discussed the suggested modifications and that he had presented them to the state assistance committee. They are:

That a competent case supervisor, with training and experience in social welfare work, be appointed.

That the counties be grouped into districts for efficient administration.

That a competent field supervisor, also with training and experience in social welfare work, be appointed for each of the districts.

That an auditor for each district be appointed to examine the records of the county assistance committee.

That the dependent children's program, now under the jurisdiction of the child welfare department, be turned over to the case supervisor.

That the state assistance committee take steps eventually toward obtaining more competent personnel among county workers.

AK-SAR-BEN PROPERTY IS HELD TAX FREE

Ak-Sar-Ben property in Omaha, assessed in 1930 at $268,000 and during that same year exempted by the Douglas county board of taxation, will remain tax free under an opinion given by the attorney general to State Tax Commissioner Smith.

Assistant General Vail in answering, holds the association to be a non-profit organization and that its property is devoted mainly to agricultural purposes, similar in purpose to the agricultural societies and the state fair. Agricultural purposes dominate, he finds, and it is not necessary to discuss whether the property is used for charitable or educational purposes.

Considering whether or not the property is used or owned for financial profit to either the owner or user, because racing meets are held each year, he finds that this is not a "commercial use." He finds that races or trials of speed are not a necessary use, yet a proper incident to the promotion of agricultural activities and cites the acts of the legislature to show that law makers consider the use of income from races to be applied in support of the organization. He holds that the use of the property for holding races is but an incidental use of the property and not its dominant use, and the county assessor was correct in granting exemption of the association's property from taxation.

PICK UP INTOXICATED MAN

From Saturday's Daily: Arthur Villaneal, a resident of the transient camp north of this city, was a resident of the city jail again this morning as the result of being picked up last night by Officers Pickrell and Stewart.

Earlier in the day Villaneal had been taken up by Chief of Police Libershal as he was apparently suffering from illness of which he is a victim, being turned over to the camp officers for medical care. The sick man however seemed to have rallied and came on back to the city to become well lit up last night and earn himself a sojourn in the city prison.

This morning Judge C. L. Graves had the prisoner before him and gave the Mexican guest ten days in the city jail on bread and milk, a favorite diet of the court. The man apparently does not have his naturalization papers and the matter of his deportation may be taken up with the federal authorities.

LUTHERAN PASTORS MEET

Columbus, Neb.—Lutheran pastors of the northern Nebraska district of the Missouri synod, comprising northern Nebraska and Wyoming, met for their annual two days conference at St. John's church, 15 miles northwest of Columbus. Registration showed 85 of the 105 pastors in the district in attendance.

Rev. W. C. Rehwalder of Norfolk was re-elected conference chairman. Other conference officers: Rev. A. H. Grosse of Cedar Bluffs, assistant chairman; Rev. M. Gerike of Casper, Wyo., secretary; Rev. C. Hellmann of Beemer, assistant secretary; Rev. S. G. Lobeck of Scribner, A. H. Grosse and P. Weinholt of Snyder, program committee. Rev. M. E. Mayer of Norfolk, district president; Rev. P. Rohlfing of Omaha and Rev. W. Brueggemann of Fremont, spoke.

USED ARTIFICIAL FEVER

Chicago.—Artificial fever was advocated by three Colorado physicians as a cure for St. Vitus dance. Thirteen cases of the nervous malady were given such treatment at the University of Colorado medical school hospital, with complete recovery in each case, they reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The experiments were performed by Dr. Clarke H. Barnacle, Dr. Jack R. Ewalt and Dr. Franklin G. Ebaugh.

The trio said they placed the patients in an air conditioned cabinet for daily two and a half hour sessions at 105 to 106 degrees Fahrenheit. All cases were either "moderate"—unable to speak coherently or feed or dress themselves—or "severe"—totally incapacitated. Whereas the disease usually requires six to ten weeks to run its course, the doctors said the artificial fever produced cures on an average of nine days. No recurrence was noted.

DEPART FOR CHICAGO

From Saturday's Daily: Mrs. Robert Hill and children departed this morning for Chicago where they will join Mr. Hill, who has been there for some time. The family will make their home in the future in Chicago and the many old time friends regret very much to see them leave the old home where they have resided since their marriage.

Jones of RFC Escapes from a Blazing Plane

Helps Pull Daring Pilots Out of Fire in Cabin; 3 Other Passengers Also Uninjured.

