Murray

Harry McCulloch and family were spending Christmas with relatives and friends in Plattsmouth.

Herman Richter was shelling corn for O. T. Leyda and Lloyd Leyda on the farm west of town last Saturday.

A. J. Ross of near Nehawka was having some feed bunks built at the Murray lumber yard the first of this week.

Wm. Sporer and son, Charles, were enjoying a visit and looking after some business in Omaha Saturday of last week.

Hobart Blake was called to Plattsmouth last Monday evening to look after some business matters for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Redden are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl which tipped the scales at nine and a half pounds. All are doing nicely.

Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Tyson and little daughter are enjoying Christmas day at the home of the parents of the doctor, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tyson.

James Earhart and the family were visiting for the day on Christmas with relatives in Plattsmouth where they enjoyed an excellent dinner and visit.

Edward Knabe of near Nehawka was looking after some business matters in Murray last Monday afternoon and as well meeting with many of his friends.

Charles Boedeker II and wife entertained for Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stewart and son Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Boedeker and daughter, Miss Flora Jane.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Terhune and son Gerald, were visiting for Christmas at the home of their folks at Humboldt and will remain for the rest of the week, returning home Sunday evening.

Joe Christian and wife of Weeping Water were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Blake where they all enjoyed a visit. Mrs. Blake and Mr. Christian are brother and sister.

Thomas Lindley of Omaha, a stock buyer at the stock yards, was a visitor in Murray last Sunday and a caller on his friend, W. G. Boedeker, who is feeding some ninety head of cattle this winter.

Walter Allen has accepted a position as assistant in a cafe in Omaha which he has been filling and which he is liking very well. Walter was down home for Christmas and enjoyed a very fine dinner.

Lucean Carpter was taken very suddenly ill and was very sick for a number of days. Everything possible is being done, but he still remains quite poorly at his home. His many friends are hoping he may soon be in his former good health again.

Miss Flora Jane Boedeker and Mrs. C. H. Boedeker II were in Omaha last Sunday, guests of friends at Fairacres and where Miss Jane Boedeker sang a number of songs at an afternoon tea given in honor of the Murray ladies. A very enjoyable time was had.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sporer were host and hostess to a very pleasant gathering of relatives at their home on Christmas day which included Wm. Sporer, Charles Sporer, and Chester Sporer and family, where all enjoyed a very pleasant day and a fine dinner.

Julius A. Pitz, county commissioner, and wife and Assessor W. H. Puls and Rose Svoboda, were in Lincoln Monday attending to some business matters. On their return they stopped to visit with Mr. E. S. Tutt and look after some business matters for a short time.

Tom Nelson, assistant at the Murray lumber yard who resides just across the street has his home decorated with wreaths and a very prettily dressed Christmas tree. The business houses all have imbibed the Christmas spirit for in almost every business place there is a small tree contributing to the Christmas cheer. This is making the town look very gay.

Visited in Murray Sunday.
Charles Tucker who formerly resided near Murray, but many years ago went to the western part of the state and engaged in business for a term of years, having a farm of his own but later moved to town to engage in business and later returned to the farm to make his home, was a visitor in Murray last Sunday, guest of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Nickles, enjoying dinner with them as well as a very fine visit.

Entertained the Family.
Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scotten were host and hostess at their home in Murray for Christmas, and had as their guests the members of the family with their husbands and the kiddies. The throng gathered was a happy one and a very delightful dinner was served that added to the other pleasing features of the day with the Christmas tree nicely decorated and bearing many gifts, tokens of love for every member of the family.

A Kindly Wish and a Kindly Thought for each and every one of our many friends.

Postoffice Very Busy.
The Murray postoffice during the Christmas week was so busy that the employees were not able to get to their meals on time and were even very pleased to get there at all, as the presents were so thick that they had to hustle to get them all attended to in time for the mails. Well we are pleased that there is so much Christmas cheer and that the postoffice business is so good.

Visited Here Sunday.
Mrs. Margaret Brendel and son, Richard of Lincoln, were visiting in Murray for over the week end and Monday and Tuesday, going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bates of Rising City for Christmas. Mrs. Bates is a sister of Mrs. Brendel. There she also met the family of Wm. Kidder, Mrs. Kidder also being a sister. It goes without saying that all enjoyed the happy occasion. Mrs. Brendel and son are returning to Murray for the remainder of the vacation during the holidays.

Thought Tree Wonderful Sight.
Mr. and Mrs. George Nickles were visiting for the day last Sunday at Omaha, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shrader. While there the matter of the magnificent Christmas tree on the drives leading to the Union station was discussed. They visited the station and found the tree greatly surpassed the description given as it was by conservative estimates over fifty feet high and was decorated with varied colored ribbons and multicolored electric lights.

NO CHILDREN LABOR IN SWEAT SHOPS IN STATE OF NEBRASKA

"There are no children engaged in hazardous occupations and none employed in so-called sweat shops," says V. B. Kinney, state labor commissioner, in his biennial report to the governor. "The department feels that with the co-operation of the various school districts in the state, the child labor law of Nebraska is well enforced."

In this report, Mr. Kinney calls attention to the state law which provides that no child under 14 shall be employed during hours when public schools are in session. In ten months this year he reports that school district certificates issued to permit children between 14 and 16 to work during school hours numbered 210. Seventy-four of them are for girls, of which 71 are from Omaha and three from various cities. The remaining number, 146, are boys. Of these, 119 are employed in Omaha and five in Lincoln.

Kinney recites that the law relieving him of enforcing the workmen's compensation law, a court for that purpose having been created, permits the labor department to function in its proper field now that there is ample appropriation made for both the labor commissioner and the court. Four safety inspectors have been kept in the field for factory and construction inspection and investigating and caring for complaints regarding violations of the female labor law and the child labor law.

Kinney reports the co-operation of the state and federal government in maintaining an employment service in the eastern part of the state, the federal re-employment still functioning elsewhere. He says the state employment service is under supervision of the state labor commissioner.

MISS OVERMAN OPENS OFFICE
From Tuesday's Daily—
Mrs. Andrea Overman of Omaha began her work in the Plattsmouth Resettlement Administration office as Home supervisor yesterday. Mrs. Overman is a graduate of the home economics department of the University of Nebraska. She was formerly N.E.R.A. representative. She will have charge of home supervision in Cass and Sarpy counties.

FIRE AT ALBERT GODWIN HOME
Fire from a chimney ignited clothing in the downstairs clothes closet at the Albert Godwin home Saturday night and caused considerable damage before the blaze could be extinguished. The blaze was discovered about 11 p. m. and neighbors were called. Beside the central part of the house damage was done to clothing.
