ENTERTAIN FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Jane Louise Dunbar, of Los Angeles, former Plattsmouth girl, whose marriage to Mr. Harry E. Simmons, is to take place on July 19th, has been the honor guest at a number of pre-nuptial entertainments given by friends in her home city.

On June 16th Mrs. Pearl B. Hunter entertained at an announcement dinner for Miss Dunbar at the Macabee temple where a party of twelve were guests. The honor guest was presented with a large basket of gladiolas and larkspur. Dancing followed the dinner.

Miss Bonita Beamer, a school friend, entertained at a kitchen shower with fourteen of the former school friends making up the party. Many attractive gifts were received.

Miss Dunbar was honor guest at the home of Dr. Freebairns when Mrs. Freebairns and Mrs. Espeland entertained at a miscellaneous shower which was most attractively staged with the patio of the home arranged in flowers and making a very charming picture. Miss Dunbar was seated on a throne of honeysuckle and requested to open the large array of beautiful gifts. The evening was spent in games, moving pictures and music, followed by the lawn luncheon.

VISITS WITH FRIENDS

Mrs. Albert Deegan, of Chicago, and daughter, Joan, who are here for a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Patterson, was given a very pleasant informal open house on Tuesday evening. Some eighteen friends of her school days and acquaintances, learning of her presence in the city, dropped in for a very delightful visit and the renewal of old times.

During the evening Mrs. T. M. Patterson served light refreshments to the members of the party.

Trailers Provide Permanent Homes for 100,000 'Nomads'

Increasing Number Have Lived "On Road" During Recent Depression Years

International Illustrated News
Feature Writer

New York—Perhaps in the veins of the people of the United States there runs the blood of the nomadic tribes of Arabia or maybe it's the "gypsy" in us. Whatever it is, the fact remains that more and more people in America are moving out on the open road, taking their homes with them in the shape of automobile trailers.

Although the peak of tourist-trailer travel is reached during the summer months, reports indicate that a group of people almost 100,000 in size are touring the United States year in and year out, moving like nomads, to places having the most satisfactory climate.

The auto camp business, which has flourished particularly in the south, southwest and midwest, is feeling the decline in business due to the increased use of trailers by tourists. Many of them represent a large outlay of money.

But tourist camp owners have revised their layouts to enable tourists to park their cars and trailers and hook the trailer to a water line and plug in on an electric cable.

All the Comforts of Home
This indicates to what extent trailers are in use today and also indicates the rapid strides that have been taken in the building of auto trailers. Not long ago a trailer was merely an ugly looking wooden box on wheels, often homemade, containing a bed or a cot, perhaps a chair, dishes and a table of sorts.

Today the trailer has evolved from its wooden box stage. Four years ago comfortable auto trailers were rarities. And none of them could approach in elegance or smartness the modern trailer now owned by many "take your house with you" tourists.

Varying in length from 14 to 30 feet, the modern trailer is a streamlined lozenge shaped house of light metal, with curtained windows and chromium fittings. It fastens to the automobile by means of a swivel joint at the bow. Inside there, is room for one or more davenport, convertible into beds, a stove, icing facilities, closets, tables and a sink.

Besides the people living in trailers more or less permanently, there are two other groups, the vacationers and retired couples who have a small income. Many of these families spend the winter in the south and southwest. They trailer-tour in this fashion instead of buying coal for their home in the winter and see the country and enjoy the sunshine at the same time.

Depositors in 79 Failed Banks Paid Uniformly

General Counsel Radke Reviews Distribution of $768,697 Through State Receivership.

Recovery of $768,697 for depositors of failed state banks during the last five years thru favorable Nebraska supreme court rulings on 79 appealed cases was disclosed by General Counsel Radke of the state banking department's receivership division.

Radke began his sixth year Thursday as the division's counsel, having been appointed by former Gov. Bryan to succeed C. M. Skiles, resigned. During the five year period Radke handled personally 129 appealed cases before the state's highest court, involving a total amount of $1,039,317, of which he recovered 74 percent. He lost 50 cases, or almost 39 percent of the total number involved.

The money recovered has been prorated among the depositors. Since most of the cases involved trust funds, individuals in the court actions asked for preferential payment in the liquidation of the failed banks.