Dallas, June 12.—Jesse Jones, Reconstruction Finance Corp. chairman, and three other passengers were saved from a fiery death Friday by two daring pilots who raced a flaming monoplane to earth while fire raged in their compartment.

Ed Heffley, Houston, Tex., the pilot, was seriously burned about the face and arms. Co-pilot Eugene Schacher, Houston, was less seriously injured. Jones helped pull them to safety.

Jones gave them full credit for saving his life and the lives of his fellow passengers, former Governor and Mrs. W. P. Hobby and Joe Toomey, Jones' secretary, all of Houston.

All escaped injury except Hobby, who was cut slightly over the right eye.

Dive at High Speed.

The blazing monoplane, with the pilot and co-pilot facing the flames, dove at a rate estimated by Heffley at 275 miles an hour. The plane landed in a field on C. Edwards' farm near Ferris, 20 miles south of Dallas.

Jones and his fellow passengers tore open the door of the pilots' compartment and dragged Heffley and Schacher to safety. A few moments later the plane was destroyed by the blaze.

Schacher said he and Heffley smelled a gasoline leak, cut off the motor and began a gradual descent. A moment later, he said, there was a backfire and a flash of flame.

Put Into Dive.

As fire began to eat at the single-motored ship, Heffley put it into a dive.

"Pilot Heffley told me to go back and tell the passengers what had happened," Schacher said.

"I told them to fasten their safety belts, that the plane was on fire and that he would land in a hurry. They did not show any alarm, but quietly did as I told them."

Jones said Schacher then rejoined Heffley in the pilots' compartment, tightly closing the door to the passenger cabin.

His shirt spattered with blood, Jones helped attendants wheel the injured men to an emergency operating room. He insisted he was not hurt, but continually held his hand to his breastbone.

Jones was en route home after speaking at the dedication of the statue of Robert E. Lee here in connection with the centennial celebration.

400 JOBS DAUGHTERS MEET

Grand Island.—Banquets, a reception, and a dance attracted almost 400 persons here Thursday night as the Nebraska Order of Job's Daughters prepared to open its fifteenth annual good-will session Friday.

Three hundred girls attended the junior banquet in a downtown hotel. Mrs. Hazel Haythorn of Ogallala, grand guardian, and Elmer Engelhorn of Alliance, were guests of honor. At another hotel 75 persons attended a grand council banquet.

Among the program speakers will be: Millicent Loper, past supreme guardian; Nan Martin, supreme secretary; Velva Schlorff, supreme first messenger; Laura Nicholson, worthy grand matron of the Eastern Star in Nebraska; Lewis Macdonald, worthy grand patron of the Eastern Star in Nebraska; Lewis Macdonald, worthy grand patron of the Eastern Star in Nebraska; Ruby Coggins, associate grand matron of the Nebraska O. E. S.; and Gertrude Laughlin, grand chaplain of the O. E. S. in Nebraska.

Improvement of farm-to-market roads will help everyone in Cass county.

Warrants Out Accusing 27 of Terrorist Plots

Charge Conspiracies Aimed at Pair Standing in Way of Black Legion Political Drive.

Detroit.—Warrants charging 27 men with Black Legion conspiracies to murder a newspaper editor and a suburban mayor who stood in the path of the terrorists' drive for political dominance were issued.

Fifteen of the men, including several "higher ups" in the Black Legion, were named in the warrants and the other 12 were sought on "John Doe" warrants. Several of those named already were held on murder, kidnap, or arson charges, and detectives were swiftly rounding up the others.

Prosecutor McCrea charged 12 of the men named entered a "blood pact" to kill Arthur L. Kingsley, editor of a community newspaper, and that the other three plotted to slay William W. Voisine, mayor of Ecorse. Neither plot succeeded, although Voisine's home was bombed, and both he and Kingsley were hunted by picked Black Legion gunmen, the prosecutor said.

Arthur F. Lupp, state commander of the Black Legion, was charged with giving the order which sent the "death squad" after Kingsley, whose newspaper helped defeat N. Ray Markland for re-election of mayor of Highland Park in 1934.

Markland, who was recently suspended by McCrea as an assistant prosecutor, also was named, as was Leslie J. Black, president of the Wolverine republican league and a suspended common pleas court clerk.

The warrants were issued after Dayton Dean, "trigger man" in the terrorists' execution of Charles A. Poole, made a new statement relating that a squad of Black Legion members signed in blood a pact "to rub out" Kingsley.

