Wins Double Honor

Essay on fiftieth anniversary of Statue of Liberty written by Edna Falk (above), 17, Pueblo, Colo., high school student, has won her a double honor. She will receive a trophy which President Roosevelt will present, and a European tour.

fed support for the president, however.

Michigan has caused party strategists to burn much midnight oil. The republican party was born there and only once in the more than three-quarters of a century since that time has a democrat won its electoral votes. He was Franklin D. Roosevelt. Normally, the state is republican by a majority of 100,000.

There are unusual aspects in the 1936 situation. Detroit is the home of Father Charles E. Coughlin and his national union for social justice. What will that mean? As a factor in speculation Rep. Prentiss M. Brown, national administration candidate for U. S. senator, won nomination in the primary by just 7,000 votes over Louis B. Ward, who carried the Coughlin endorsement. Ward re-entered the race as a union party candidate.

Another development that upset normal political thought was the pre-primary announcement of Senator James Couzens, a republican, that he would support President Roosevelt for re-election. Couzens lost decisively to former Gov. Wilbur M. Bruce, Michigan is expected to poll 1,900,000 votes, 20,000 more than has ever been cast before. Like Illinois its big city vote is a determining factor. In Michigan, Detroit is the key; in Illinois, Chicago.

The Fight in Illinois.

There seems little question but that the presidential campaign in Illinois has been conducted with more vigor than in any other state. President Roosevelt has visited Illinois twice since he was re-nominated. Governor Landon's stumping tours took him across the state seven times. Both were accorded receptions on Chicago's Michigan boulevard. Both delivered major addresses in Chicago's big indoor stadium, packed on both occasions to its 25,000 capacity. Illinois registered an unprecedented number of voters, more than 2 millions in the Chicago district, and about the same number down state. Republicans presented a united front as soon as the primary was over in April. But bitterness engendered in democratic ranks over opposition of the Cook county (Chicago) organization to the re-nomination of Gov. Henry Horner continued for weeks and democratic Chairman James Farley stepped in as peacemaker. Now, all factions say they are united again for Roosevelt and the entire democratic ticket.

Weeping Water

H. M. Prawl was a Lincoln visitor last Monday for a short time, having some business matters to look after. Earl Oldham has a boil on one of his fingers which is putting that member out of commission for a time.

O. O. Kimber was a visitor in Union last Tuesday morning looking after business in line with the selling of another Maytag.

In a football game played between Weeping Water and Adams high schools last Friday Weeping Water won by the score of 48 to 0.

Peter Miller has been placing the new Ole Olsen apartment in condition and with the end of this week will be in perfect condition.

Taking the night off last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Johnson went to Murray where they enjoyed an hour or so at the Crosser skating rink.

A. H. Jacobson has been making some changes in his work shop in the basement of the Philpot building in preparation for the coming winter.

Frank E. Wood was accompanying the republican caravan on its round and had the time of his life in meeting his many friends over the county.

A party made up of Brick Rector, Byron Baker and Sam Baker were up near Hartington where they were not long in getting their full quota of pheasants.

Forest L. Stock was in Council Bluffs last Tuesday morning and secured a tank load of gasoline and getting his dinner went to Eagle in the afternoon with it.

J. Johansen and wife were over to Omaha last Sunday afternoon and night attending the Ak-Sar-Ben horse show and were pleased with the exhibits and performance.

Rudolph Bergman of Manley, where he is both merchant and postmaster was in Weeping Water last Tuesday looking after some business matters for a short time.

Attorney C. E. Tefft was along with the republican caravan and was meeting his many friends over the county and sure got home in time to enjoy the excellent banquet.

Charles Kimmerly was accompanying his friend, Forest L. Stock to Eagle last Monday and while Forest was unloading his cargo of gas Charles was visiting friends.

Wm. Patterson of Murray was visiting with friends as well as his brothers in Weeping Water Tuesday of this week, going from here to Avoca where he also visited with friends.

J. Johansen went over to the home of Paul Schewe near Murdock last Monday and dressed a beef which he left there to cool and Mr. Schewe brought the dressed critter to Weeping Water early last Tuesday morning.

Fred Allgayer who has been working on the construction of the highways about Weeping Water and who has demonstrated his ability in that line, has asked that the electorate choose him for the position of road overseer at the coming election.

Will Work in West.

On Wednesday morning of this week four young men of Weeping Water departed for McCook where they have accepted positions on highway work and will operate trucks hauling dirt and gravel for the construction of work. The young men include Orville Hanning, Harvey Rich, Frank Wade and Carl Pierce. The work which is engaging the energies of the four young men will require about two months work should the winter weather hold off for that length of time.