"The receivership's contention all along has been that all should share alike, the depositor creditors as well as those asking preferences," Radke asserted. Other causes of litigation, he added, included probates, fraudulent conveyances of property, foreclosures, quiet title actions, bankruptcy matters, bills and notes, and stockholders' liability.

The lowest amount of money involved in the units was $100 and the highest, $278,775. The $278,775 was obtained thru the supreme court's upholding the distribution of that amount to depositors of 34 banks after the old guaranty fund was transferred to the depositors fund.

Several important definitions were established as to certain banking terms by the court in its opinions, the counsel said. Among them were the various types of deposits, whether general, special, or specific deposits for a specific purpose. Questions previously were raised over all of these terms, he declared.

Cases were tried by Radke in every judicial district in the state and in about 75 of the 93 counties. Many of the cases were settled in the trial courts and were not appealed, approximately 300 having been tried altogether.

BOARD DECIDES DISPUTES

From Thursday's Daily

The board of control of the kitchen league held a meeting last evening at the O. K. Garage on Washington avenue and took up the matter of two disputed games, that of the Chevrolets and the Budweisers and the Chevrolets and the BRES.

In the Budweiser game the claim was that the Chevrolets did not have the required number of men on the field according to the rules and which forfeited the game to the Buds. The final decision of the arbiters was that the Chevrolets who had won 22 to 3 should retain the game.

The claim in the BRES-Chevrolet game was that the hurler for the Chevies had used resin in the handling of the ball and this was protested as illegal by the car builders. The board decided in this case that the game be played over by the two teams.

The use of spiked shoes in the future was restricted to the outfield and it was also decided that teams could play league games with any number of registered players on the field during a game, but not to exceed ten men per team.

CO-OP CREDIT ASSN. DISSOLVES

The Greenwood Co-operative Credit association which has supplied the people of Greenwood and vicinity with banking facilities and cared for their wants in this direction at a meeting of the shareholders of the association last Wednesday concluded to discontinue business and voluntarily liquidate and pay all shareholders what money they have invested. There was no debts and no loans outstanding and with the cash to take care of the shareholders they voluntarily concluded to discontinue business and surrender their charter.

Greenwood

Mrs. Harold Mason and Alta Kyles were in Lincoln Thursday.

Dora Leesley and Mrs. June Kelly were Lincoln visitors Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilken visited in Ashland Thursday evening.

The Cemetery association met at the home of Mrs. Dora Leesley last Friday.

Mrs. Harry Ballinger, of Omaha, was a visitor at the William Kelly home Friday.

Miss Buster Blouvelt is visiting in Omaha this week with her brother, Ersie and family.

Mrs. William Franks and her Sunday school class enjoyed a picnic at the Jeffrey farm Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Conn and Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly drove to Cook, Nebr., on business Monday.

Mrs. Clifford Ballinger and sons, of Omaha, were visitors at the William Kelly home Thursday. Junior stayed over the week end.

Junior Kinney, of Alvo, returned home Monday after spending two weeks at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kyles.

Goodhart Vant is looking after the Searle Chapin Lumber company yard during the absence of D. H. Headley, manager of the yard here.

There was joy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Renwanz, Jr. last Tuesday, when the stork brought a fine baby boy. Mother and little one are getting along nicely.

Mrs. Mattie Armstrong and daughter, Mildred Jardine, of La Porte, Indiana, have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Armstrong of Decatur, and Mr. and Mrs. Walton Ferris in Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mathews and son Eugene, who were visiting and looking after business matters at Powhattan, Kansas, during the past week, returned home Thursday morning and report having had a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. Henry Wilken went to Benet Tuesday evening, taking a friend, Mrs. Harlen Hiatt home. The latter had been visiting during the past three weeks at the Wilken home here and at the C. F. Chambers home in Ashland.

Mrs. Margaret Howard, Mrs. Austin Finley, Miss Margaret Bone and Mrs. Ray McNurlin were in Lincoln doing some shopping Tuesday. While there Mrs. Finley and Mrs. McNurlin called on Mrs. John Kyles and Rosetta Axmaker.

Mrs. Herman Birdsall and daughter, Jean, and Mrs. John Haney and daughter Mary started Monday evening on a western trip. They will stop at Crawford, Nebr., and then go on to Sheridan, Wyoming, for the remainder of the summer.

