Eagle M. E. Church Notes.
August 9, 1936
D. J. Schuyleman, pastor.
Golden Text: "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision."
—The Acts 26:19.

10:00 a. m. Church school hour. The lesson is on, "After Conversion, What?" This illustration in the Senior Quarterly is so directly to the point that I will repeat it here. "It was once the writer's lot to live next to a man who started to build a stone house, but at the height of the first story stopped. In that unfinished state the house stood for several years. During that period it did not even hold its own; it went rather rapidly toward decay. The man who harks upon a religious experience he had twenty years ago but who has never done anything notable in the way of good works since has stopped building his house of life at the first story. His religious experience will go to wrack and ruin if he does not follow it up with a life of crowded service." Need I point out how this applies to some of you who will read these notes, but who have become lax in your attendance at the Lord's house and service for Jesus?

11:00 a. m. Morning worship, led by the pastor.

Young People's Meeting—This is Institute Sunday and the league members of Lincoln District will be attending Institute at Epworth Lake Park.

The Ladies' Aid will meet in the church basement Wednesday afternoon of this week.

The pastor will be at the Institute at Epworth Lake Park from Wednesday August 5 until Wednesday, August 12. He may be reached by telephoning "Epworth Lake Park."

Sunday School Picnic—For the past few years we have not had the privilege of having this good time together, but this year we are to have another of those good old time Sunday school picnics. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy themselves. Watch these notes for further details. At present the tentative date chosen is Friday, August 21st. Tell all your friends about it and don't fail to read these notes next week to learn the particulars. Picnic Lunch! Ball Game! Sack Race! Horse Shoe! etc.

Junior Maids.
Miss Merna Stradley was hostess to the Junior Maids at her home Wednesday afternoon, July 29th.

After a short business meeting a lunch was served by the hostess.

Visitors were Lavern Stradley and Frances Caddy. The next meeting will be with Lucille Mayer August 12th.

Prowler Suspect is Captured Near Tabor, Ia.

Young Iowa Farmer Captures Woman and Car Thought to Have Connection with Farm Robberies.

Sheriff Homer Sylvester and Deputy Sheriff Cass Sylvester were over at Glenwood, Iowa, and vicinity Sunday to check up on the detention in that county of a woman and a car held after being captured in the vicinity of Tabor, thought to be connected with the gang that has been operating over the country in looting farm homes during the absence of the owners.

There has been several of these cases in Cass county, west of this city and Mynard and it is thought that the parties may be the same.

The woman and the car were captured at a farm near Tabor and held while two men seen in the vicinity of the car, parked near a farm home, had made their escape from the scene and they are now being sought in Omaha where it is thought they have their headquarters.

The sheriff is busy investigating the case and it is hoped that when the parties are apprehended that they may be connected with the Cass county cases and the depredations checked in this part of the state as well as in western Iowa.

AS TO HOUSE CATS
MYNARD.—I was very much interested in an article in defense of the common house cat.

Here are a few facts that will be of interest to every lover of birds. The entomologists of the United States department of agriculture tell us that loss to agriculture from insects is $700,000,000 in the United States. Were it not for the birds our loss would be much greater. If it were not for our feathered friends we would not be able to raise anything.

Birds constitute one of the most valuable agents since they depend largely for their feed on insects which are the farmers dreaded foes. Here is what a few species of birds accomplish: The tree sparrow in the state of Iowa if there were two to every section of land they would consume 875 tons of weed seed a year. Only the farmer can realize what a saving this is to him in labor cost.

Some idea of the value of birds to the farmer of this particular group, from a statement of the agriculture department of Washington, D. C. The value of farm products in the United States was $8,926,000,000 in 1910. If we estimate the total consumption of weed seed by combined members of the sparrow family of saving 1 percent of the crop, these birds saved the farmer $89,260,000 for the one year. One pair of robins that nests in your tree or side of your building, if she raises two broods carries 100 pounds of bugs and worms from your lawn and garden.

A tree swallow's stomach was found to contain 40 chinch bugs, fragments of many others, beside ten other species of insects. A cliff swallow's stomach was found to contain 68 cotton boll weevil, one of the worst insect pests to ever invade the United States.

Any one that wishes to know more about the 50 most common birds, and their benefit to the American farmer send to the agriculture department for Bulletin 513, and you will find a world of information as to benefit of birds, and also to the destructiveness of the common house cat.

REV. H. A. McKELVEY.