Nearly Ready for Occupancy.

The partment which has been built by Ole Olsen has been nearly completed and is just now being cleaned and put in the best of condition, and will make some very nice places to live.

Got Plenty of Pheasants.

Four of the business men of Weeping Water with many rounds of shells departed last Saturday for Neigh where they had been advised that there were pheasants and to spare, and they were advised right at that, and arriving before the break of day were able to catch a short nap before the sun revealed that the day for getting in their work on the pretty birds was there. While the wind blowed and it was cold, they said it was just the kind of weather for a true sportsman and away they went and soon had their full quota and ready for their return.

With the party were G. R. Binger, O. C. Hinds and G. J. Marshall.

Two Excellent Banquets.

The republicans on Monday and the democrats on Wednesday. At the republican banquet there were many who joined the caravan when the republicans made their trip during the day and returned in the evening for the banquet. The democrats also had a caravan the same day and attracted large crowds, but they waited until Wednesday evening for their banquet.

Found Plenty of Pheasants.

A party composed of Melvin John-banquet and rally. Both were pleased with the fine attendance and banquet.

Boy Makes Happy Home.

They arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Zessen last Monday evening a bouncing boy baby, coming to bless the home and sure the little man brought happiness to the proud parents. All are getting along nicely.

son, Nissley Marshall, and A. Kohn went to Emerson last Saturday night where they awaited for the early streak of daylight to come and then gave the pheasants of that section the surprise of their life and in some instances their death, and soon had their quota.

William B. Rose, 75 Years of Age, Has Received Over $200,000.00 from the State

Before voting on Judge of the Supreme Court, the voters should know the following facts:

1. William B. Rose, who seeks re-election to the Supreme Court, will be seventy-five years old on January 25th next. The youthful pictures used in his ads and circulars do not reveal this fact. The term is for six years, making him eighty-one at the end thereof. He has been paid over TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($200,000.00) in salaries from the State treasury. Has he not received sufficient consideration from the taxpayers of this State? Voters, think this over!

2. Frank A. Peterson, his opponent, nominated by a large vote in the Primary, is a native of Nebraska, 55 years of age, THE RIGHT AGE; has had 26 years of active legal experience; has the highest rating in Martindale-Hubbell, national law directory for 1936, for ability and integrity as a lawyer; served with distinction as County Attorney of Lancaster County 1917-1919; Assistant United States Attorney 1919-1921; City Attorney of Lincoln 1929-1931. He will be a worthy successor to the present incumbent.

his home in Lincoln before coming to Weeping Water to engage in business and has a good feeling for the old home town where he often goes to purchase goods and made a trip last Tuesday. While there he was accosted by the KPOR "Man on the street" who made inquiry from whence he came, and he said Weeping Water was the best town on the map outside of Lincoln and that we are running Lincoln a very close second.

Hand Getting Better.

Chris Snell who lives just this side of Omaha and who has been employed on the river work, being injured last April when he fell in a hole while watching at the river work at night, and who has been in serious condition since, is at this time making some gains and expects to have to undergo a major operation in the near future in the hope that he may be able to use his hand again.

Midwest States a Question Mark for November 3

Ohio, Michigan and Illinois Accepted as Pivotal in Their Verdict Next Week.

Chicago.—The sharp struggle to capture the populous midwestern states, unprecedented in duration, scope and intensity, moved toward a crisis while political prophets sought to gauge the effects of the party drives on the November election. The big question was whether the traditionally republican central states would return to the republican fold in November or whether the democratic victory of 1932 would be repeated.

Admittedly pivotal, and, just as admittedly puzzling, principally because of intrastate issues, the entire midwest has been eagerly courted by republican and democratic chiefs, but Ohio, Illinois, and Michigan, with a combined total of 74 electoral votes, seem to loom increasingly important.

"Ohio," said Col. Frank Knox, "is the key to the whole situation." He promised that Governor Landon would storm its borders again before election day.

Both President Roosevelt and Governor Landon coursed the length and breadth of the central section of the country and before and after them came squads of nationally known orators. Just three times in 40 years have democrats triumphed in the Buckeye state. Woodrow Wilson carried it in 1912 and 1916, and Roosevelt in 1932.

Republican United Front.

Ohio republicans now say they are presenting a united front, after a bitter party fight between "regulars" and "liberals." They have hammered at the theme of "restoration of good government." Democratic national and state headquarters are operating separately, but without outward evidence of friction.

President Roosevelt swung thru Ohio a week after Landon. He was accompanied by all important state leaders, including Gov. Martin Davey, whose sharp tilt with the national administration on relief problems caused an open break between him and Harry Hopkins, relief administrator. Davey declared his unqual-
