Robbery Attempt Frustrated

Thieves were unsuccessful in an attempt to rob the Greenwood post office Wednesday night shortly before midnight. George Gustafson, night watchman, was in front of the Stradley garage when he saw someone attempting to break in the south window of the postoffice. He fired at them and they returned the shot, hitting Mr. Gustafson in the leg. The thieves fled, going west toward the pavement.

Mr. Gustafson went for help, but no trace of them could be found about town.

It is thought this may be the same group of robbers that have been breaking into other postoffices over southeastern Nebraska during the past few weeks.

No Repetitions for Hubby

By IRVIN S. COBB

A FEW months ago an English illustrated paper published a joke which struck me as having merit. When I repeated it in company a gentleman who is supposed to know nearly all the jokes in the world told me that in slightly different guise the same wheeze was current on the Pacific Coast twenty years ago. He may or may not have been wrong. In any event, I like the British version.

A couple from the country have come up to London for a week's society drama. To them the play proves exceedingly tiresome. In one of the intervals the husband, stifling a yawn, turns to his deeply bored wife.

"What comes next?" he asks. She consults the program. "It says 'no, 'Act four, time as 'Act one'." "Owl!" he exclaims, "let's 'no' it. I couldn't sit through all the awful mess again."