Greenwood is a live town on Wednesday evenings with free movies and a modern dance, as well as on Saturday nights, when there is an old fashioned dance. Greenwood invites the people from surrounding territory to make this their trading headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Diemer, of Fairbury, niece and nephew of Mrs. Fred W. Etheredge, visited at the Etheredge home here several days during the fore part of last week, returning to their home Thursday morning. They were accompanied by Miss Natelle Sloan, also a relative of Mrs. Etheredge.

Andy T. Stevens and wife, of New Hampton, Mo., were visiting here last week, enjoying meeting their many friends, as they formerly made their home here. From here they went to Bradshaw, where they visited with an aunt of Mrs. Stephens. They visited here with Bert Appun, who is a relative. Mr. Stephens has been engaged in the hog raising business, but has changed to sheep, as they do not require so much care and also pay a better profit.

William Renwanz, Sr., who has been at Grand Junction, Ia., for the past month, returned home Monday and says the country over there is looking fine, and while some rain would be welcome, they are not nearly so badly in need of moisture as here, having had considerable during the past few weeks. The corn crop is practically all laid by and prospects are good for a heavy yield this year. Mr. Renwanz visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kupke, who are engaged in farming there.

Will Represent the Journal

Mrs. Henry Wilkin will act as news gatherer for the Journal at Greenwood and all favors shown her in the way of giving news items for publication or advertising will be duly appreciated and receive prompt attention. If you have news items, call her.

Shipped Thresher Thursday

J. V. Stradley and Sons shipped a threshing outfit last week to Otto F. Rites at Table Rock, who will use it for threshing there this season. In 1896 Mr. Stradley sold this man his first order of a threshing outfit and since that time he has sold this same man and his relatives some fifty thousand dollars worth of goods, they being well pleased with all Mr. Stradley has sold them, and now after forty years time has elapsed since the first order was delivered, another one has gone forward.

Mr. Stradley and the sons all working together have completed their ball and cone roller sheller and have it mounted on the Master truck, the parties coming for it last Saturday and driving same to Randolph. They recently completed another which was shipped to Norfolk unmounted, but when the purchasers learned of the successful way in which the one mounted on the Master truck worked, they advised they will bring the sheller back to have it mounted on a truck as well.

Gets Large Combine

T. O. Pollard, who has a good deal of wheat this year, has made the purchase of a new combine for caring for the grain. The machine, an extra large one, cuts a swath of 16 feet in width and is capable under favorable circumstances of combining fifty acres of wheat per day.

Mr. Pollard and E. A. Landon also purchased a new separator, but do not expect to run it during the wheat cutting season, as the combine will keep Mr. Pollard very busy and he has many hundreds of acres to combine.

Rebekahs Install Officers

The Daughters of Rebekah lodge in Greenwood had their installation of officers Thursday evening of last week, the officers installed being Mrs. Merton Grey, noble grand, and Mrs. Fred W. Etheredge, vice grand. The installing officers and team were from Plattsmouth. A good time followed with some very fine eats.

Shipping Much New Wheat

During this season up to Saturday night of last week, there has been shipped from the Greenwood station nine cars of new wheat, and still the grain keeps coming in, in truck and wagon loads. With a number of combines in the harvest fields they can cut and thresh the grain very rapidly. Following the combining season will come the shock and stack threshing, which will bring lots of grain into Greenwood.

Visiting in the North

Dewey H. Headley and wife, accompanied by their son Jack, departed last Thursday afternoon for South Dakota, where they will spend a week with relatives and friends.

First, they go to Sioux Falls, at which place they will visit for a time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McFadden, who moved there several weeks ago. Following their visit at Sioux Falls, they will continue on to Interior, South Dakota, where they will visit for a number of days at the home of a sister of Mr. Headley, on their ranch.

Wheat Yield Good

George Trunkenbois was threshing Thursday and Friday of last week at the home of Ernest Hartsook, where they found an excellent yield of wheat that tested 61 1/2 pounds to the bushel. As a rule it is being found that all the wheat is yielding heavily and is testing well above the required 60 pounds per bushel, making one of the best wheat crops grown in Cass county in years.
