MANLEY NEWS

Rudolph Bergman and wife were in Plattsmouth and Omaha last Wednesday making the trip in their car and transacting business at both places.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stander were visiting in Omaha Monday of last week, where they had business matters to look after and were also the guests of friends.

August Krecklow and Robert Wiles were in Omaha Monday, taking up a mixed load of stock and also looking after some other business in the metropolis.

William Sheehan shelled and delivered corn to the Manley elevator last Monday and during the afternoon August Krecklow was also delivering corn from the shelled to the elevator.

Mrs. Paul Kirk and two little sons, the youngest of whom is but two weeks old, came from their home in Lincoln to spend last week at the home of Mrs. Kirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Carper.

Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer and little son Billie, were visiting for the evening last Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McDonald, parents of Mrs. Meyer. After remaining over night, they returned to their home at Ashland Tuesday morning.

Frank Rau and son, Leo, of Utica, were visiting in Manley, coming to visit with the two brothers of Mr. Rau, W. J. Rau and George Rau, as well as to look after some business matters. They were accompanied by Mr. Whelan, who also had business to transact here.

Frank Freeman, who was injured last week when he fell on a fork handle, and who has been at the hospital since the accident, is reported in a serious condition and has been suffering greatly from the injury. A hole was torn in his abdomen and the wound is mending very slowly, if at all.

Injured His Ankle Badly

Frank Bergman, while at his work stepped into a hole, spraining his ankle very severely and tearing some of the ligaments, which are very slow to heal. He is getting about on crutches, but with much difficulty.

To Engage in Business

With the extreme drouth which this summer has brought making farming not only unprofitable but a distinct liability as well, Joseph Johnson, who has been farming on the highway a short distance west of Manley, like many others, has concluded prospects are not bright for even making a living from this line of work and so will dispose of his equipment and give up farming. He will hold a sale in the near future.

Employment for Uni. Students is Improved

University of Nebraska Officials Find That Larger Number Being Given Employment.

Lincoln, Neb.—“We are led to think that the employment opportunities for students are improving,” report University of Nebraska officials in charge of student employment, who point out that last year about 51 percent of the men and 32 percent of the girls were employed either part-time or full-time.

In addition to the federal NYA college program which will be continued next year, students worked for business concerns, a limited number held university jobs, some worked for private persons, and many did different kinds of odd jobs.

Apart from the NYA, or federal work relief for college students, serving meals was the most popular job for men. At least 358 men and 58 women listed that as their employment. Office work, with 127 girls employed, was the most familiar type of work for the co-ed, with an additional 123 girls doing stenographic and secretarial work. Housework ran in third position among the women with 110 in that occupation. Almost as many men, 106, did janitor work.

The variety of jobs held by University of Nebraska students last year was almost endless. Among those recorded were: Salesmen, manual labor, reader of papers, service station attendants, newspaper work, orchestra, theater work, printing, drafting, telephone service, elevator work, teaching, collections, garage service, cashiers, mechanics, dairymen, organists, radio service, advertising, ministers, cosmetologists, laboratory technicians, and public welfare workers.

Men worked more hours last year than did the women. The average working man put in about 22 hours a week on his job while the girls who worked put in an average of about 20 hours. The average working man earned $97.70 a semester while the average woman earned $82 during the same time. A large number of both men and women earned their meals and room during the year.

Some additional money was needed by the average working student, according to those in charge of student employment. Men spent an additional $100.40 per semester and women spent $82.50 additional. Warning was also given for new students to keep in mind that the students who have previously attended school have options on most of the part-time employment.

During the past year a total of 851 University of Nebraska students received federal work relief while attending school, earning a total of $81,174.45. As a separate project 47 graduate students earned $5,758.76. This educational aid will be continued the coming school year on approximately the same basis of scholarship and need as last year, according to word received from Washington. Applications for these NYA positions are now being received by Dean T. J. Thompson, who is in charge of selecting the students.