AFTER ALLEY PROWLERS

The night police have had a great deal of trouble from persons prowling the alleys in the business section of the city at night. Some of these are on foot and others drive through the alleys with cars and trucks at all hours of the night.

The alleys are not made for a general thoroughfare and the action of parties prowling around them at night, is liable to result in trouble, as the alleys are checked several times during the night for parties that might be trying to break into some of the stores and too great a chance cannot be taken with strangers when found in these places.

OLD SETTLERS AT PALMYRA

Palmyra, Neb.—Hundreds of people gathered here Thursday for the 49th annual picnic of the Otoe county old settlers association. Gov. Cochran spoke in the afternoon recounting briefly the history of this region, and contrasting the Nebraska of today with the early territory. He recounted some of his own boyhood experiences, and told many anecdotes of pioneers, told how they laughed their troubles away, and paid tribute to the women who worked side by side with the men in developing the new country.

"Who hasn't heard," he said, "of the man who loaded a barrel into his wagon to go to the river, ten miles away, for water? When a stranger asked him why he didn't dig a well instead, he said it was just as far to water in one direction as the other. Then there was the Sunday service at a Custer county homestead where settlers traveled for miles, camping out on the way, to sing a few old hymns and hear a gospel sermon. For two hours the preacher exhorted them to beware of evil associations of the roller skating rink—and there wasn't a roller skate within 200 miles."

Rock surfacing of farm-to-market roads this winter will be of benefit to every resident and land owner in Cass county.

A WEEK SEES 22 DEATHS

Twenty-two persons were killed, 4 disabled and 312 were injured in 428 accidents in Nebraska during the week ending May 31, the weekly report of the Nebraska Press association and the state superintendent's office disclosed. The report said 11 persons were killed, 1 disabled and 125 hurt in 113 motor vehicle accidents during that period. Four deaths were caused by drowning. The tabulation:

Cause	Number Injured	Deaths
Motor vehicle	113	11
Other public	143	5
Agriculture	85	5
Industry	39	2
Home	48	2

G. O. P. Delegates Bid Farewell to Convention City

Following the nominations of Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas and Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, as the G. O. P. presidential and vice presidential candidates, respectively, delegates and visitors leave the republican national convention hall at Cleveland for the last time. Inset shows Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the republican national committee, waving farewell as the convention closes.

Wabash News

Paul Murfin was assisting with the work of putting up the hay crop at the home of Noel Golden, and they sure made the hay roll.

Miss Myrtle Woods, the Wabash rural mail carrier, is taking her vacation at this time and Guy Hinds, the substitute carrier, is looking after delivery of the mail.

Miss Teresa Colbert went to Lincoln last week to enter the University of Nebraska summer school for teachers, as she expects to teach during the coming school year.

Fred Grant and family of near Nehawka visited last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hardaway. Mr. Grant and Mrs. Hardaway are brother and sister.

H. H. Gerbeling had the misfortune to lose one of his valuable horses during the past week, the loss interfering greatly with his regular farm work, as the corn is now ready for cultivation.

Redecorating Home

John C. Browne, manager of the elevator, who makes his home in Wabash, residing in his own property here, has been having the place improved by painting, varnishing and papering the interior. He has been assisted with the work by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Stroman. The place is now in excellent condition and presents a greatly improved appearance as a result of their hard work.

Old Building to Go

The old building which is owned by L. R. Stander, Wabash merchant, and stands across the road south from the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Richards, is to be torn down and the lumber taken to the farm of L. R. Stanley, where it will be used in the construction of a hog house.

This building was erected nearly fifty years ago and was first used for a meat market by a man named Smith who conducted a business there for a time. Later it fell into possession of Joe Lorenz and was last used by Al Lorenz for a residence, but has been vacant for some time.

Ladies Aid Meets

The Ladies Aid of the Wabash church met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. H. Gerbeling, and a fine program was enjoyed, followed by a most delicious luncheon of ice cream and cake, together with other delicacies. The ice cream was made by Mr. Gerbeling, who is an expert in that line.

Opens New Stone Quarry

Warren T. Richards, who has resided in Wabash for many years, steps out and becomes a stone merchant with the opening of a quarry on his lands east of town. He has a force of eight men busily engaged in removing the stone, which he has sold to Omaha parties, and which is being trucked to Omaha by John Woods with his trucks.

With river work under way, the demand for stone is very heavy, and anyone having good stone on their land can make a nice bit of money from the same.