Wright after his visit here will return to Ohio for the opening of school.

Mr. G. Rehmeier is visiting for a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Taylor.

Mrs. Glenn Dimmitt was a guest at the Greenwood Methodist Guild Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Merine Broset of Lincoln spent the week end with Miss Margaret Jean Stroemer.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rauth of Manley were Sunday evening supper guests at the Frank Taylor home.

Mrs. Archie Miller and Mrs. S. C. Hardnock went to Lincoln Friday where they visited Mrs. Hattie Lovett.

Because of the Epworth Assembly programs Sunday, no services were held in the local church Sunday Aug. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dreamer and Ralph drove over to Wymore, where the men folks spent the week end fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bornemeier and Dickie spent Saturday evening in Elmwood with Mrs. Bornemeier's mother.

Kendall Dimmitt returned home Tuesday evening after visiting relatives for a week at Ashland and Greenwood.

Mrs. Ellis Mickle and son and Mrs. S. C. Hardnock spent Tuesday visiting relatives in Elmwood. The little Clifford McMaster's children returned home with Lloyd Mickle for a few days' visit.

The contractors have been busy erecting the water tower for the Alvo village during the week. A few more days and Alvo will have a generous supply of water. The tank holds 20,000 gallons of water and the pipe leading to the tank holds 9,000 gallons.

Mrs. Boyd Edwards of York, Pennsylvania, spent the week end at the Charles Edwards home. Mrs. Edwards is visiting her father, t Cortland, Nebraska, and drives down for an occasional visit with her husband's parents.

Arthur Roelofsz Married.
Arthur Roelofsz surprised the entire community when he was married Monday to a young woman of Hastings.

A large crowd went over to the Roelofszs home to charivari the young couple Thursday evening. The band accompanied the group and added much fun and merriment to the serenade. The bride and groom have the best wishes of their many friends.

Leave for the West.
Mr. Bradley and daughter, Paula Mae went to Lincoln via rail and Paula Mae joined her mother who had motored to Lincoln earlier in the day Tuesday, as Mrs. Bradley and Paula Mae left for Washington state where they will visit for three weeks with relatives and friends. Lloyd Bradley also accompanied his mother but will stop off with relatives in Montana where he expects to spend the remaining part of the summer.

Jolly Stitches.
The Jolly Stitches "Learning to Sew Club" met with Mamie Stewart Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was held out of schedule as the girls plan to go to Weeping Water for the demonstration work Tuesday, Aug. 4. Miss Runnalls and Mr. Lawrison of the state agriculture office will be present to assist teams with demonstration work. All teams wishing help are requested to bring their equipment needed for demonstrating.

Ruth Ayres and Dorothy Jordan plan to give a demonstration of kitchen aprons.

Since demonstration work is part of 4-H club requirements, it is a fine opportunity for 4-H members to get help. Even though each member does not take part in a demonstration at the meeting, all will be benefited by hearing and seeing others and will help in building up more team work in our beginning club.

At a later date teams wishing to participate in demonstrating work will take part in an elimination contest.

Most of the study hour was spent in judging laundry bags. Several of the girls had their kitchen aprons almost done. The girls made fine selections as to material and pattern.

During the business meeting the club members cast a unanimous vote to go camping over the week end soon. In the absence of the president, Paula Mae Bradley, Mamie Stewart, the vice-president, took charge of the meeting which she managed in most efficient manner. Marlene Stewart was also absent. The evening of August 21 was set for the achievement program.

Camping at South Bend.
Tuesday morning a group of girls with their camping equipment left for South Bend where they camped until Thursday evening. The girls report having had a most pleasant time even though they became very much sunburned.

Those going were Katherine Edwards, Grace Muenchau, Margaret Jean Stroemer, Iris Miller and Verna Vickers. The group was sponsored by Miss Merle Vickers.

Visit at Edwards Home.
Mrs. Willard Ross of Fairbank, Alaska, a cousin of Charles Edwards visited at the Edwards home last week. Mrs. Ross was present at a Will Rogers banquet the evening before Mill Rogers met with his fatal accident.

Services for George J. Althouse.
The funeral services for George J. Althouse, Sr., father of William Althouse, who died Sunday at Eagle, were held at the Lutheran church of Eagle, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Kechull was in charge of the services. Burial was in Camp Creek cemetery, Eagle.

Missionary League Program.
The Missionary League of the St. Paul Bible Training School of St. Paul, Minnesota, gave a fine program Wednesday evening in the Stewart hall.

Those taking part were: Robert Zarse, tenor, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Miss Genevieve Westfield, contralto, Omaha; Joseph Carlson, baritone, Minneapolis, Minnesota and Miss Jane Barkey, accompanist, Lincoln. The group was accompanied by Rev. George D. Strohm, dean of the St. Paul Bible Training School and the dean's wife.

The young folks rendered a very fine program. A large number of out of town people were present to hear them.

Gives Music Program.
Ronald McKenzie sponsored a musical program at the local church Sunday evening. The program consisted of request numbers. Each local person who cared to had an opportunity to request three numbers. The response was so great that in order to include all the number it was necessary to divide the numbers into two programs.

The Sunday evening program was enjoyed by all present. The next program will be given Sunday evening, August 9th.

Has Leg Amputated.
Joe Bird who has been suffering considerable with his foot and leg was taken to the Bryan Memorial hospital Friday afternoon. After having an examination it was decided necessary to remove his leg just below the knee.

Mr. Bird underwent the operation Saturday morning. For several days he suffered much pain, but is reported as getting along as well as possible with the pains growing less and less as the days pass.

His friends wish him a speedy recovery from his painful operation. Just five years ago Mr. Bird had to have his other leg amputated and he has walked on a wooden leg nearly ever since.

Utah People Visit Here.

Miss Elsie Emhoff left Monday for Kansas City, where she is spending the week at the home of her brother, Henry Emhoff.

Francis Marquardt, who is attending summer school at the University of Nebraska, was a visitor at home over the week end, being accompanied by his friend, Miss Helen Overton. They returned to Lincoln Sunday evening.

Calvin Carsten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Carsten, will farm the Mrs. Martha Ruhge place the coming season. He has been plowing a part of the land, getting ready to sow his fall wheat crop when the season is right.

Miss Bertha Teselle, formerly a teacher in the Avoca schools, but who has been teaching at Tecumseh during the past year and other places since she left here, was a visitor in Avoca last Saturday, being a guest of numerous friends here.

Ernest Emhoff and family and John Emhoff and family are now on a recreational auto trip to northern Minnesota, where they will spend a week visiting relatives. They are making the trip in their respective autos and anticipate a most pleasant time.

Robert Propst, who has been here from Florida visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elmer J. Hallstrom and family for some two weeks, went to Ralston last Saturday and will spend a fortnight there, visiting at the home of his son, Thayer Propst.

Morris Ruhge, who has been farming the Mrs. Martha Ruhge place, will farm the Henry Ruhge place the coming season. He has been busy plowing there during the past week, but with the ground so dry and hard has found it a rather difficult job.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marquardt was the scene of a very pleasant gathering last Sunday, at which there were present Frank Stander and wife and K. V. White, of Louisville; Selma Marquardt, of Omaha, and William Steele, of Orange, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Corbin are visiting with relatives and friends in the western part of the state this week, spending most of the time at Big Springs. They tell of having driven forty miles in the rain, which is better than we have been able to do in this section.

Mrs. E. J. Hallstrom went to Omaha Tuesday for a visit with her sisters, Mrs. Mayola Vaughn, Mrs. E. V. Wilson and Mrs. Edna Sindelar. The latter expects to depart soon for her home in Lake Worth, Florida, but their father, Robert Propst, will remain in Nebraska until after the state fair, when he, too, expects to return to his home in Florida.

While Mrs. Emma Rawalt and son Verne were spending their vacation in the Ozark country of southern Missouri and northern Arkansas, Mrs. Floyd Amsbaugh, of Omaha, a daughter of B. C. Marquardt, was staying with Mr. Marquardt. Last Sunday, Mr. Amsbaugh drove down to accompany the wife home, and Miss Selma Marquardt, who had been visiting here for a few days, returned to Omaha with them.

Secure New Teachers
At the meeting of the Board of Education last Saturday night, four teachers were secured for the coming school year. There still remains a superintendent to be selected, however.

Those who have signed contracts are Miss Bertha Tesselle, of Tecumseh, who was one of the teachers here a few years ago; Dan Pittger, who taught at Syracuse last year; Miss Dora Snyder, of Waverly, and Miss Arythe Kvetusky. The school year will begin August 31st, and it has been decreed that no pupil will be admitted whose fifth birthday comes after October 1st of this year.

FINE LITTLE GIRL
Sunday morning a fine 8 1/2 pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sykora at the home of the little one's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Kinnamon.
